THE AMERICAN ACADEMY OF POLITICAL AND SOCIAL SCIENCE

The American Academy of Political and Social Science was formed in Philadelphia, December 14, 1889, for the purpose of promoting the study of political and social problems of the present day.

Besides the general fields of sociology, political science and economics, a special effort is made to collect and publish material dealing with the more important practical questions of the time, such as taxation, banking and finance, colonial policy, municipal government, public administration, education, charities and correction, national and international commerce, corporations, and the various phases of the labor problem.

In all of these departments of investigation it is the aim of the Academy not to espouse the view of a single school, but rather to offer the materials upon the basis of which an intelligent opinion may be formed.

Anyone may become a member of the Academy on being approved by the Membership Committee and paying the Annual fee of $5.00 or Life Membership fee of $100. Members are entitled to receive the regular publications of the Academy, submit papers and communications, and to attend and take part in all scientific meetings. Life members are exempt from all annual fees.

Papers and communications which the writers wish to submit to the Academy with a view to their being read in a Scientific Session or published in THE ANNALS, as well as applications for membership, should be sent to the following address:

American Academy of Political and Social Science,

WEST PHILA. STATION, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

N. B.—Fees and subscriptions may be remitted by postal order on Philadelphia, or by draft on New York, drawn to the order of the Treasurer, Mr. Stuart Wood, Box 4050, West Philadelphia Station, Philadelphia, or may be sent to B. S. Harvey, Esq., care of Messrs. Glyn, Mills, Currie & Co., 67 Lombard Street, London, E. C.

THE ANNALS OF THE AMERICAN ACADEMY OF POLITICAL AND SOCIAL SCIENCE

A bi-monthly periodical, sent free to members of the Academy. Each number contains about 200 pages, devoted to the proceedings of the Academy and to Leading Articles, Notes, Book Reviews, etc. Six numbers, making two volumes yearly. Important supplements. Subscription price to non-members, $6.00. Special rate to Libraries, $5.00.

THE ANNALS is the regular bi-monthly publication of the Academy. Each number contains several comprehensive articles treating in a scientific spirit some of the economic, social or political problems of the day. It gives space to educational discussions and to scientific papers which do not appeal to the more popular journals.

The Publication Board has recently adopted the policy of issuing special volumes, each dealing with some important problem of public interest, instead of miscellaneous volumes containing a number of articles upon different subjects. In each volume, under the general subject of discussion, there are grouped contributions from a number of authoritative writers.

A prominent feature of THE ANNALS is seen in the Departments of Book Notes; Notes on Municipal Government; and Philanthropy, Charities and Social Problems, each under the editorship of a specialist, and constituting a most valuable record of current events.

THE ANNALS also includes occasional supplements, which are separate monographs or translations of notable foreign books. Among the volumes already issued separately as supplements to THE ANNALS are the following:

"Constitution of the United States of Colombia." Translated by BERNARD MOSES. Pp. 70.

"Constitutional and Organic Laws of France." Translated by C. F. A. CURRIER. Pp. 78.

"Constitution of the Kingdom of Prussia." Translated by JAMES HARVEY ROBINSON. Pp. 54.

"Constitution of Italy." Translated by L. S. ROWE and S. M. LINDSAY. Pp. 44.

"Constitution of Belgium." Translated by J. M. VINCENT. Pp. 40.

"History of Political Economy." By GUSTAV COHN, translated by J. A. HILL. Pp. 142.

"Inland Waterways." By EMORY R. JOHNSON. Pp. 164.

"Theory of Sociology." By FRANKLIN H. GIDDINGS. Pp. 80.

"Theory of Social Forces." By SIMON N. PATTEN. Pp. 151.

"Foreign Policy of the United States · Political and Commercial." Pp. 216. (Addresses and Discussion at the Third Annual Meeting of the Academy, April 7 and 8, 1899).

"Corporations and Public Welfare." Pp. 208. (Addresses at the Fourth Annual Meeting of the Academy, April 19 and 20, 1900.)

"Selected Official Documents of the South African Republic and Great Britain." Edited by HUGH WILLIAMS and FREDERICK CHARLES HICKS. Pp. 72.

"Massachusetts Labor Legislation." By SARAH SCOVILL WHITTELSEY. Pp. 157.

"Housing Conditions in Jersey City." By MARY B. SAYLES. Pp. 72.

All of these supplements have been sent, together with THE ANNALS, as issued, without charge to members, and have served many persons, when bound up for a series of years, as the nucleus of a good reading library on social and economic subjects.

New members will be interested to know that the Academy can supply complete files of its publications from the date of organization. These are offered to members on more advantageous terms than can be obtained through the book trade. Terms sent on application.

THE ANNALS, complete from beginning in July, 1890, to June, 1905, 25 vols., cloth binding, $104.00; bound in leather, cloth sides, $116.50. This includes all Supplements bound with each volume and complete indexes. Separate volumes can be suppled as follows: Vols. I—V (Double volumes) Cloth, $6.50 each: Leather, $7.00 each. Vols. VI—XIX (Half-yearly volumes), Cloth, $3.50 each; XX—XXV, $3.75 each; Leather, $4.00 and $4.25, respectively.

NOTICE TO PURCHASERS

Orders. Each order should be clearly written and signed by the purchaser. It should give the post-office, county, and State, and also indicate whether the goods are to be sent by mail, express, or freight; and, where the name of the railroad or express station differs from that of the post-office, it should be so stated.

Exact Titles. All orders should give the exact titles of the books as printed in our price lists; otherwise, we can not be held responsible for errors in shipping. In ordering by telegraph, purchasers should use the code words given in this Price List.

Order Early. Orders are usually filled on the day on which they are received, but just before the opening of schools this is not always possible. To insure prompt delivery due allowance should be made for unavoidable detentions and orders should be sent early.

Special. We supply only our own publications. Books sent as ordered are not returnable. Orders for first introduction must give the names of the books to be displaced as well as those to be introduced. Keys and Translations will be supplied to teachers only.

Remittances. Each order should be accompanied by a remittance, unless the purchaser has an open account. Remittances by draft are preferred, but post-office money orders or express money orders may be used, if more convenient. Purchasers who wish to open an account should apply for terms and give references showing financial ability, promptness, and general responsibility.

DR. HOLLICK'S WORKS.

The Marriage Guide; or, Natural History of Generation. Private instructor for Married People, and those about to marry, both male and female, in everything relating to the Anatomy and Physiology of the Generative System, in both sexes, including a full description of everything that is now known to science in the production of offspring, the cause of the difference in sex.—Parental influence.—Natural adaptation.—Philosophy of Marriage, etc., etc. The new edition, just published, contains many additional plates and much new matter, gathered during a recent visit by Dr. Hollick to France, Germany, and England. Containing 406 pages, bound in cloth.....Price, $1 00

The Male Generative Organs in health and disease, from infancy to old age. With colored plates. A complete practical Treatise on the Anatomy and Physiology of the Male Generative System, with a full description of the causes and cure of all the diseases and derangements to which it is liable. This work is also fully illustrated, both with Engravings and with Colored Plates, and an introductory chapter gives an epitome of all the new discoveries respecting the Female system and Generation. No other work at all like this was ever published. From this book a man can thoroughly know himself and how to preserve himself in health and vigor. Containing 377 pages, bound in cloth.....Price, $1 00

Venereal Diseases, in all their Forms. Embracing their History and probable Origin; their Consequences, both to individuals and society; and the best Modes of Treating them. Adapted for General use. The Special Topics treated upon in this book need not be here enumerated. It is sufficient to say that it explains everything relating to this important matter, and in so plain and familiar a manner that any man can, from this instruction, know how to avoid these fearful scourges or to cure himself, if need be, when afflicted. With Colored Plates. Containing 406 pages, bound in cloth.....Price, $1 00

The Matron's Manual of Midwifery. A complete practical treatise upon the Art of Delivery, and upon all the accidents and diseases that may occur during these periods. The description of all the various Positions and Presentations is on an entirely new plan, and is made both simple and intelligible. The management of new-born infants is also given in full, and the use of Ether and Chloroform during the delivery is discussed. This work contains over sixty Engravings, besides colored Plates, showing the various periods and how to ascertain them, the different positions, etc. With Colored Plates. Containing 470 pages, bound in cloth. Price, $1.00

The Diseases of Women. Their Causes and Cure Familiarly Explained. With Practical Hints for their prevention, and for the preservation of Female Health. Illustrated with Colored Plates and with numerous Engravings. If all Females possessed this book in time, there would be incalculably less suffering and disease among them than is now seen. Everything relating to female health is treated upon, from infancy to old age, and the most valuable recipes are given, together with practical directions, in the plainest manner. There is no known disease to which females are subject but what is here explained, and so that all can understand. With Colored Plates. Containing 466 pages, bound in cloth.....Price, $1 00

The Nerves and the Nervous. This is a complete popular treatise on the Anatomy and Physiology of the Nervous System, with a full description of all forms of Nervous Disease and Derangement, and how to avoid or cure them. The contents of this book are so numerous and varied that it is impossible here to enumerate them. Among a few of the topics may be named: Nervousness, Epilepsy, Catalepsy, Hallucinations, Visions, Mysterious Voices, Hysteria, Hydrophobia, Nymphomania, Ghosts, Softening of the Brain, Kleptomania, Business Madness, the Philosophy of Hobbies, Somnambulism and numerous other kindred subjects—in fact everything relating to the Brain and Nerves. Curious experiments on the Brain are related. Just published. With Colored Plates. Containing 432 pages, bound in cloth.....Price, $1 00

The above books are all uniform in size and binding, and all illustrated by appropriate Engravings and Colored Plates.

Advice to a Wife and Advice to a Mother. Dr. P. H. Chavasse. The two published in one volume. Many young women hesitate, through a feeling of delicacy, to seek even from their own mothers a proper knowledge of their own sexual peculiarities, though their future health and happiness may depend upon their possessing such knowledge. But a book may be consulted without alarming the modesty of the most delicate, provided it be honestly written for the benefit of its readers. Such is Chavasse's work, which has had on both sides of the Atlantic a circulation of nearly four hundred thousand copies. The reason of this popularity is plain, the book answers every question which a woman would like or need to have answered relative to herself as a woman from early girlhood to the change in life. The information is given in language that persons of the most moderate education can understand ; the knowledge imparted is exact, and acquaintance with it will often save the need of applying to a physician. A very delightful book of comfort for all who are in trouble.

BOY OF TO-DAY, A.† S. *By Julia MacNair Wright. 12mo. 311 pp..*1 00

"The author has a gift for hitting the nail on the head in a good, vigorous fashion. Her homely common sense could find no better field than that which she here occupies in depicting the shrewd, hard-working people of a typical New England village and their every-day life. 'A Boy of To-day' is a good medium for bringing out those conditions of living and thinking that make for genuine rightmindedness and sturdy manhood."

BOYS AND YOUNG MEN IN RELATION TO BUSINESS. By Rev. John D. Wells, D.D. 40 pp. 30

Helpful words to boys and young men who are looking hopefully into the future.

FIFINE.† S. By Mrs. L. S. Houghton. New edition, enlarged. 204 pp. 60

A plain account of the fortunes of a little French dancing-girl and her friends. She was led by curiosity one day to enter the Sunday-school of the McAll Mission, where she was taught to worship the Lord Jesus instead of the Virgin Mary.

FIFTEEN YEARS AMONG THE TOPKNOTS, or Life in Korea. By L. H. Underwood, M.D. 296 pp. 32 full-page illustrations in color. Cloth.....1 50

"Mrs. Underwood gives ample proof of her powers of observation. The customs of the people, their abodes and their state of body and mind—all were noted by her."

"This narrative gives the best statement from intimate knowledge of the situation in the palace and Seoul when Queen Min was murdered by Japanese ruffians. Mrs. Underwood was the Queen's physician, and speaks of her in high admiration."

"The book is written with such delicacy and refinement of taste and beauty of language that it is more readable than the best of novels and far more instructive."

"Not since the fascinating 'Letters from the Hebrides' has there appeared as bright and graphic a picture of missionary experience as this volume by Mrs. Underwood."

FINDING HER PLACE.† S. By Howe Benning. 12mo. 368 pp...1 50

The heroine is a young schoolteacher whose desire for pleasure draws her from duty. How she found her place and happiness in another way is the point of the story.

HARMONY OF THE GOSPELS in the Words of the American Revised Version, and Outline of the Life of Christ.. By Rev. John H. Kerr, D.D. Author of "Introduction to New Testament Study." xxiii, 236 pp. Sm. 4to..... 1 50

"I have examined it with care, and am much pleased with it. It has many excellencies. First of all, it is in the American Revised Version, the queen of all English versions. Secondly, its outline and chronological arrangement of the life of Christ is one of the best, and is so clearly presented as to be most helpful to any one studying the Gospels. And, thirdly, the volume is an excellent piece of bookmaking, attractive in appearance and convenient for use."

PROF. C. A. MITCHELL,
Omaha Theol. Sem.

"I have already made some use of the Harmony. I find it very useful. The American Standard Revision text is a great advantage, and so far as I have examined the book, I think the sections are wisely placed."

PROF. L. B. CRANE,
Chicago Theol. Sem.

"I have examined the Harmony with great pleasure. I believe the method chosen will be most satisfactory to those who desire to know how the different Gospel writers have related the same incident."

PROF. J. W. BEARDSLEE,

PROGRESS OF DOCTRINE IN THE NEW TESTAMENT. *By T. D. Bernard, M.A. 12mo. 250 pp.*1 00

Dr. Hovey, of the Newton Theological Seminary, says: "The lectures deserve unqualified commendation, for they are as nearly perfect, both in substance and form, as any human production can well be made. There is not, I believe, a dark or dull sentence in the volume. The argument awakens curiosity, satisfies reason, and strengthens faith. It is one of the best fruits of Biblical study in modern times."

SONGS FOR THE LITTLE ONES AT HOME. 16mo, illustrated. Cloth, 288 pp., gilt, 80c..... 60

An exquisite collection of poetry for children, well illustrated, the sale of which has been, and still continues to be, enormous, going up among the hundred thousands.

"An unequalled collection of juvenile verse. I shall do all I can to call attention to it."

MARGARET SANGSTER.

"'Songs for the Little Ones at Home' has been a favorite in my family for two generations. I am glad to have a new copy to put into the hands of the weeest of the flock—the baby granddaughter who is now my special charge. None of the more modern 'jingles' and 'collections' have ever superseded it in our hearts."

MARION HARLAND.

"For pure, sweet, spiritual culture for little children, I know no book of poetry so practical and usable as 'Songs for the Little Ones at Home.' My mother used it in her family; we use it in ours."

REV. G. B. F. HALLOCK, D.D.

"Welcome, a new edition of a precious favorite. In all the profusion of child literature there is nothing purer or sweeter than this. Its quaint pictures and simple songs of nature and home-love must recall to many a mother long silent voices in her own nursery life; more than that, to some it will bring sacred memories of lisping lips in whose last hours were bits of song from its pages. To thousands more may the little treasure cause blessed impressions in verse and song."

TEACHINGS OF JESUS, THE. A series of volumes by eminent authors and divines. John H. Kerr, D.D., general editor.

This series is designed to cover the leading subjects of the "Teachings of Jesus" in a popular and scholarly manner. The authors who have joined in this enterprise are men whose names are well known and who bring rare qualities to their task.

TEACHING OF JESUS CONCERNING HIS OWN MISSION, THE. By Frank Hugh Foster, Ph.D., D.D. X, 136 pp.... 75

"If this first volume of this series is a fair specimen and representative of those that will follow, the series will not lack in ability or interest. The style of presentation is clear and admirably adapted to the needs of the layman and the student."

"This is a wonderfully interesting, suggestive and stimulating book."

"The style is clear, the thought elevated, the topics treated of are in their logical deductions extremely practical. Students of the Bible generally will find this a very useful volume to peruse and possess."

TEACHING OF JESUS CONCERNING THE KINGDOM OF GOD AND THE CHURCH, THE. By Geerhardus Vos, Ph.D., D.D. VI, 203 pp..... 75

"The discussion in this volume is of a great question, and the treatment is attractive and luminous."

"A scholarly volume, well expressed and worthy of profound consideration."

"Scholarly, comprehensive and condensed. The discussion shows wide reading of the literature of the subject, evangelical conviction and feeling, and great skill in the use of exegetical power."

"Impartial, reverent and very careful."

TEACHING OF JESUS CONCERNING GOD THE FATHER, THE. By Archibald T. Robertson, D.D. VIII, 182 pp. 75

"A fresh, reverent and strong presentation of the vital theme."

"No one can read the book without having his conception of God quickened, and having a clearer view of the mission of Jesus as the revealer of the Father."

"The method is scholarly, the spirit is evangelical and the result is worthy of the careful attention of devout readers."

TEACHING OF JESUS CONCERNING THE SCRIPTURES, THE. By David James Burrell, D.D., LL.D. VIII, 221 pp. 75

"In the preparation of this volume Dr. Burrell has rendered the church a real service."

"The argument is strong and legitimate and the style vivacious and attractive."

"A book that must appeal to every thoughtful mind."

"The book is one of value and well worthy a place in the series of which it forms a part."

"A thoughtful book by an able writer on a timely topic."

"The style of the discussion is brilliant and its tone kindly and persuasive."

"A bold and ringing book, and we bid it Godspeed."

"A strong and valuable contribution."

VENERABLE MAYHEWS, THE.† S. By Dr. William A. Hallock. 18mo. 191 pp. Gilt, 75c..... 40

VERILIES OF JESUS, THE. *By Rev. David J. Burrell, D.D., LL.D. 12mo. 200 pp. Cloth.....*1 00

The word "Verily" was often used by the Saviour in His teachings. It is a remarkable fact that none of the apostolic writers have ventured to preface their words with this striking expression. It almost seems as though, as Dr. Burrell suggests, the Master had a divine copyright on the word.

Dr. Burrell is certainly at his best in this exposition of the sayings of Jesus which are thus prefaced. He groups them under twenty-seven subjects, and in his characteristic and forceful manner explains their meaning. The volume is, however, not only expository, but also devotional in its matter. Without waste of words, the author dips deeply into these wonderful sayings and draws out their most significant teachings.

VICARS, HEDLEY. S. P. S. By Miss Marsh. 18mo. 136 pp..... 30

VACATION DAYS AT FOXWOOD.† S. *By Mrs. E. P. Allan. 224 pp.....*1 00

A story of adventure and good times generally by the Foxwood schoolboys.

VICTORY AT LAST.† S. *By Miss Trowbridge. 12mo. 232 pp..*1 00

A man, otherwise noble and affectionate, falls under the power of strong drink. At last he decides to leave his family rather than disgrace them by his falls. Under an assumed name he fights the battle for his freedom, gaining the "victory at last" in the strength of divine grace. He returns to his children a humbler and better man.

VILLAGE SERMONS, FIFTY-TWO. *By Burder. 8vo. 571 pp.*1 25

WAYSIDE SPRINGS.† By Rev. T. L. Cuyler, D.D. 16mo. 160 pp. 50

Mr. Spurgeon said of this book: "There is no need for us to say more of this series of all-alive chats than that 'They are Dr. Cuyler's and just like him.' For sentences that strike and stick, gems that gleam and glow, and thoughts that thrill, commend us to our American friend."

WEE DAVIE.† S. P. S. By Dr. Norman McLeod. 86 pp..... 30

A most pathetic story, by a clever Scotchman, that will interest intensely old and young alike.

"In the Secret of His Presence." Uniform with above. Cloth . . 1 5

LEWIS, REV. ARTHUR.

The Life of E. J. Peck among the Eskimos. Octavo, cloth . 1 75

Stories of the frozen north have never been so many as to-day, but here is a tale fascinating as any novel of a great work carried on for years by a devoted English missionary, utterly isolated from all that he held dearest, and visited only by an occasional ship at intervals of not less than one year. The wonderful results he achieved with the ignorant and neglected denizens of this desolate region of North America are here set forth in a book as inspiring as it is thorough.

MATHESON, GEORGE, D.D.

Leaves for Quiet Hours. 12mo, featherweight paper, gilt top, cloth 1 25

Without the least trace of false sentimentalism this book creates by its depth of thought and stateliness of phraseology an atmosphere quite its own, whilst through every chapter there runs a current of concentrated religious power which carries the work far beyond the usefulness of many similar studies.

Representative Men of the New Testament. A new volume in the series of Representative Men of the Bible. Octavo, cloth, net . . 1 50

MATTHEWS, REV. T. T.

Thirty Years in Madagascar. With 62 illustrations, half tone, crown octavo, cloth 1 75

The Athenæum of London calls the book: "A splendid record of good work."

ALEXANDER, RIGHT REV. W., D.D.

The Epistles of St. John. See also "Expositor's Bible." Crown octavo, cloth 1 50

Armstrong's Primer of United States History, for School and General Use, with (6) six new and beautifully colored maps from original drawings. 1 vol., square 16mo, cloth. 19th edition. Net . 0 50

A model historical primer, full in its statements, discriminating in its selection of events, clear and direct in its style, and comprehensive in its general outline of American affairs. The value of such a book is apparent at a glance. Of large histories of the United States there is no lack, but of shorter histories there is great need. It represents an amount of work of which its brief pages give no adequate impression.

Armstrong's Primer of English History, for School and General Use, with new and beautifully colored maps. 1 vol., square 16mo, uniform with the "United States Primer," cloth. Net . . 0 50

BRACE, CHARLES LORING.

Gesta Christi: A History of Humane Progress Under Christianity. 5th edition, enlarged with a supplementary chapter . . . $1 50

Rev. Dr. R. S. Storrs says: "It is a book that deserves the very widest circulation for its carefulness and candor its ample learning, its just, discriminating analysis of historical movements, as initiated or governed by moral forces, and for the fine spirit which pervades it."

The Unknown God; or, Inspiration Among Pre-Christian Races. Octavo, cloth, gilt top . 2 50

We do not know where to turn for another presentation to be compared as to fulness and scholarly adequacy with this.

BROADUS, JOHN A., D.D., LL.D.

On the Preparation and Delivery of Sermons. New (25th) Edition, revised from the Author's Own Notes by PROF. E. C. DARGAN, D.D. Complete index. Crown octavo, cloth, nearly 600 pages . 1 75

"Prepared by a very able teacher, who had a practical knowledge of his subject and was intimately acquainted with the literature of all parts of it, and treated the whole with devoutness, thoroughness, blended scholarship, and good sense." This new edition with additions and with data and references brought down to the present time will still further enhance the value of this most successful book.

A Harmony of the Gospels. According to the Revised Version, with New Helps for Historical Study, Map of Palestine, Comprehensive Index, and many new features, by JOHN A. BROADUS, D.D. THE EXPOSITOR'S BIBLE.

EDITED BY THE

REV. W. ROBERTSON NICOLL, LL.D.,

EDITOR OF "THE BRITISH WEEKLY."

This series contains Expository Lectures on the Bible by the foremost Preachers and Theologians of the day. While regard is had to the latest results of Scholarship, the volumes are essentially popular and adapted to general readers quite as much as to the Clergy.

COMPLETE IN 49 VOLUMES.

The Old Testament, 28 vols. The New Testament, 21 vols.

SOLD SEPARATELY OR IN SETS.

Large crown octavo volumes, about 400 pages each.

"It easily takes its place in the front rank of works which have for their object the understanding of the Bible and the application of its teachings to practical life."—The Outlook.

"This entire series forms one of the most valuable contributions to modern theological writings."—Christian Advocate.

"No clergyman should be without these volumes, and the teacher of a Bible class or a class in Sunday-school will find them an admirable aid to his own studies in the Inspired Word of God."—N. Y. Churchman.

ROBERTSON, REV. H. A.

The Martyr Isle, Erroman=
ga. By Rev. H. A. ROBERTSON, Erromanga. One vol., crown 8vo, with many illustrations 1 50

John R. Mott writes: "I am just now reading 'Erromanga,' and have been deeply interested in every page I have read. It reminds one constantly of the life of John G. Paton, and is without doubt calculated, like the life of that man, to call for the heroic and self-sacrificing among Christians everywhere.

SMITH, PROF. GEORGE ADAM, D.D.

The Historical Geography
of the Holy Land. Especially in relation to the History of Israel and of the Early Church. By GEORGE ADAM SMITH, D.D., Professor of Hebrew and Old Testament Exegesis, Free Church College, Glasgow. With 6 colored maps, specially prepared. Octavo, cloth, 720 pages $4 50

". . . No one work has ever before embodied all this variety of material to illustrate the whole subject. His geographical statements are pen-pictures. We are made to see the scene. No important problem is untouched. Without question it will take its place at once as a standard work, indispensable to the thoroughgoing student of the Bible."—Sunday-School Times.

"The book is too rich to summarise. . . . The language is particularly well chosen. Few pages are without some telling phrase happily constructed to attract attention and hold the memory, and we often feel that the wealth of imagery would be excessive for prose were it not that it is chosen with such appropriateness and scientific truth."—London Speaker.

Modern Criticism and the Preaching of the Old Testament. Being the Yale Lectures on Preaching. By GEORGE ADAM SMITH, D.D., Professor of Hebrew and Old Testament Exegesis, Free Church College, Glasgow. One volume, crown octavo, cloth . . 1.50

Suplée's Trench on Words. From the latest English Edition. Revised by Rev. A. L. MAYHEW, Oxford. With an Exhaustive Analysis, Additional Words for illustration, and Questions for examination, by THOMAS D. SUPLÉE. Trench "On the Study of Words," originally in the shape of lectures, and retaining that form in publication, was but poorly adapted for use in the school-room as a text-book. The editor has long deplored this, in common with many other teachers, hence no apology is necessary for the appearance of the present volume. The advantages claimed for it over all other editions are self-evident. 12mo, cloth, 400 pages. SMITH, GEORGE ADAM, D.D., LL.D.

The Forgiveness of Sins and Other Sermons. By the author of "A Historical Geography of the Holy Land," "The Minor Prophets," etc. Crown octavo, cloth, net 1 25

"Two vitalizing elements meet in these striking and suggestive sermons: a wide and deep knowledge of the setting of Bible story—the lands, the customs of the people, the history and literature—and a deep, serene faith expressing itself with insight, sympathy and charm. There have been some of late who have despaired of the future of preaching. These should study the materials and methods of these discourses to discover how rich, yes inexhaustible, the materials are which lie imbedded in the Bible narratives."—The Congregationalist.

This volume is particularly timely, owing to the celebration in Scotland of the four hundredth anniversary of the birth of this great divine. Always a picturesque figure, Dr. Stalker has brought new light and power to the study of John Knox's motives and ideals, and the result is a book singularly charming, not only in its subject matter, but in the grace of its expression and the thoroughness of its authenticity and erudition.

Mrs. Rorer's NEW Cook Book

A Manual of Housekeeping. By MRS. S. T. RORER. Large 12mo, 736 pages, abundantly illustrated with half-tone engravings; bound in washable cloth, $2.00 net.

This New Cook Book of Mrs. Rorer's has no connection whatever with her other Cook Book. It is not a new edition of the old book. It is entirely dissimilar, and constructed along different lines. The two do not in any way conflict with each other.

The new book is an advance in many particulars, because Domestic Science has advanced with rapid strides during the past ten years. This book is Domestic Science at its best.

It covers all departments of cookery thoroughly and well. A masterly exposition of each subject is given in a general way, with chemical analyses where necessary and then particular divisions of each subject are explained, so that a thorough understanding may be had. Then follows an abundance of recipes for the proper preparation and cooking of the various kinds of foods.

A New Edition in English of Luther's famous House Postil has been issued from the press of the Augustana Book Concern, and will be hailed with delight by the Lutheran Church in particular and by the Christian public at large. The plates of the English edition, copyrighted and given out by Rev. J. A. Schulze, have been purchased by the Augustana Book Concern of Rock Island, Ill., who are now the sole owners and publishers.

Indispensable to Preachers and Pastors. The value of this work can not be overestimated. It is a treasure house of the richest and most profound meditations on the Gospel Lessons for the Church Year, by the universally acknowledged prince of Bible expositors and preachers. Another such a thesaurus of deep theology, practical piety, and homiletical suggestiveness can scarcely be found in the whole field of Biblical literature.

A work for the Home and the Pew. It is not alone for the preacher and pastor and the theological student, but it is an equally valuable handbook for the family and the pew. It should be in every home and in the hands of every lay member of the congregation, being a great help to the practical understanding of the Gospel for the day and to intelligent participation in the services of the sanctuary as well as a powerful stimulus to the pious study of the Word in the home. For three centuries these incomparable sermons, in their original German, have yielded nourishment, edification, strength and comfort to millions of souls, and they are as fresh and attractive to-day as when they first came from the pen of their author.

Special attention is called to the fact that the price has been reduced, thus bringing this valuable work within the reach of all.

Church Postil. Twenty-four sermons on the Trinity Gospels.
Translated by J. N. Lenker, D. D., 390 pp. Silk cloth..... 2.25

Commentary on the first Twenty-two Psalms
Vol. I, 462 pp. Based on Dr. Henry Cole's translation from the original Latin. Revised, enlarged, parts retranslated and edited by J. N. Lenker, D. D. Bound in silk cloth 2.25

THIS IS ONE OF LUTHER'S BEST WORKS. It ought to find its way into the libraries of all Lutheran pastors and intelligent laymen. — Luther himself wrote: "There is no book of the whole Bible in which I have been so much exercised as in the Psalms." This is recommendation enough. Luther, however, needs no recommendation. The highest recommendation of Luther's writings are the writings themselves.

Commentary on Genesis
Vol. I. The Creation. 448 pp. Based on Dr. Henry Cole's translation from the original Latin. Revised, enlarged, parts retranslated and edited in complete form by J. N. Lenker, D. D. Bound in silk cloth 2.25

As his "Commentary on the Psalms" was the great work of Luther's early life, so his "Commentary on Genesis" was the great work of the last ten years of his life, being, as it has been called, his Swan Song, or his "It is Finished."

The First and Second Epistles of St. Peter and the Epistle of St. Jude
Translated by J. N. Lenker, D. D., 383 pp. Bound in silk cloth 2.25

The labors of Luther in First Peter in 1523 and in 1539 are here offered in one volume. The writings of Peter and Luther in this volume have a significant relation to the Pope, to heathen converts and to the Dispersion of believers; to the Reformation, Foreign Mission and Diaspora movements of the past, and, we believe, they will also continue to have a like mission in these three movements in the future. Of all the books of the Bible and of all the writings of Luther there are none more needed by, and more worthy to be circulated among, the Protestant Dispersion of America and of the world as well as in heathen and Catholic lands than the short writings of the great Apostle Peter, and Luther's comments on them.

Commentary on the Sermon on the Mount
Translated by C. A. Hay. Bound in silk cloth..... 1.50

This is a running commentary on the fifth, sixth and seventh chapters of the gospel by Matthew. In his preface, Luther hopes his publication, "by the Grace of God, may help to preserve and maintain the true, pure and Christian understanding of this teaching of Christ, because these sayings and texts are so very common and so often used throughout all Christendom", and further says, 'it is hard to understand how the very devil himself has, by his apostles, so cunningly twisted and perverted especially the fifth chapter, as to make it teach the very opposite to what it means.' It is truly refreshing to get at something that is not polished, so as to glance off, but that bristles with many sharp points and rough angles, sanctified by the devout, godly, erudite spirit that was back of them. This book is an acquisition to English readers.

*SPEER . . MEMOIRS OF A GREAT DETECTIVE: Incidents in the Life of John Wilson Murray

By VICTOR SPEER. With frontispiece.....Net, 2 00

John Murray is one of the world's greatest detectives. For thirty years he has handled some of the most important and difficult cases which the world has known, solving murder mysteries, running down counterfeiters, burglars and swindlers, and always with the characteristic tenacity and almost super-human insight which is usually confined to the realms of fiction. The result is a series of detective stories as literally true as a governmental record, yet told with a dramatic interest which make them the best of reading. Mr. Murray is known as "Old-Never-Let-Go-Murray."

Among other thrilling adventures are the capture of Reginald Birchall, stonyhearted murderer; of the long and adventurous hunt through South Africa after Aitken, the absconding Banker of Tottenham, who died of yellow fever in an unknown spot; of the 20,000 mile chase after Davidson, the forger; of that desperate gang of safe-blowers headed by Frank Rutledge; of the Johnson's, the million-dollar counterfeiters; of the Welland Canal dynamiters and many others.

THE STORY OF THE CHURCHES

Each volume .....Net, 1 00

The books average about 40,000 words, 250 to 300 pages, and are small 12mos, with attractive frontispieces. This series grew out of the need felt for popular church histories, brief enough to interest the average church member and not long enough to discourage him by a too great number of pages. The books are designed to answer the often asked question, "What is a Baptist?" or "What is a Presbyterian?" etc., and to clear up many traditional errors in the opinions of the members of one denomination regarding the history and creed of the other sects, and even of their own.

"Such a plan is heartily to be welcomed. We must know more of one another if we are to understand one another, and we must understand one another better if we are to co-operate for the Christianizing of this country and the evangelization of the world."—The Churchman, New York.

OTHER DENOMINATIONS TO FOLLOW

*STRONG . SOCIAL PROGRESS. A YEAR BOOK

Edited by Rev. JOSIAH STRONG, D.D. 12mo, cloth.....Net, 1 00

Issued annually on March 1. The 1904 and 1905 editions are now available. Each book gives reliable statistics on advance movements of every sort. It is a year book that no live thinker and Christian worker can be without. It is the very corner-stone of religious work.

Each volume is useful, and back numbers are kept in hand on that account.

"It is a most useful book and one that I expect to keep within easy reach, for frequent consultation. . . . I hope that it may appear every year for a century."—Prof. Richard T. Ely, University of Wisconsin.

STRONG . . THE NEXT GREAT AWAKENING

By JOSIAH STRONG. Eighth Thousand. 12mo. A new paper edition..... 35
Cloth edition 75

There were great religious awakenings in the sixteenth, seventeenth, eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. In each instance these great awakenings came in connection with the preaching of a neglected scriptural truth or truths, which were peculiarly adapted to the needs of the times. The beginning of the twentieth century naturally suggests to the churches a new forward movement. These truths he points out.

By JOSIAH STRONG. Eighth Thousand. 12mo. A new paper edition..... 35
Cloth edition 75

Dr. Strong discusses the great social laws which must be obeyed, if social ills are to cease, and enables the young man to make a practical application of these laws to the solution of his own personal problems, such as the choice of an occupation, education, athletics, personal expenditure and the like.

"It is admirable in every way, packed full of common sense, and written with a convincing and kindly logic. It is very cheery and hopeful, and ought to do great good." —Mr. Wm. E. Dodge.

STRONG . . EXPANSION UNDER NEW WORLD CONDITIONS

By JOSIAH STRONG. Tenth Thousand. 12mo, paper, 50 cents. Cloth..... 1 00

STRONG . . RELIGIOUS MOVEMENTS FOR SOCIAL BETTERMENT

By JOSIAH STRONG. Second Thousand. 12mo, cloth..... 50

This book points out the change taking place in religious activities, the causes of this change and its results. The Institutional Church, the Young Men's Christian Association, the Salvation Army and other organized movements illustrate the effectiveness of the new methods as compared with the old.

STRONG . . THE TWENTIETH CENTURY CITY

By JOSIAH STRONG. 16mo, paper, 25 cents. Cloth..... 50

Dr. Strong discusses the danger arising from the vast movement of population towards the cities and the growth of their preponderating influence in the nation, points out the principles which may be applied successfully to the solution of the great problems of modern society, and makes a ringing appeal for action.

*STURGIS . THE APPRECIATION OF PICTURES

By RUSSELL STURGIS. 4to, eighty illustrations.....Net, 1 50

The fourth volume in The Popular Art Series. It supplements the two volumes by Mr. Sturgis, dealing historically with architecture and sculpture, and differs from "Pictorial Composition" in that Mr. Sturgis treats of pictures historically, while Mr. Poore deals with them constructively and as an artist.

*STURGIS . THE APPRECIATION OF SCULPTURE

By RUSSELL STURGIS. 4to, 85 illustrations.....Net, 1 50

A companion to "How to Judge Architecture," by the same author, and "Pictorial Composition and the Critical Judgment of Pictures," by Henry R. Poore.

In this volume Mr. Sturgis discusses the sculpture of the world, not only the classic pieces, but some of the quaint and unusual in the work of all nations. The volume, historically and critically, will be one of the greatest value. A study of it will enable the reader to criticise intelligently and appreciate and enjoy all that is best in the sculpture of public buildings, monuments, and the exhibits of museums.

*STURGIS . HOW TO JUDGE ARCHITECTURE

A Popular Guide to the Appreciation of Buildings. By RUSSELL STURGIS. 4to, 88 illustrations .....Net, 1 50

This is a handsome volume, and a companion to Poore's "Pictorial Composition and the Critical Judgment of Pictures." It is a most fascinating text and will give the readers a new interest in buildings.

"Though not large, contains for the layman an education in architecture."—The Minneapolis Journal.

ART AND ARCHITECTURAL PUPLICATIONS

—of—

BATES & GUILD COMPANY

42 CHAUNCY STREET, BOSTON, MASS.

AMERICAN COUNTRY HOUSES

112 pages, 11 x 14 inches. 325 illustrations. Bound, $3.00

This special number of The Architectural Review will be found invaluable as a reference work for architects, and every person intending the erection of a suburban or country house will find it a mine of suggestions for the artistic treatment, not only of exteriors but of interiors and special interior features, such as staircases, fireplaces, window seats, etc.

AMERICAN GARDENS

Edited by GUY LOWELL

240 pages, 10 x 12 inches, 227 illustrations, bound in Gold and Green Buckram, $7.50

It has become evident that the American Garden must be an indigenous product; and to the solution of the problem the leading architects in all sections, as well as all non-professional garden-lovers, have set themselves with results that will be a delightful astonishment to those who do not know what has been accomplished. Mr. Lowell has written an introduction dealing specifically with Garden design in America. The illustrations show in detail 61 gardens, together with plans of 42 of the most notable examples.

APARTMENT HOUSES

A special number of The Architectural Review, with articles on the Planning of Apartment Houses, Suburban Apartments, Apartment Houses in Paris, Electrical Service for Apartments, and the Heating, Plumbing, and Refrigeration of Apartment Houses. A complete treatise, beautifully and profusely illustrated. Bound, $3.00.

ARCHITECTURAL COMPOSITIONS

By Henry P. Kirby

50 plates, 15 x 20 inches. In portfolio, $10.00

Mr. Kirby's wonderful pen drawings need no introduction to architects. This collection of fac-similes is printed with such care, and at so large a scale as to preserve the touch and quality of the originals.

ARCHITECTURAL SHADES AND SHADOWS

By HENRY McGOODWIN

118 pages, 9½ x 12½ inches, 45 plates, bound in Cloth with Gold Stamp, $3.00

A complete treatise on the rendering of Architectural Shades and Shadows by the shortest and most convenient methods, with about 45 plates showing the method of constructing them and their rendered drawings, together with photographs from models, etc. The text is so fully explanatory that only the most elementary knowledge of geometry is required for its use. "Shades and Shadows," translated from the French, by Julian Millard (see second page following), is a more advanced work and is recommended as a supplement to this treatise.

BANK BUILDINGS

84 pages, 11 x 14 inches, 225 illustrations, bound, $3.00

A special number of The Architectural Review devoted to the design, planning, construction, protection and equipment of modern banking houses in America. It contains a general consideration of different types of bank plans, by Mr. Philip Sawyer, of York & Sawyer, architects, an article on the design and construction of vaults, by Mr. Frederick S. Holmes, and a description of the evolution of bank fittings, by Mr. M. S. Kelley. Plans and exterior and interior views of a number of representative bank buildings of recent erection complete the number.

COLONIAL ARCHITECTURE OF MARYLAND, PENNSYLVANIA AND VIRGINIA

50 plates, 12 x 15 inches. In portfolio, $12.00. Bound, $15.00

The subjects, selected by and photographed under the direction of Jos. Everett Chandler, Architect, furnish the most useful and suggestive examples of the Colonial style of this region. This work is now in its fourth edition. See also "Examples of Domestic Colonial Architecture" in New England on the page following.

CONSTRUCTION DETAILS

Prepared by FRANCIS W. CHANDLER

Professor of Architecture, Massachusetts Institute of Technology

25 plates, in colors, 14 x 20 inches. In portfolio, $10.00

This collection of model drawings shows the best modern usage in American Building Construction. It is intended for office reference and the use of draughtsmen and students.

DETAILS OF BUILDING CONSTRUCTION

By CLARENCE A. MARTIN

Professor of Architecture, Cornell University

33 plates, 10 x 12½ inches. Bound in cloth, $2.00

DETAILS OF DECORATIVE SCULPTURE

I. — ITALIAN RENAISSANCE

II. — FRENCH RENAISSANCE

Each consists of 50 plates, 7 x 9, mezzotype, in portfolio and box. Price, $2.50 each

Photographic reproductions of decorative carving, comprising capitals, friezes, dormers, chimneys, balustrades, etc., of the greatest value to architects, designers, carvers, modellers, etc.

ENGLISH COUNTRY CHURCHES

100 plates, 11 x 14 inches. In portfolio, $10.00. Bound, $12.00

Eighty-seven exteriors and thirteen interiors, representative of the Norman, Early English, Decorated, and Perpendicular styles. The subjects were selected by Mr. Ralph Adams Cram, the well-known authority on English church architecture.

ENGLISH COUNTRY HOUSES

100 plates, 11 x 14 inches. In portfolio, $10.00. Bound, $12.00

One-hundred and twenty-four views, reproduced by albertype, of the most beautiful examples of the smaller half-timber, brick, and stone domestic architecture of the Tudor, Elizabethan, and Georgian periods.

ENGLISH HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE OF THE GEORGIAN PERIOD

100 plates, 11 x 14 inches. In portfolio, $10.00. Bound, $12.00

Three hundred and forty-eight characteristic pieces of the finest furniture of the 18th century, selected from a loan exhibition to which were contributed the finest authentic examples from the richest collections in the United Kingdom.

EXAMPLES OF DOMESTIC COLONIAL ARCHITECTURE OF NEW ENGLAND

50 plates, 12 x 15 inches. In portfolio, $12.00. Bound, $15.00

Compiled and photographed by James M. Corner and E. E. Soderholtz. The best work on the subject. It is of particular value as a guide to the design of wooden colonial houses, and is naturally of great historical interest. See also Colonial Architecture of Maryland, Pennsylvania and Virginia on the preceding page.

LETTERS AND LETTERING

An illustrated treatise by FRANK CHOUTEAU BROWN

234 pages, 5¾ x 8¾ inches. 210 examples. Cloth, Gilt stamp, $2.00

A complete and varied collection of alphabets of standard and modern forms, so arranged as to be most practically and conveniently useful to Designers, Architects, Craftsmen, etc. In the text all historical and theoretical discussion has been omitted in favor of instruction as to how the individual letters should be drawn and the æsthetic principles upon which they should be combined, spaced, and arranged.

LIBRARIES

60 pages, 11 x 14 inches. 270 illustrations. Bound, $3.00

A special number of The Architectural Review containing plans, photographs, elevations, and sections of all types and sizes of modern American Libraries, with an introduction by Chas. C. Soule, Trustee and Counsellor of the American Library Association. Invaluable to Library Building Committees.

MUNICIPAL ARCHITECTURE IN BOSTON

From designs by EDMUND M. WHEELWRIGHT, City Architect, 1891–95
Edited by PROF. FRANCIS W. CHANDLER

2 vols. 15½ x 19 inches, 100 full page gelatine plates. Price in portfolio, $30.00
Bound, $45.00

This monograph comprises a detailed description of the design, planning, construction, sanitation, cost, etc., of the buildings designed by Mr. Wheelwright during his term of office. It is divided into two parts: the first devoted entirely to Schoolhouses, the second describing Hospitals, Institutions, Buildings for the Fire and Police Departments, etc., with treatises prepared by eminent authorities upon the different topics. Limited edition, 10 copies only for sale.

PEN DRAWING

An illustrated treatise by CHARLES D. MAGINNIS. 4th edition

130 pages, 5 x 7½ inches, 72 illustrations. Cloth, $1.00

A text-book embodying the results of workmanlike training and experience. Practicality is its key-note. It aims to take the place of the teacher; and its illustrations represent characteristic drawings by all the more noteworthy modern draughtsmen.

SHADES AND SHADOWS

Translated from the French of JULES PILLET by JULIAN MILLARD

43 pages, 9½ x 12½ inches, 84 diagrams. Cloth, $2.00

An exposition of short and convenient methods for determining shades and shadows after methods in use at the École des Beaux-Arts, Paris. This is not an elementary work, but requires a knowledge of descriptive geometry for its use. Students are recommended to use this as supplementary to a study of Architectural Shades and Shadows (see first page).

STABLES AND FARM BUILDINGS

120 pages, 11 x 14 inches. 550 illustrations. Bound, $3.00

A special number of The Architectural Review devoted to the planning and design of stables and farm buildings. The most complete and exhaustive treatise on the subject ever published.

THEATRES

Their Safety from Fire and Panic, Their Comfort and Healthfulness

By PAUL GERHARD, C. E.

110 pages, 6 x 9 inches. Cloth, $1.00

An invaluable treatise for theatre managers, architects, municipal building inspectors, and fire chiefs.

VIGNOLA

The Five Orders of Architecture. Revised Edition including the Greek Orders
From the French of PIERRE ESQUIÉ

78 plates, 10 x 12 inches, on muslin guards. Substantially bound, $5.00

"Vignola" is at once the Bible and the primer of architecture. The present edition has been arranged with special regard for application to modern work. New plates have been added and many old ones entirely redrawn. The explanations of the plates have been accurately translated into English and numerous notes, together with a glossary of French terms with their English equivalents, have been added.

MAGAZINES

Published by BATES & GUILD CO., BOSTON, MASS.

MASTERS IN ART

A monthly magazine, established January, 1900. Each number complete in itself, adequately and beautifully illustrates and fully describes and criticises the work, and relates the life of one of the great painters of the world.

Each issue contains reproductions of ten paintings by the master who forms its subject, the quality of these reproductions being unexcelled by any other publication. Whenever an authentic portrait of the artist is obtainable it is published in addition.

The text portion of the magazine begins with a brief, trustworthy and interesting biography, which is followed by quotations from the world's best critics, a bibliography, and list of paintings by the artist giving their present locations.

All back numbers are carried in stock.

The artists treated in the volumes already published are as follows:

VOLUME I. 1900.	Van Dyck, Titian, Velasquez, Holbein (the younger), Botticelli, Rembrandt, Reynolds, Millet, Giovanni Bellini, Murillo, Hals, and Raphael.
VOLUME II. 1901.	Rubens, Leonardo da Vinci, Dürer, Michael Angelo (sculpture), Michael Angelo (paintings), Corot, Burne-Jones, Ter Borch, Luca and Andrea della Robbia, Andrea del Sarto, Gainsborough, and Correggio.

MASTERS IN MUSIC

A monthly magazine established January, 1903. It is identical in plan and scope with Masters in Art, a great composer being the subject of each issue, and a selection from his representative compositions taking the place of the pictures in Masters in Art. Each issue contains a beautiful frontispiece portrait, 16 pages of text and 32 pages of beautifully engraved piano music. An important feature of the magazine is the editorial notes on the proper rendering of the selections. Volume I. includes the issues from January to June, 1903, treating of Mozart, Chopin, Gounod, Mendelssohn, Grieg, and Raff. Volume II. includes the issues from July to December, 1903, treating of Verdi, Haydn, Bizet, Beethoven (piano works), Beethoven (orchestral works), Handel. Volumes III. and IV., comprising the issues for 1904, treat of the following musicians: Weber, Franz, Liszt, Purcell, Strauss, The Scarlattis, Rossini, Dvořák, Schubert (piano), Schubert (orchestral), Tschaikowsky, and Bach. Single numbers, 25 cents each. Subscription, $2.50 a year, in advance. Complete volumes (containing six numbers each) bound in cloth, $2.50; in half morocco, $3.50. Miniature magazine sent on request.

THE ARCHITECTURAL REVIEW

Published monthly. Its regular issues contain on an average twelve pages of reading matter and illustrations, and eight heliotype plates, usually reproductions of carefully worked up scale drawings. It is recognized by the architectural profession to be the most carefully and ably edited paper in the field. Twice a year its regular issues give place to large special numbers, each an exhaustive work on some particular class of buildings. Those special numbers already issued will be found described in this list under American Country Houses, Apartment Houses, Libraries, Stable and Farm Buildings, and Bank Buildings. In the fall of 1905 a special number on Churches will be issued.

Yearly subscriptions, payable in advance, $5.00. Subscriptions begin with the issue following their receipt.

The Reader Magazine

AUTHORITATIVE : ORIGINAL : SINCERE

James Whitcomb Riley

The most popular poet that America has yet produced, the most popular poet of his time in any land, and one of the most popular poets of all time, contributes to THE READER in 1905 a series of thoroughly characteristic and wonderfully endearing poems. Certain specimens of his best verse have been hand-lettered by Ralph Fletcher Seymour and set in specially designed, decorated and illuminated panels. These beautiful productions will appear monthly as inserts in the magazine and will be suitable for framing.

Howard Chandler Christy

Universally conceded the most popular illustrator in America, draws exclusively for THE READER in 1905. It seems particularly appropriate that Mr. Christy, whose name is naturally linked with Mr. Riley's, because of his celebrated editions of "An Old Sweetheart of Mine" and "Out to Old Aunt Mary's," should now be associated with him in making THE READER a thing of lasting joy and grace.

The Reader Stands for Reliable Information, Sound Opinions and Human Interest. It covers the Whole Field.

Besides the best serials, like Meredith Nicholson's "The House of a Thousand Candles," the best short stories by the best writers, and feature articles of national importance, THE READER contains each month a general survey of current literature and a special study of American letters.

AN ALPHABETICAL LIST BY AUTHORS

OF THE

PUBLICATIONS

OF

THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY

FALL, 1905

AMSBARY. The Ballads of Bourbonnais.

By Wallace Bruce Amsbary. Profusely illustrated by Will Vawter. 12mo, cloth..... ..... Postage 11c, net, $1.00

This book of verse was written with a view to preserving the dialect of the French-Canadian colony in Kankakee County, Illinois. "While pursuing this worthy object," says the New York Evening Post, "the author has certainly contrived to be amusing." Mr. Amsbary has undoubted wit and humor and with these the kindly sympathy and tenderness of heart that mark the humorist at his best.

BAKER. The Queen's Page.

By Cornelia Baker. With twelve illustrations by Fanny Y. Cory. Large 12mo, cloth..$1.25

A brave tale of happy children in the long ago. It concerns Pedro and Petronilla, twin descendants of a noble family of Navarre, and it tells of their coming to the court of Francis I and of all the famous folk they saw there and all the fine things they did. The boys and girls who read "The Queen's Page" drink in historical information without dreaming that they are being informed, so bright, so lively, so amusing is the story.

BARR. High Pressure Steam Boilers.

By William M. Barr. With 203 illustrations and 95 tables; 8vo, cloth, 456 pages ....Postage 16c, net, $3.00

A practical treatise on high pressure steam boilers, including results of experimental tests of boiler materials, together with a description of approved safety apparatus, steam pumps, injectors and economizers in actual use.

The Combustion of Coal.

With 49 illustrations and 26 tables; 308 pages, 8vo, cloth.....Postage 16c, net, $2.50

A practical treatise, including descriptions of various mechanical devices for the economic generation of heat by the combustion of fuel, whether solid, liquid or gaseous.

BAUM. The Life and Adventures of Santa Claus.

By L. Frank Baum. Profusely illustrated in colors by Mary Cowles Clark. Uniform with "The Wizard of Oz." 8vo, cloth, illuminated cover.....$1.25

A charming story of the life of Santa Claus from early childhood to the time when the fairies, in solemn council, decide to cover him with a magic cloak that will enable him to live forever. Especially delightful are the chapters describing the evolution of the toy and telling how Santa Claus happened to think of making dolls.

BAUM—Continued.—The Wizard of Oz.

An entirely new edition, printed on tinted paper and lavishly illustrated by W. W. Denslow. 8vo, cloth.....$1.25

The story of Dorothy's remarkable travels with the Scarecrow, the Tin Woodman and the Cowardly Lion has become a classic and is by all odds the most popular book for children of all ages published in the last ten years.

The Magical Monarch of Mo.

Fully illustrated in color by Frank Verbeck. Uniform with "The Wizard of Oz." 8vo, cloth.....$1.25

An account of fourteen surprises in the strange land of Mo, all beguilingly nonsensical, and enchanting for young lovers of "make-believe."

The Enchanted Island of Yew.

Profusely and beautifully illustrated in color by Fanny Y. Cory. Uniform with "The Wizard of Oz." 8vo, cloth.....$1.25

The story of a fairy who, transformed into a mortal for one year, becomes Prince Marvel, a brave and handsome youth. His encounters with the High Ki of Twi and other queer people make an ever-changing series of exciting episodes.

Dot and Tot of Merryland.

New edition (old edition out of print). Illustrated in color by W. W. Denslow. Uniform with "The Wizard of Oz." 8vo, cloth.....$1.25

Two children get into a row-boat on a small river and, floating along with the current are surprised to find themselves in a marvelous country. They meet flying monkeys, visit the candy country, take part in the revolt of the dolls, and finally reach home again in safety.

Mother Goose in Prose.

New edition (old edition out of print). Beautifully illustrated by Maxfield Parrish. Uniform with "The Wizard of Oz." 8vo, cloth.....$1.25

Here are the complete life-stories of the great little people of the great Mother Goose. At last we learn why King Cole had such queer tastes for a monarch, how Humpty Dumpty happened to be on the wall and Jack Horner in the corner, why Bo-Peep's sheep got away from her, etc., etc. Mr. Parrish's illustrations are a delight to the eye and a spur to the fancy.

Of this delightful series the Albany Times-Union says: "There is positively no living writer of fairy tales who comes quite so near the children's hearts as L. Frank Baum. His books are down-to-date fairy stories, very different from those that pleased past generations; their illustrations are by talented and popular artists; many of the type pages are printed in two gay colors, and in every way they are designed to open wide the eyes of little people in astonishment and intense delight. They deserve limitless praise."

Father Goose: His Book.

New edition (old edition out of print). Illustrated in color by W. W. Denslow, and printed on tinted paper. Quarto, cloth.....$1.25

The new edition of this wonderfully popular juvenile will be hailed with joy by all the little folks. The quaint gaiety of Mr. Baum's rhymes and jingles is equalled by the delicious drollery of Mr. Denslow's pictures. "Father Goose" deserves a place by "Mother Goose"—could more be said?

The Master Key.

Illustrated in colors by Fanny Y. Cory. 12mo, cloth.....$1.00

The prince of story-tellers has woven here a tale so filled with wonders that rare indeed will be the boy who does not find it fascinating. Robbie, the hero, is furnished by the Genie of Electricity with electrical machines that enable him to fly through the air, read people's thoughts, etc.

BEGBIE. The Fall of the Curtain.

By Harold Begbie. Frontispiece by C. Allan Gilbert. 12mo, cloth. Postage 12c, net, $1 25

The purpose of this brilliant and penetrating story of modern English life is to show that a human being, well brought-up, carefully trained in the outward observances of religion, with a keen intellectual perception of the difference between right and wrong, may still not have goodness, and that selfish ambition may easily become the dominating force in such a character. So the book may be called a purpose novel, but in reading it one no more thinks of applying so discredited an epithet to it than one would think of applying it to "Vanity Fair." The author possesses an admirable style, clear, unaffected, strong.

BLAKE. Hearts' Haven.

By Katharine Evans Blake. Illustrated by E. M. Ashe. 12mo, cloth $1.50

The author of this beautiful story maintains that the love of a man for a maid and the love of a parent for a child are the dominant motives of life, surviving the mutations of years, stronger than heredity, stronger than loyalty to a religious leader, never to be obliterated, even by fanaticism, and proving ultimately irresistible to the sane heart. The setting for the development of this poignant truth is the Rappite community of celibates at New Harmony in early Indiana. Seldom, indeed, have the conquering impulses of young love and the overriding instincts of parenthood been expressed with such searching tenderness and such intimate reality.

BOLTON. Paddle Your Own Canoe, and Other Poems.

By Sarah T. Bolton. Edited by John Clark Ridpath, with an introduction by General Lew Wallace, and a proem by James Whitcomb Riley. 12mo, cloth.....$1.25

The collected poems of one of Indiana's most famous writers of verse. The poem which gives the title to the volume is known all over the world, and many others are scarcely less beautiful.

BONNER. Tomorrow's Tangle.

By Geraldine Bonner. Illustrated by Arthur I. Keller. 12mo, cloth $1.50

A tale of California in the gold days of '49 and after; a story of desert, mine and varicolored San Francisco, of bonanza kings and bonanza outcasts, of a fight for a fortune and a superb renunciation; a romance of adventure and enterprise; more than all this, a romance of the conscience and the heart.

The New York Press says: "Since Bret Harte there has been no story of the gold days that can compare with this." And the Nashville American comments: "The story is full of life, and its characters are as clearly cut as portraits in steel. It is an American story, too, and that is another claim to the reader's attention."

The Pioneer.

Illustrated by Harrison Fisher, the frontispiece in color. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

Miss Bonner's second novel of life in the Far West has all the many good qualities of the first—the warm-hearted sympathy, the picturesqueness and the stirring action—with a new depth of feeling and sureness of touch. The atmosphere of time and place (California and Nevada in the bonanza silver days) is rendered splendidly. But atmosphere and style mean little to the reader compared with the engrossing, passionate story of Colonel Jim Parrish and how he paid the debt of love.

BREED'S PATENT PORTFOLIO SCRAP-BOOK.

A scrap-book without paste. Half-American Russia, cloth sides, size 6x9 inches ...$3.00

Breed's Scrap-Book has pockets, or envelopes, into which scraps are dropped and methodically filed by subject. There is no pasting, no annoyance, no loss of time, no dirt. The subject is written on the envelope containing it and entered in the index. No matter how many scraps have accumulated, all upon the same subject are together and can easily be removed, consulted and replaced, and are not blurred by pasting, defaced by exposure, or mutilated by removal. It contains fifty heavy manila envelopes, handsomely bound together in a book that stands upon an ordinary book-shelf.

BROWN. Selections from Lucian.

Translated by Demarchus C. Brown, Professor of Greek at Butler College. 16mo, cloth, uncut, gilt top.....$1.25

A scholarly and very readable translation of the great Greek humorist, designed to preserve the spirit and the fine essence of the style as well as the matter.

BROWNELL. Dream Children.

Edited and illustrated by Elizabeth C. Brownell, with an introduction by Clara E. Laughlin. Ornamental cover, 12mo, boards.....Postage 12c, net, $0.95

In this beautiful volume Mrs. Brownell has collected the stories of the famous children of English poetry and prose, and has illustrated them with sixty camera studies from life. In it we find "Tiny Tim" and "Jenny Wren," from Dickens; Eugene Field's "Little Boy Blue"; Mr. Riley's "Little Orphant Annie" and Lewis Carroll's "Alice," together with a score of others equally loved.

BURDETTE. Smiles Yoked with Sighs.

By Robert J. Burdette. Profusely illustrated by Will Vawter. 12mo, cloth.....$1.25

A volume of fun written in dancing verse, and dealing with the common joys of simple life: childhood, age, and the comedy of young love.

Chimes from a Jester's Bells.

A delightful volume, containing nineteen humorous and pathetic stories and sketches, and an indescribably ludicrous travesty of the Rollo books.

BURTON. Forces in Fiction.

By Richard Burton. 12mo, cloth ..... Postage 10c, net, $1.00

Thirteen essays, critical and popular, on modern literary tendencies. Professor Burton discusses, with charm and acumen, the Cult of the Historical Romance, Poetry and the Drama, the Modern Need for Literature, Past and Present in Literature, the Use of English, and other kindred topics.

CASTLE. The Army Mule.

By Henry A. Castle. With illustrations by J. W. Vawter. 12mo, cloth $1.25

Humorous sketches of army life in war time. Written by a veteran of the Civil War, they are especially entertaining to all veterans. The subjects treated are: The Army Mule, The Sutler, The Shelter Tent, Dress Parade, and The Boys in Blue Grown Gray.

CATHERWOOD. Lazarre.

By Mary Hartwell Catherwood. Illustrated by André Castaigne. 12mo, cloth....$1.50

A powerfully romantic story of the lost Dauphin, told with a skill that bespeaks for it a permanent popularity. "Lazarre is no less a person than the Dauphin, Louis XVII, of France, and a right royal hero he makes. A prince, who, for the sake of his lady, scorns perils in two hemispheres, facing the wrath of kings in Europe and the bullets of savages in America; who at last spurns a kingdom that he may wed her freely—here is one to redeem the sins of even those who 'never learn and never forget'."—Philadelphia North American.

CENTURY SERIES OF READINGS, RECITATIONS AND DIALOGUES.

Cloth bound, 12mo, containing about 250 pages, each..... $0.60

The following volumes are included:

First Series—For Schools and Colleges.
Second Series—For Christmas and other Holidays.
Third Series—For Little Children.
Fourth Series—For Young People.
Fifth Series—Humorous and Comic.

These excellent books are designed to satisfy the ever-present demand for selections suitable for recitation. The selections are made from the works of the best-known authors.

CLARK. The Legionaries.

By Henry Scott Clark. Illustrated by H. McCormick. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

The scene of this remarkable and artistic novel is laid in Kentucky and Indiana, and the backbone of the story is the great raid of the intrepid Morgan—one of the most romantic and reckless pieces of adventure ever attempted in the history of the world. Mr. Clark's description of the "Ride of the Three Thousand" is a piece of literature that deserves to live; "as fine in its way," says the Memphis Commercial Appeal, "as the chariot race in 'Ben-Hur.'"

CLAY. The Portfolio of Celebrated Actresses.

A series of portraits in color, by John Cecil Clay—Virginia Harned, Maxine Elliott, Mrs. Fiske, Annie Russell, Blanche Bates and Mrs. Carter. Beautifully mounted and boxed.....Postage 46c, net, $4.50
Each portrait separately.....$0.75

This portfolio will be found very attractive, not only by reason of its excellence, but because the subjects of these sketches are the actresses whom the people of this country most admire and respect. They are very fine reproductions of color crayon work on heavy coated paper, the printings being mounted on heavy card-board.

In Love's Garden.

With twenty-four full-page illustrations in colors and sixteen full-page illustrations in black and white. With a cover in five colors from a design made especially for it by Mr. Clay. Quarto, cloth.....$3.00

This is a book for lovers, with cleverly selected verses and exquisitely beautiful drawings in Mr. Clay's own distinctive manner. The flowers are the kinds that every one loves,—with every reason in the world. It is a most artistic and elaborately beautiful holiday book.

COTTON. Young Folk's History of Greece and Rome.

By Elizabeth J. Cotton. A history of Greece and Rome, from the heroic age to the downfall of the Roman Empire. 12mo, cloth, illustrated.....$0.75

Young Folk's History of the Middle Ages.

A history of the Medieval period from the fall of Rome (A. D. 476) to the discovery of America. 12mo, cloth, illustrated.....$0.75

CULBERTSON. At the Big House.

By Anna Virginia Culbertson. New edition, made up of the best stories selected from the complete edition, with sixteen full-page illustrations and many new marginal drawings by E. Warde Blaisdell. 8vo, cloth.....$1.25
Complete edition, 12mo, cloth.....1.50

A delightful collection of animal folk-tales of the South, told by two old "mammies" to three children on a Virginia plantation after the war. It is a valuable addition to a fund of curious knowledge which is fast becoming unobtainable. The dialect is perfect.

"'At the Big House' has carried me back to old times by a most delightful road," says Joel Chandler Harris. "It is a charming book. There is a color about it, an atmosphere, a delicate touch. The truth is that only a woman of great sensibility can write stories for children as they should be written—as, in fact, Miss Culbertson has written them. The book should be one of the most substantial successes of the season." And Uncle Remus should know if any one.

Banjo Talks.

Illustrated with many amusing photographs of plantation scenes. 12mo, cloth, in a box .....net, $1.00

A book of verse compounded of all the humor and pathos of the darkies at their best. Miss Culbertson has the faculty of using musical words. They sing themselves. The soul "gits up an' humps husse'f" when this "banjer" talks. The foot aches to beat time to the dancing words of the dancing verse. It is downright negro melody, all through, with delightful poems about "hants" and "conjures," revivals and the getting of "'ligion," "honey-gals," "'possums" and "watermilyuns."

DALE. Wanted—a Cook.

By Alan Dale. 12mo, cloth..... $1.50

An uproariously funny comedy-novel of a self-conscious couple in contact with the servant question. Though they live in a small New York apartment, they have æsthetic ideas about home-life and wish to avoid the sordid details of household duties. Their ludicrous predicaments with their several cooks are narrated with a light, farcical quality and a satire that never fail of entertainment.

DEWHURST. Dwellers in Tents.

By Frederic E. Dewhurst. 12mo, cloth, gilt top..... $1.25

A series of sermon essays on a wide range of themes and possessing a fine religious eloquence. "Written in clear, direct style, their tone is uniformly hopeful, helpful and earnest. They deserve a wide reading."—Indianapolis News.

DICKSON. The Black Wolf's Breed.

By Harris Dickson. Illustrated by C. M. Relyea. 12mo, cloth, gilt top..... $1.50

A vigorous tale of France in the Old World and the New, happening in the reign of Louis XIV. It is full of tender love-making and gallant fighting, and the pages are crowded with courtiers, adventurers, knights and ladies, Indian braves and stalwart frontiersmen. "As delightfully seductive as certain mint-flavored beverages they make down South."—Philadelphia Press.

She That Hesitates.

Illustrated by C. M. Relyea. 12mo, cloth..... $1.50

The scene of this dashing romance shifts from Dresden to St. Petersburg in the reign of Peter the Great, and then to New Orleans. The hero is a French soldier of fortune, as brave a blade as ever rode through fiction. And the Princess who hesitates—but you must read the story to know how she that hesitates may be lost and yet saved. "A splendid story of adventure, written with artistic restraint."—New York Sun.

DONNAN. Our Governments.

By Laura Donnan. 12mo, buckram.....Postage 12c, net, $1.00

A hand-book of our federal and municipal forms of government, designed for use in the study of civil government, with a reprint of many historical documents, as: Franklin's Plan of Union, The Declaration of Independence, The Articles of Confederation, The Constitution of the United States, The Ordinance of 1787, Washington's Farewell Address.

DUNHAM. Two in a Zoo.

By Curtis Dunham and Oliver Herford. Illustrated by Oliver Herford. Quarto, cloth.....$1.25

A most delightful relation of the interesting adventures of Toots, a lame boy, and his little girl friend, the Princess. The great caged animals of the Zoo impart to Toots their deepest secrets, and he interprets their sayings and stories of the jungle for his friend's benefit.

DYE. Letters and Letter Writing.

By Charity Dye, Teacher of English in Shortridge High School, Indianapolis. 12mo, cloth.....Postage 10c, net, $1.00

A manual and text-book on the art of writing letters, aiming to show the possibilities of letter-writing as a means of vitalizing English composition, and of securing naturalness, ease and fluency in written expression. It contains many specimen letters by well-known authors, now for the first time published, together with outlines and suggestions for letters on the social relations, nature, history, reading and the study of literature.

EHRMANN. A Fearsome Riddle.

By Max Ehrmann. With pictures by Virginia Keep. 12mo, cloth $1.00

This mystery story, based on the theory of the arithmetical rhythm of time, contains much of the same fascination that attaches to the tales of Poe. Simply told, yet dramatic and powerful in its unique conception, it has a convincing ring that is most impressive. The reader can not evade a haunting conviction that this wonderful experiment must in reality have taken place. Delightful to read, difficult to forget, the book has evoked a wide discussion.

EMBREE. A Heart of Flame.

By Charles Fleming Embree, author of "A Dream of a Throne." Illustrated by Dan Smith. 12mo, cloth $1.50

The men and women in this story are children of the soil. Their strength is in their nearness to nature. Their minds are vigorous, their bodies powerful, their passions elemental, their courage sublime. They are loyal in friendship, persistent in enmity, determined in purpose. The story is a story of great wrongs and of supreme love. It is done in black and white, with few strokes, but they are masterly. The shadows at the back are somber but the value of contrast is appreciated for the vivid high light in the foreground.

ENGLISH, W. E. History of Masonry in Indianapolis.

By Captain W. E. English. Profusely illustrated. 8vo, cloth, gilt top ..... Postage 16c, net, $2.00

A complete and interesting history of the Masonic lodges in the capital city of Indiana, with half-tone pictures of the leading Masons. An appendix contains the names of the members of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite, Valley of Indianapolis, and the names of all officials of the lodges, with the period of service.

ENGLISH, W. H. Conquest of the Northwest.

By William Hayden English. Illustrated. 2 vols., 8vo, cloth. Expressage 50c, net, $6.00

A history of the conquest of the country northwest of the Ohio River, 1778–1783, both volumes being copiously illustrated with portraits and stirring views. Practically a complete encyclopedia of revolutionary times in the West. A biography of General George Rogers Clark is included. Many original documents in fac-simile furnish a valuable background to the narrative.

EWING. The Art of Cookery.

By Emma P. Ewing. Illustrated. 12mo, cloth $1.75

A manual for homes and schools, with intelligent instructions in regard to the selection and preparation of food. With the aid of this book any person of ordinary intelligence ought to be able to select, prepare, and serve, in a scientific and skilful manner, such articles of food as are in general use.

A Text-Book of Cookery.

134 pages. 12mo, cloth $0.75

For use in schools, being an undergraduate course of study of the science of selecting, preparing and serving food. This book instructs as to the food principles contained in the crude materials, and how and in what proportion they should be grouped in a meal; also in what articles the materials needed are to be had at the least cost.

FISHBACK. Recollections of Lord Coleridge.

By W. P. Fishback. Bound in cloth, uncut edges, with photogravure portrait of Lord Coleridge, fac-simile letters, etc. Square 12mo, cloth $1.25

Mr. Fishback went to England in 1891 and had peculiar facilities for intimate discourse with the Lord Chief-Justice of England. His record of the friendship which was begun at that time and which was afterwards continued by correspondence is full of sidelights on the life and character of the greatest lawyer of the Victorian era, and contains besides interesting anecdotes of Matthew Arnold, Landor, Samuel Taylor Coleridge, Newman and other distinguished men.

FLOWER. The Best Policy.

By Elliott Flower, the author of "The Spoilsman," etc. Illustration by George Brehm. 12mo, cloth $1.50

Twelve stories dealing with dramatic incidents in the life insurance profession, and all centered about the life of Dave Murray, special agent. The comedies, the tragedies, the speculations, the favors, the failures, the schemes, the grievances that lie in the agent's pathway are presented with vigor and originality, and the agent's calling is dignified to its true importance. There is nothing didactic or argumentative about the tone of the book. At the same time, when one has finished reading it, one feels that the plea for life insurance in its various aspects has never been presented with such subtle force and that there could not possibly be a better handbook for the agent. It is both realistic and philosophical, both amusing and impressive.

FORMAN. The Life and Writings of Thomas Jefferson.

By S. E. Forman. Second edition, revised and improved. 8vo, cloth..... $2.50

It is the purpose of this volume to put the teachings of Jefferson within the reach of all. His voluminous correspondence and numerous state papers have been examined and wherever a significant passage or an important official document has been found, it has been classified and placed in this collection. Nothing that has point has been omitted. "Such a volume can not have a place in too many American homes."—Chicago Tribune.

FOULKE. The Life of Oliver P. Morton.

By William Dudley Foulke. 2 vols., 8vo, cloth, gilt top.....Expressage 50c, net, $6.00

A comprehensive biography of the great war governor of Indiana.

FRENCH. (See Octave Thanet.)

FULLER. Roach & Co.—Pirates.

By Hector Fuller. 12mo, gilt top, cloth, uncut $1.25

These sea stories are the work of a writer alive to his finger-tips. They are full of human interest, of dash and action, of movement and incident, and they are peopled with unusual characters of widely different types. In the story from which the book takes its name Mr. Fuller tells a tale of modern piracy such as might arouse the envy of the shades of those red-handed old buccaneers who once pillaged upon the Spanish Main.

GATES. The Story of Live Dolls.

By Josephine Scribner Gates. Illustrated by Virginia Keep. Quarto, cloth.....
.....Postage 14c, net, $1.00

A charming story for children. All the dolls in the village of Cloverdale become alive for one month, and the experiences of the children with such playmates are decidedly novel, exciting and pleasant.

More About Live Dolls.

Illustrated by Virginia Keep. Quarto, cloth.....Postage 12c, net, $1.00

A tale of the adventures of the dolls that came to life, the many and glorious good times enjoyed by them in company with their little mothers. Christmas and Santa Claus also figure largely in the tale. The book is beautifully bound in crimson cloth, with a colored cover plate.

"For these stories Josephine Scribner Gates deserves the gratitude of all little girls with doll children of their own."—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Story of the Lost Doll.

New edition, uniform with "The Story of Live Dolls." Illustrated by Virginia Keep. Quarto, cloth.....Postage 12c, net, $1.00

In this story, Mrs. Gates has opened up a new field in children's literature. We have a most mysterious mystery in the losing and finding of the doll, with a full-fledged, fascinating intrigue in the doctor's attempt to give one doll to two different little girls at the same time.

"One of the daintiest books for children this season. The story is one which parents will have to read again and again to the wide-open eyes and ears of the younger members of the family. And what higher praise is there for any child's book?"—Boston Transcript.

The Story of the Three Dolls.

With many illustrations by Virginia Keep. Quarto, cloth.....Postage 12c, net, $1.00

A new book by Mrs. Gates, especially a book about those famous dolls, means joy to children all the land over. And this new book is full of the famous dolls in new situations and predicaments. The presentation of "the doll question" stirs an answering chord in the little-girl-heart. There is originality in the plan and a pleasant blend of the humorous and pathetic in treatment.

GOSS. The Redemption of David Corson.

By Charles Frederic Goss, 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

The scene of this powerful American novel is in Ohio, just before the War of Secession. It deals with the regeneration of a strong young man who wandered after false gods.

Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis, Pastor of Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, says: "'The Redemption of David Corson' strikes a strong, healthy, buoyant note. It conquers our admiration and our love."

The Loom of Life.

12mo, cloth.....$1.50

The story is of a young girl, taught to believe in the old Greek myths, who revenges a wrong done to her with life-long persecution. Finally, however, she comes to believe that retribution for wrong-doing belongs to God, and is forced to realize that on earth peace and happiness can be obtained only by forgiving one another's sins. The book shows the same love and sympathy for the many moods of nature that characterize "The Redemption of David Corson."

"Dr. Goss' splendid powers have been demonstrated afresh. His new book is strong enough, big enough, suggestive and informing enough, to make a reputation for any one." —The Living Church.

Little Saint Sunshine.

Illustrated in colors by Virginia Keep. 12mo, cloth.....$1.25

A simple story of the transforming power of child-love and trust which tells anew one of the great Christmas lessons: that the world, which seems at times rough and heartless, ever responds to the appeal of goodness, gentleness and faith.

GREEN. The Filigree Ball.

By Anna Katharine Green. Illustrated by C. M. Relyea. 12mo, cloth $1.50

This is something more than a mere detective story; it is a thrilling romance—a romance of mystery and crime where a shrewd detective helps to solve the mystery. The plot is an intricate one, carefully worked out. There are constant accessions to the main problem, so that the reader can not possibly imagine the conclusion. Unlike many mystery stories, "The Filigree Ball" is not disappointing at the end.

The Millionaire Baby.

Illustrated by A. I. Keller. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

A detective story with a new tangle. A baby, heiress to an immense fortune, is kidnapped and disappears from the face of the earth. The offer of a large reward attracts a detective, who passes through a series of weird experiences in his endeavor to restore the baby to her parents. Undoubtedly this is one of the most original among modern romances that explore the hidden ways of the heart. "It is intense, fascinating, mystifying and plausible," says The Chicago News. "The unique position of the author in the field of mystery fiction is finally established."

The Amethyst Box.

One of The Pocket Books. Narrow 12mo, cloth.....$0.75

A daring story of mystery by the famous weaver of mysteries, with a magical glamour that holds the reader in a spell. A brilliant drawing-room at Newport, two pairs of lovers, the bishop ready to unite one pair, and a detective standing over the presents—then a sudden fear starting out of the dark, a step on the stair, and a scream in the night! The pictures are as vivid as a dream, the whole tale has a breathless speed, and all ends well.

The House in the Mist.

One of The Pocket Books. Including also "The Ruby and the Caldron." Narrow 12mo, cloth.....$0.75

Mrs. Green considers "The House in the Mist" her finest prose work. Everyone will echo her judgment, who follows the lonely traveler to the lonely house in the mist and passes with him through the strange adventure. "The Ruby and the Caldron" is a detective story of a peculiarly pleasing type, depending for its intense interest not on the morbid fascination of crime but on ingenuity, penetration and the novel turn of the happy outcome.

GWYNN. A Birthday Book.

Collected and arranged by M. L. Gwynn. 8vo, cloth, gilt top, 367 pages.....$2.50

A book of wise and pithy sayings for each day in the year. The quotations are given on the left-hand pages, and the right-hand pages are ruled for the inscription of names.

HARLAND. Marion Harland's Complete Cook Book.

By Marion Harland (Mrs. Mary Virginia Terhune.) Large 12mo, handsomely bound in washable cloth, 780 pages, fully illustrated..... $2.00

For a third of century Marion Harland has been the great authority on all matters pertaining to the household. This book is the result of her lifetime experience. It is complete, containing hundreds of receipts found in no other book. It is practical, and is admirably adapted to the tastes and income of the average family. In addition to thousands of receipts, the book contains exhaustive chapters on every branch of housekeeping, such as Marketing, The Care of Food, The Kitchen, The Sick-Room, The Linen Closet, The Nursery, Table Arrangements, Afternoon Tea, Serving, Carving, Dinner Giving, The Chafing Dish, etc.

Everyday Etiquette.

12mo, ornamental cloth.....net, $1.00

This is the most comprehensive, readable and valuable book of etiquette published, —the final word of the authority on the subject. It differs from all other books on manners in that it treats the matter simply and sanely without a trace of snobbishness. A few of the chapter titles will indicate the scope of the volume: Sending and Receiving Invitations, Letter Writing, Functions, The Home Wedding, The Church Wedding, Bachelor Hospitality, At Table, Etiquette in Sport, Etiquette at Church, The House of Mourning, Cards and Calls, Mistress and Maid.

HARPER. The Life and Work of Susan B. Anthony.

By Ida Husted Harper. With 48 full-page pictures, and over 100 fac-simile autographs.
Ornamental cloth. 2 vols., 8vo.....Expressage 50c, net, $6.00
Full leather.....Expressage 50c, net, 12.00

This comprehensive life of the greatest of woman-suffragists is also a history of the evolution of the status of woman.

HARRIS. A History of the Trent Affair.

By Thomas L. Harris. Crown 8vo, cloth.....$1.50

The book includes, besides the most complete discussion of the famous incident that forms its main theme, a general review of English and American relations at the beginning of the Civil War. "A remarkable contribution to American history."—New York Sun.

HARRISON. Views of an Ex-President.

By Benjamin Harrison. With portrait. 8vo, cloth.....Expressage 22c, net, $3.00

This interesting volume contains all of Mr. Harrison's addresses and writings on subjects of public interest, from the close of his administration as president of the United States to his death.

HOPKINS. The Torch.

By Herbert M. Hopkins. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

The theme of "The Torch" is whether the higher, finer purposes of education can be obtained by modern business methods in our colleges and universities. It is a novel of the faculty side of college life, with the student body serving only as a background. The scene is a western university under state control. "The Torch" is a vigorous, human story of life and love, and will especially appeal to every man who has been to college, who has a son to send to college, or who in any way is interested in, or related to, college life. "There are scenes in 'The Torch' that will be numbered among the few scenes in American fiction that are really a pleasure to remember."—New York Commercial Advertiser.

HORTON. Like Another Helen.

By George Horton. Illustrated by C. M. Relyea. 12mo, cloth $1.50

Mr. Horton's powerful romance stands in a new field, and brings an almost unknown world in reality before the reader—the world of conflict between Greek and Turk on the the island of Crete. There is a certain new force about the story, a kind of master-craftsmanship and mental dominance, that holds the reader.

The Chicago Record-Herald says: "Here are chapters that are Stephen Crane plus sympathy; chapters of illuminated description, fragrant with the atmosphere of art."

The Long Straight Road.

Illustrated by the Kinneys. 12mo, cloth $1.50

A novel of Chicago life to-day. It is a book full of cleverness and felicity of phrasing, and evinces a minute and convincing observation.

The Los Angeles Express says: "Not a long way after Balzac, with all that Frenchman's capacity for 'catching the manners living as they rise.' Thoroughly American and as thoroughly typical of a certain phase of our life and living as are Balzac's delineations of French life and manners."

The Monks' Treasure.

With a frontispiece by C. M. Relyea. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

A tale of adventure in the Grecian isles, suffused with color, desperately exciting, and exhaling the fine flavor of romantic enterprise. Again in its pages the young American of resource and courage wins through strange perils to love, fame and fortune. There is mystery. There is hidden treasure. There is a duchess in disguise. And there is the American. Look out for the American.

HOUGH. The Mississippi Bubble.

By Emerson Hough. Illustrated by Henry Hutt. 12mo, cloth $1.50

The hero of this great story is John Law of Lauriston. A web of romance full of brilliant color is woven around the known events in the career of this remarkable man. Cool, debonair and audacious, he is an Admirable Crichton in his personality and a Napoleon in his far-reaching wisdom.

Jeannette L. Gilder, reviewing this book in The Critic, says: "Emerson Hough has written one of the best novels that have come out of America in many a day."

The Way to the West.

Illustrated by Frederic Remington. 12mo, cloth.....Postage 12c, net, $1.20

This is a story of the settlement of the West. The book is divided into four parts, describing the progress of civilization across the continent: The way across the Alleghanies, the way to the Rockies, the way to the Pacific and the way across the Pacific. Biographies of Daniel Boone, David Crockett and Kit Carson are included.

The Law of the Land.

Illustrated by Arthur I. Keller. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

A romance of the Mississippi Delta, dealing with the famous Loisson mystery, and involving the most vital expression of the Southerner's view of the race problem that has yet appeared in fiction. The author describes the "black volcano," over which white Southerners live, in an intensely realistic manner. His knowledge of the white man's burden, his keen descriptions of Northern misapprehension, equal his tremendous power as a story-teller and his elemental sense of humor.

HOW. The Penitentes of San Rafael.

By Louis How. 12mo, ornamental cloth.....$1.50

This tale of the San Luis Valley abounds in dramatic situations, marvelously good descriptions, able characterizations. It is full of action, warm color and variety. To delineate the customs of a band of fanatics without laying on the color too thickly and without melodramatic exaggeration, to retain all the picturesqueness of the original scene without excess, was the difficult task which Mr. How had to accomplish, and it is one which he has done well.

HOWE. The Puritan Republic.

By Daniel Wait Howe. Large 8vo, cloth, gilt top.....$3.50

The author has aimed to bring together, in a volume of moderate size, the various features in the history of the government and people of the Massachusetts Puritan commonwealth that are most interesting to the people of to-day and especially to the descendants of the early Puritans.

Civil War Times.

12mo, cloth, gilt top.....Postage 16c, net, $2.00

A volume of personal reminiscences of the Civil War, containing a liberal citation of authorities, together with much first-hand information regarding the opposing forces that has never before been published.

HUGHES. The Praise of Shakespeare.

An English anthology. Compiled by C. E. Hughes. With a preface by Sidney Lee. 8vo, cloth, uniform with the Dowden Shakespeare..... $1.25

ISHAM. The Strollers.

By Frederic S. Isham. Illustrated by Harrison Fisher. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

The scenes are laid in that picturesque and interesting period of American life—the last of the stage coach days—the days of the strolling players. This is the record of a troupe making a circuit in the wilderness from New York to New Orleans, carrying one wagon-load of scenery and playing in town halls, taverns and barns. The characters are gifted, witty, lovable people who at once enlist the sympathy of the reader.

Under the Rose.

With illustrations in six colors by Howard Chandler Christy. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

In giving the quaint title to this book Mr. Isham says to the reader: "Now this is just between you and me. I am going to tell you a secret, and I want you to keep it to yourself." Then he leads you through a delightfully confusing network of paths and passages and introduces you to some very interesting people, while he serves his rare morsel of romance. All these people know that there is a secret, but they do not know that you know it, and so their innocent effort to straighten out the entanglements proves highly diverting. "Delicious fooling, lively wit, fine feeling, perfect taste are the qualities that make the charm of 'Under the Rose.' The atmosphere is so fraught with magic and fantasy that we forget it has no reality, and succumb to the author's spell."—Harper's Weekly.

Black Friday.

Illustrated by Harrison Fisher. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

A dramatic novel of New York in the days of the famous "corner in gold," when Jay Gould, the noted financier and daring speculator, had the market almost in his grasp. The scene shifts at the end to Paris in the exciting time of the Commune. Mr. Isham's work shows a steady advance in power, in imaginative grasp, in the realization of atmosphere and in constructive skill. In every case his latest book is his best.

JEFFERSON. (See Forman.)

JOHNSTON. Studies—Literary and Social. First Series.

By Richard Malcolm Johnston. 12mo, cloth.....$1.25

Includes the following essays: The Schoolmaster; The Legal Profession; Belisarius; George Eliot's Married People; Louise Baronne de Stael-Holstein; Pre-American Philosophy; The Delicacy of Shakespeare; Shakespeare's Tragic Lovers.

"Entertaining, instructive and enjoyable throughout."—Baltimore American.

JOHNSTON—Continued.—Studies—Literary and Social. Second Series.
12mo, cloth.....$1.25

Includes the following essays: Edward Hyde's Daughter; Benjamin D'Israeli, the Jew; A Characteristic of Sir Thomas More; A Martyr to Science; Some Heroes of Charles Dickens; The Extremity of Satire; Irish Lyric Poetry; The Minnesinger and Meistersinger; The Audacity of Goethe; King Henry VIII; Celebrated and Common Friendships.

"Rare wit and kindly satire and just appreciation."—Boston Globe.

The two volumes in a box.....$2.50

JONES. Letters of Labor and Love.
By Samuel M. Jones. With portrait and an introduction by Brand Whitlock. 12mo, cloth.....net, $1.00

The famous "Golden Rule" Mayor of Toledo wrote these letters to the men who worked in his machine shop. They are little masterpieces of helpful comment on the relation between employer and employed,—the words of a great, honest American who was desperately in earnest,—and they have the simplicity and directness which our men of action, when they have done the real heavy labor of the world, always get into their writings. The views of this remarkable man on our civilization are intensely interesting and highly important.

JULIAN. The Life of Joshua R. Giddings.
By George W. Julian. 8vo, cloth, 473 pages, gilt top.....$2.50

The only complete biography of the great Ohio Congressman and orator who rendered the anti-slavery movement effective by making it a political issue. The book is more than a record of the life of one man; it is an important contribution to the history of this country during the thirty years preceding the Civil War, given impartially and discriminatingly by the son-in-law of the man who is its central figure.

KELLY. With Hoops of Steel.
By Florence Finch Kelly. Illustrated in colors by Dan Smith. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

A story which paints faithfully the life of the plains, and, as the San Francisco Chronicle says, "gives us three big, manly fellows, fine types of the cowboy at his best." Says the Denver Times: "It is not alone in the superb local coloring or the vivid character work that 'With Hoops of Steel' is a notable book. The incidents are admirably described and full of interest, and the movement of the story is continuous and vigorous."

KENTON. What Manner of Man.
By Edna Kenton. 12mo, cloth, gilt top.....$1.50

The story of an English artist, who, after a long search for a model for his picture of the death of a Christian martyr in the arena, finds her in Clodah of Rohan, a girl who has lived an unworldly life on a lonely Scottish island. He marries her to make her his model, and the conflict of his passionate devotion to his art with her devoted love for her husband is the great and unusual theme of the story.

"The book is full of dramatic force. The author is an unusual thinker and observer, and has a rare gift for creative literature."—Philadelphia Evening Telegraph.

KNIGHT. A Son of Austerity.
By George Knight. Frontispiece by Harrison Fisher. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

Mr. Knight has created a real atmosphere for his men and women to breathe, and his men and women take deep breaths. They are alive; they are human; they are real. The deftness and charm of the author's literary style, combined with the absorbing interest of the story, can not but prove a delight to every reader.

LAUGHLIN. Johnnie—A Memory of Boyhood.
By E. O. Laughlin. A new edition, profusely illustrated by Will Vawter. 12mo, cloth.....$1.25

Dr. Laughlin has told for us the story of a country boy from his earliest school days until he has grown to manhood and leaves the farm for the great city beyond. The book brings back to every boy of middle age the sweet delight of shady trees and laughing brooks.

"If you are a boy, or if you are grown up and would like to be a boy again, it will do you good to read 'Johnnie.'"—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

LODGE. A Bit of Finesse.

By Harriet Newell Lodge. 12mo, cloth, gilt top.....$1.25

A story of life fifty years ago, with a pretty love motive, and an exciting social battle, in which the simple sweetness of a charming girl gets the better of the cunning devices of a married woman.

LONG. Seffy.

By John Luther Long, author of "Madame Butterfly," etc. Illustrated by C. D. Williams, and decorated by Earl Stetson Crawford. Ornamental cover, 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

A draught of pure delight is this little comedy of country manners. It is like a summer day,—all sunshine and showers and rainbows,—smiles and tears and smiles again breaking through the tears. It is an idyl of the Pennsylvania Dutch, with two love motives, the love of a man for a maid and the love between father and son. Both are prettily managed, in the first half of the book, with charming humor,—in the second part, with seriousness, tenderness, dignity. At once a work of literature and a picture of life, it excites the admiration and touches the heart.

LONGFELLOW. The Courtship of Miles Standish.

By Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. With forty-two full page illustrations, many of them in color, by Howard Chandler Christy. Decorations by Ralph Fletcher Seymour and Earl Stetson Crawford. Large octavo, cloth, in a box.....$3.00

A thoroughly artistic setting for this fine romantic poem. The New York Mail and Express calls Mr. Christy's Priscilla "the dearest, archest, quaintest little Puritan maid that man ever fell in love with," and John Alden "an ideal lover."

"The book is an ideal Christmas gift to present to either young man or maiden who appreciates a beautiful work in every detail of book-making."—New Haven Leader.

Evangeline.

With forty-nine illustrations, many of them in color, by Howard Chandler Christy. Decorations by Earl Stetson Crawford. Uniform with The Courtship of Miles Standish. Large octavo, red cloth, in a box.....$3.00

The new Christy-Longfellow book is a surpassing achievement in beauty. Mr. Christy has more than risen to the occasion and given to Longfellow's masterpiece—the most familiar and the best beloved of all American love poems—a new richness and a new loveliness. It is the ideal gift-book, and this is shown by the fact that whoever buys it, selfishly hates to give it away.

LYNDE. The Master of Appleby.

By Francis Lynde. Fully illustrated by T. de Thulstrup. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

"A novel tale concerning itself in part with the great struggle in the two Carolinas, but chiefly with the adventures therein of two gentlemen who loved one and the same lady," is the description of the sub-title. The story deals with that part of the Revolutionary struggle in which the Catawba and Cherokee Indians were involved.

"There is a continuous succession of thrilling situations," says the New York Sun. "A strong, masculine and persuasive story," is the comment of the Boston Transcript.

The Grafters.

Illustrated by Arthur I. Keller, 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

A virile and vigorous novel of the West. Whatever your mood, "The Grafters" will chime in with it. If pessimistic you will swear that the brutal ugliness of official corruption here pictured has its undoubted counterpart in some of our states. If optimistic you will be pleased by the ultimate triumph of justice. If bored by the politics, and insensible to the winning charm of the love-story, you will feel the wind in your hair when you find yourself in the cab of a flying locomotive, dashing past danger signals with the sound of bullets in ears that are intensely expectant of an exploding boiler. "One of the best examples of a new and distinctly American class of fiction—the kind which finds romance and even sensational excitement in business, politics, finance and law."—The Outlook.

A Fool for Love.

One of The Pocket Books. Frontispiece by George Brehm. Narrow 12mo, cloth..$0.75

Everybody who reads fiction read "The Grafters," and knows that nobody can tell a tale of railroad life like Francis Lynde. In his new novelette he has combined a thrilling right-of-way war between two Colorado railroads and a love story of peculiar charm and power. The plot moves with the rapidity of those drumming wheels that resound through the pages.

MACAULEY. Fantasma Land.

By Charles Raymond Macauley. With fifty-one illustrations by the author. 12mo, cloth $1.25

A juvenile for children of all ages, in which a small boy finds himself in the land of Upside-down where the branches of the trees lie on the ground and their roots rise high in the air, where the heads of the people move about independently of their bodies—a land where contradictions abound and nothing common happens. Dickey, the small boy, has many adventures in meeting the Fantasms, among whom are Little Nell and her grandfather, Don Quixote, the Jester, "who was once kidnapped from Fantasma Land and made to work for Sir Walter Scott," and many others.

MACGOWAN. Huldah.

By Alice MacGowan and Grace MacGowan Cooke. Illustrated by Fanny Y. Cory. 12mo, cloth $1.50

Here for the first time we have the great-hearted, capable woman of the Texas plains. She is a homely old boarding-house keeper, is Huldah Sarvice, but she is a real person beside the milk-and-water heroine of society. At her "Wagon-Tire-House" she dispenses biscuits and genial philosophy to outcast cowboys and deserted children. Her sympathy always takes the form of happy laughter, while her outlandishly delightful phrases tickle the fancy and stick in the memory.

"Huldah is the kind of a woman loved by the whole world," says the Indianapolis Star. "The novel is the most attractive since the days of 'David Harum.'"

MACGRATH. The Puppet Crown.

By Harold MacGrath. Illustrated by R. Martine Reay. 12mo, cloth $1.50

The rose light of romance is here thrown over nineteenth century happenings. The scene is laid among the picturesque unrealities of a little Austrian border kingdom. The conversations are witty and charming, and the movement is brisk and crisp. "Harold MacGrath has attained the highest point achievable in recent fiction," says the Philadelphia North American; "We have the climax of romance and adventure in 'The Puppet Crown.'"

The Grey Cloak.

Illustrated by Thomas Mitchell Peirce. 12mo, cloth $1.50

There is something refreshingly Dumasesque in the opening chapter, where an aged nobleman is run through in his own house by the sword of a masked stranger who leaves behind him no clew but a torn grey cloak; and from there on the interest never flags.

"There have been many excellent stories of love and intrigue, but no one of them all equals this in depth of fascination and subtile plot and counterplot."—New York American.

The Man on the Box.

Illustrated by Harrison Fisher. 12mo, cloth $1.50

A gay romance of Washington to-day, carried off with admirable dash and spirit, and with just enough tragedy to give point to the comic touch. The hero masquerades as a coachman, takes service in his lady's livery, becomes involved in a diplomatic intrigue, and altogether has the liveliest kind of a time. The Albany Times-Union calls it "the most sparkling book of the season" and says that it "tells a most absorbing story in the wittiest, most delightful way."

Enchantment.

One of The Pocket Books. Narrow 12mo, cloth $0.75

Included in this volume are: "A Night's Enchantment," "The Blind Madonna," "No Cinderella," "The Enchanted Hat," and "Two Candidates." They are all masterpieces in miniature by a born story-teller. Piquant, original, quaint in relation, fantastic in conception, unexpected in outcome, they make a book of famous relish, the American Nights' Entertainment.

The Princess Elopes.

One of The Pocket Books. Narrow 12mo, cloth $0.75

Indescribably full of youth and high spirits is this royal extravaganza, this glad dance of merriment, love, wit and adventure. The author is at his best in following the caprices of the madcap Princess, which culminate in an elopement of unique design. He has a mighty good time winking at us from behind the curtain, and we have a mighty good time watching the comedy and winking back.

MACGRATH—Continued.—Hearts and Masks.

With twelve full page illustrations in photogravure by Harrison Fisher. Decorated by Ralph Fletcher Seymour. Ornamental cover, 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

Mr. MacGrath was in his gayest mood when he wrote this most exhilarating story, full of the zest of life. At every page the adventure turns an unexpected corner. The elements are fascinating: a hunt-club masquerade, three mysterious dominoes, each holding as a card of invitation the ten of hearts; the theft of a gorgeous necklace; a love affair begun and consummated within eight hours. Mr. Fisher's pretty girls and manly men make a fitting accompaniment to the merry tale of carnival entanglements.

McILVAINE. One Thousand American Fungi.

By Charles McIlvaine and R. K. Macadam.

Revised edition, containing 29 full-page plates in colors illustrating 114 species ; 23 full-page plates in black and white showing egneric forms, and over 300 etchings. Quarto, cloth.....Expressage 40c, net, $5.00

This, by far the most complete book of edible American Fungi, contains descriptions of, and notes on, all known edible and poisonous species, many of which, as the result of original investigation, thorough research and experiment, are here for the first time set down as edible. The very fullest instructions are given for the guidance of the novice, and the volume includes an extensive glossary and many cooking receipts, together with instructions for growing mushrooms.

MACKIE. The Girl and the Kaiser.

By Pauline Bradford Mackie (Mrs. Herbert M. Hopkins). Illustrated and decorated by John Cecil Clay. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

A delicious story of an American girl at the court of the strenuous Kaiser. She is loved by two German officers, one rich and one poor, and does not know which to choose. The Kaiser attempts to straighten out the complication for her, with unexpected results. An impression of unique charm is uppermost in the reader's mind as he reluctantly closes the beautiful little book.

MAJOR. When Knighthood Was in Flower.

By Charles Major. 12mo, cloth, illustrated.....$1.50

Julia Marlowe edition. Profusely illustrated with pictures from the play. 8vo, cloth, gilt top, in box.....$2.50

This love story of Charles Brandon and Mary Tudor, sister of King Henry VIII, is one of the most popular novels ever published. "Never was there written a prettier story of the Middle Ages," says the San Francisco Call, and hundreds of thousands of readers have echoed the opinion.

MARDEN. Choosing a Career.

By Orison Swett Marden, author of "Rising in the World," etc. 12mo, cloth, net $1.00

A comprehensive scope, a logical arrangement, a wealth of illustrations, trenchant sayings, admirable comment and a taking manner, are virtues of this book by the founder and editor of "Success." Part First deals with the theoretical aspects of the topic,—the duty of parents; the effect of surroundings, habit, physical fitness, nervous temperament, disposition, manner; the necessity of health, of definite purpose, of courage, energy and enthusiasm. Part Second contains a mass of valuable facts and opinions. The chief occupations are treated separately, and everywhere the author has called upon expert opinion to reinforce his own. Bankers, lawyers, railroad presidents, manufacturers, editors, printers, stenographers, artists, nurses, physicians—each a person of distinction in his own line —give the results of their experience. An invaluable guide to the boy or man, girl or woman, seeking direction on an all-important question.

MATHEWS. My Lady Peggy Goes to Town.

By Frances Aymar Mathews. Illustrated by Harrison Fisher. With decorations by Virginia Keep. 12mo, cloth.....$1.25

A sparkling comedy of the days of George III. A heroine almost too charming to be true is Peggy, and it is a churlish reader who is not, at the end of the first chapter, prostrate before her red slippers. "To make a comparison would be to rank 'My Lady Peggy' with 'Monsieur Beaucaire' in points of attraction, and to applaud as heartily as that delicate romance, this picture of the days 'when patches nestled o'er sweet lips at chocolate times.' "—New York Mail and Express.

MERRILL. The Man Shakespeare, and Other Essays.

By Catharine Merrill. With impressions and reminiscences of the author by Melville B. Anderson, and some words of appreciation from John Muir. With portraits, 12mo, cloth.....$1.25

Literary and social essays by a distinguished woman, who personally was no less charming than her written word. The following subjects are treated: The Man Shakespeare, Indianapolis in War Times, The Rainbow, Literary Criticism, Personal Literature of the Victorian Age, John Foster, The Child in English Literature, The General, Martyrs to Faith, Some Thoughts About Society.

MERRILL. The Seventieth Indiana Volunteer Infantry in the War of the Rebellion.

By Samuel Merrill. With a portrait of Benjamin Harrison. 8vo, cloth.....$2.50

A stirring record of the services of this gallant regiment during the Civil War, with reminiscences by many officers and men and a regimental roster.

MERTINS. The Storm Signal.

By Gustave Frederick Mertins. Illustrated by Arthur I. Keller. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

This exciting novel deals boldly, bravely, frankly with the negro problem. The author has his solution of the question—a novel solution which he presents concretely in a plot crowded with thrilling action and uncompromising realism. There is great strength in the story, great reserve, great range, and the force that comes from a straight hit from the shoulder. There is nothing to compare with it in literature for its comprehension and exhibition of the negro character, or for its sympathetic revelation of the Southerner at his best. The romance stands out with dramatic vividness like a tree against a flaming sunset. It is a moving tale, one to read with drawn breath and quickening pulses and a swelling heart.

MICHELSON. In the Bishop's Carriage.

By Miriam Michelson. Illustrated by Harrison Fisher. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

From the moment when, in another girl's chinchilla coat, she jumps into the unknown carriage, and, snuggling up to the solemn owner, calls him "Daddy"—from that moment until she makes her final bow, a happy wife and a triumphant actress, Nance Olden, the heroine of "In the Bishop's Carriage," holds your fancy captive and your heart in thrall. "The very best work of fiction that has come to us this season," says Professor Harry Thurston Peck, in the New York American.

MILLER. The Yoke.

By Elizabeth Miller. Ornamental cloth, 12mo.....$1.50

This great biblical novel is described by its sub-title as "A romance of the days when the Lord redeemed the children of Israel from the bondage of Egypt." Six hundred of the leading clergymen of the country have praised it as the finest achievement in religious fiction since "Ben-Hur." In the opinion of Rev. F. W. Gunsaulus, President of the Armour Institute of Technology, it "will take its place among our most important historical novels." Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman says: "I really have never read a greater novel; it is superb."

MORTON. The Southern Empire, with Other Papers.

By Oliver T. Morton. Small 12mo, cloth.....$1.25

The title essay discusses economic, social and political conditions in the old South, and forecasts what the future would have been if the Confederacy had been successful. The other papers treat of "Oxford" and "Some Popular Objections to Civil Service Reform."

NESBIT. The Trail to Boyland, and Other Poems.

By Wilbur D. Nesbit. With five full-page illustrations by Will Vawter. 12mo, cloth, ...Postage 10c, net, $1.00

Mr. Nesbit's verse is typical of the American poetic tradition: it deals with love of country, love of nature, love of home, and, by its humor, its pathos, and its noble ideal of conduct, makes always a genuine appeal to the heart.

NEW. A Woman Reigns.

By Catherine McLaen (Mrs. Harry S. New). 16mo, Buckram, uncut, gilt top, deckle-edge paper.....$1.25

This volume contains two stories, "A Woman Reigns" and "The Fate of a Fatalist," the former a strikingly unique story of a platonic love that wasn't; the latter an interesting story in fatalism, with an unexpected turn at the end.

NICHOLAS. An Idyl of the Wabash.

By Anna Nicholas. 12mo, cloth, gilt top.....$1.25

A volume of Indiana stories filled with simple peace and leisured calm, and rendered with a deftness of touch that tells a volume in a sentence. The work is lighted up by a quick appreciation of whimsicalities and a humorous sensing of serious moments.

NICHOLSON. The Main Chance.

By Meredith Nicholson. Illustrated by Harrison Fisher. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

A vigorous, buoyant, cheering story, delightfully written, with straightforward, honest pictures of the life of to-day in a wide-awake city of the Middle West. The interest centers in the fight to secure control of a traction company.

"We commend it for its workmanship—for its smoothness and its sensible and pleasant fancies, and for its general charm."—N. Y. Sun.

Zelda Dameron.

With portraits of the characters by John Cecil Clay. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

In his new story Mr. Nicholson again holds the mirror up to human nature as found in the Middle West, and the reflection flashed back upon the reader is startlingly and attractively true. His heroine is a young girl full of life to her finger-tips,—a mixture of pride, wilfulness, courage and sweetness. She discovers that her father is a rascal,—and there is the point of departure of the book.

The House of a Thousand Candles.

Illustrated by Howard Chandler Christy. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

A novel of romance and adventure flavored with mystery and alive with delightful surprises. Every reader with red blood in his veins forgets all the cares and demands of life in his overpowering eagerness to learn the solution, and when he learns it, the shock is so great that it takes him some time to recover his breath. The scene is laid by an Indiana lake, but the atmosphere is strangely of the Old World. The plot (which gallops all the way) involves astonishing wills, buried treasure, underground passage-ways, much fighting, much love-making, and the unexpected denouement already alluded to. Virile, direct, clear, rapid, fresh are the right adjectives for the book.

NUMBER 1500. Life in Sing Sing.

By "Number 1500," founder and first editor of The Star of Hope, the periodical published by the prisoners confined in Sing Sing. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

This is a remarkable book. It is a graphic, personal narrative of the experiences of a keen observer during his term of imprisonment. It tells how the prisoners live, what they do, what they think, how they talk—and they have a curious language of their own, of which the author gives a complete dictionary,—in short just what it means to a man to spend part of his life in the most famous prison in the world.

NYE, BILL. A Guest at the Ludlow, and Other Stories.

By Edgar Wilson Nye (Bill Nye), with twenty-one full-page pictures by Morris Braunhold, and twelve designs by the author. 12mo, cloth.....$1.25

This, Bill Nye's funniest book, contains the last of his productions, including "How to Pick Out a Birthplace," "A Rubber Esophagus," and other most laughable examples of his characteristic humor.

OSBOURNE. The Motormaniacs.

By Lloyd Osbourne. One of The Pocket Books. Narrow 12mo, cloth.....$0.75

Besides the title story this volume contains "The Great Bubble Syndicate," "Coal-Oil Johnny," and "Jones." One great historic character, by whisking through the pages, lends them unity—the Automobile! What with motor-car interest, love interest, and the perennial interest of humor, they bind the reader with a three-fold chain.

PHILLIPS. The Cost.

By David Graham Phillips. With sixteen illustrations by Harrison Fisher. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

John Dumont, sick and almost ruined, plots revenge, and, with the remnant of his fortune and his great financial skill, turns like a wolf on his foes. Sitting in his room alone with a telephone and ticker at his elbow, he literally wipes them off the face of the earth, only to be found by his doctor at the end of the day on the floor entangled in the tape of the ticker. For him the cost was death, but for Pauline Gardiner and Hampden Scarborough the cost was happiness doubly deepened and love trebly enriched. How? Well, that's the story.

"A masterly book, interesting to the point of fascination, analytic to the point of keenness, thoroughly well written with complete understanding, and entirely committed to advocacy of the best things in life."—Chicago Examiner.

The Plum Tree.

Illustrated by E. M. Ashe. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

Here is a novel that centers in itself the whole movement of the day and age, a movement that must inevitably sweep the nation with the mightiness of its growing strength. Day by day the common people are becoming more and more aware of the corruption in the great game of politics. The Plum Tree will do more than anything else to hasten the realization. It is immeasurably better than any other novel ever written on national politics.

The Social Secretary.

With twelve full-page illustrations in photogravure by Clarence F. Underwood. Decorations by Ralph Fletcher Seymour. 12mo, cloth, in a box.....$1.50

An absorbing novel of Washington society and how a clever girl "made" the social success of a new Senator's wife. There is a tempestuous love story, and character work of great and delightful excellence. Mrs. Burke, with her naïve speeches, shrewd sense, downright sincerity and unvarnished comments on Washington society, wins affection and provides amusement. Grace and passion and satire flow from the facile pen of Mr. Phillips.

The Deluge.

Illustrated by George Gibbs. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

A story of high and frenzied finance,—the fictional autobiography of a man whose career is evidently patterned upon the famous Mr. Lawson of Boston. Enormous interests are at stake in the plot. Millions are involved. The onslaught of the great Blacklock upon the kings of commerce leads to "Wild Week" on Wall Street,—one of the most thrilling incidents in modern romance. The story takes on a gigantic, a monumental interest and impressiveness. But in the clash of the great business conflict, the love element is not for a moment forgotten. It is the refreshing and glorifying touch in a novel of magnificent proportions and persistent absorption.

POCKET BOOKS, THE.

The House in the Mist. By Anna Katharine Green.

The Motormaniacs. By Lloyd Osbourne.

The Princess Elopes. By Harold MacGrath.

POWERS. My Own Story.

By Caleb Powers. With many illustrations from photographs. 12mo, cloth..... $1.50

The author of this remarkable book is the most pathetic figure in the political and criminal history of our times. Arrested in 1900 charged with the murder of Governor Goebel, of Kentucky, tried, retried, and tried again, convicted, sentenced to be hanged, and now in the Louisville jail awaiting his fourth trial, he here for the first time tells the story of his career. He tells it, too, with absolute candor and graphic detail. Outraged justice finds voice in these pages of personal vindication.

REED. Temple Talks.

By Myron W. Reed. 12mo, cloth, gilt top, with portrait $1.25

A collection of popular discourses on a variety of subjects, delivered at the Broadway Temple (non-sectarian), Denver.

RIVES. A Furnace of Earth.

By Hallie Erminie Rives. 12mo, cloth..... $1.25

An epigrammatic story of present-day life, abounding in crisp, bright humor and descriptions.

Hearts Courageous.

Illustrated by A. B. Wenzell. 12mo, cloth..... $1.50

The scene of Miss Rives' glowing romance is laid in the colony of Virginia during those momentous days of determination for independence and the formation of the new republic. No more attractive period can be chosen for the setting of a story; for to every American the names of Westover, Berkeley and Gunston Hall are bathed in perpetual romance. The heroine is a young American girl; the hero is a French marquis; and among the chief characters is Patrick Henry.

The Castaway.

Illustrated in color by Howard Chandler Christy. 12mo, cloth.... Postage 12c, net $1.00

The Castaway takes its title from a saying of Lord Byron's: "Three great men ruined in one year—a king, a cad, and a castaway." The king was Napoleon; the cad was Beau Brummell; and the castaway—crowned with genius, illumined with fame, and shadowed in infamy—Lord Byron himself. "My life," said Byron in another place, "will furnish material for a pretty little romance, which shall be denominated the loves of Lord B." His jesting prophecy has been more than fulfilled by Miss Rives. Poet, lover, fighter, what a figure of a man, and what a hero of romance!

"Dramatic scenes, thrilling incidents, strenuous events follow one another; pathos, revenge and passion; happy scenes; moments of peace and pure happiness; a strong love; and through all these, under all these, is the poet, the man, George Gordon."—Grand Rapids Herald.

Tales From Dickens.

With many pictures by Reginald B. Birch. Large 12mo, cloth $1.25

Miss Rives has done for Dickens what Lamb did for Shakespeare—she has made him readable for children. Using all her wonderful skill as a story-teller, she has simplified his bulky novels, putting the plots in a clear, connected and definite form, and retaining the full measure of humor and pathos. The following tales are included: The Old Curiosity Shop, Oliver Twist, Barnaby Rudge, David Copperfield, Great Expectations, Nicholas Nickleby, Dombey and Son, Pickwick Papers, Little Dorrit, Martin Chuzzlewit, Our Mutual Friend, A Tale of Two Cities, Bleak House, Hard Times, The Mystery of Edwin Drood.

ROBINSON. Songs of the Trees.

By Mary Y. Robinson. Music by Josephine Robinson. Large quarto, illustrated in color.....$1.25

Each month in the year has a separate chapter and each is devoted to a separate tree. For example, January has the holly tree. The first full-page color picture is a silhouette of a little child, around which is a border of holly. The next page contains a descriptive verse. Then follows a page of music about the tree, and then the tree's biography, in which is told in very simple language something of its growth. There are three full-page pictures in color for each month, one of which shows in detail the blossom or fruit of the tree for the month.

RUDDY. Booklovers' Verse.

Being songs of books and bookmen compiled from English and American authors by Howard S. Ruddy. 12mo, cloth, gilt top $1.25

The volume includes a poem written by Alcuin eleven hundred years ago about the library of York Cathedral, and from that verse of ancient days on down to the ballads of Dobson, Riley and Field, Mr. Ruddy's volume is a complete anthology of worthy book-song. The effort made by the publishers to produce a volume of artistic bookmaking in keeping with the subject has been attended with much success.

RUSSELL. Such Stuff as Dreams.

By Charles E. Russell. Decorations by Virginia Keep. Quarto, cloth..Postage 14c, net, $2.00

A volume of poems of which Richard Le Gallienne says: "Mr. Russell is a poet very much worth while; and this book of preludes is so strongly individual that his future utterances must be looked out for with unusual expectancy."

SANGSTER. Radiant Motherhood.

By Margaret E. Sangster, author of "Winsome Womanhood," etc. 12mo, cloth, ornamental cover .....net, $1.00

A book for the American mother of to-day, by one who has given her whole life to loving service. It contains the best and fullest expression of all she has acquired through years devoted to the study of the problems of motherhood and the care of children. A beautiful book, wholesome, hopeful, helpful.

SEAWELL. Francezka.

By Molly Elliot Seawell. Illustrated by Harrison Fisher. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

There is no character in fiction more lovable and appealing than is Francezka. Miss Seawell has told a story of youth, splendor and tragedy with an art which links it with summer dreams, which drowns the somber in the picturesque, which makes pain and vice a stage wonder. "The period is the first half of that most fascinating, picturesque and epoch-making century, the eighteenth. The story has light and shadow and high spirits, tempered with the gay, mocking, debonair philosophy of the time."—Brooklyn Times.

Children of Destiny.

Illustrated by A. B. Wenzell. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

A novel of old Virginia. In reading it one lives again in the patrician elegance of those mannerly times with all their freedom and all their limitations. In the midst of those quiet people—some rich in worldly goods, all rich in birth and station—is born a man with the unrest of genius. Miss Seawell's delineation of this man's character and her sprightly humor, playing on the foibles of the early nineteenth century aristocrats, show her as a brilliant writer and a deep thinker.

SEAWELL.—Continued.—The Fortunes of Fifi.

Illustrated in color by T. de Thulstrup. 12mo, ornamental cloth.....$1.50

A delicious comedy of youth, high spirits, captivating people and charming sentiment. It is a story of life in France at the time of the first Napoleon. Fifi, a glad, mad little actress of eighteen, is the star performer in a third-rate Parisian theater. Beautiful and ambitious, talented and mischievous, she ventures on some remarkable performances, in which the Emperor, the Pope, a lottery ticket, a monkey and a blue satin bed are all somehow involved.

"It is a porcelain jar filled with rose leaves; a gem polished and engraved with deep-skilled art; a bit of writing for which the world is not only richer but happier."—Chicago Evening Post.

SEYMOUR.

By special arrangement with Mr. Ralph Fletcher Seymour, the distinguished art-printer and designer of types, all the beautiful books of his workmanship will henceforth be issued under the imprint of The Bobbs-Merrill Company. The following volumes have been prepared by Mr. Seymour:

"Sound and scholarly pieces of work, thoroughly compact of invaluable historical and etymological facts and suggestive stage directions—as certain guides to Shakespeare as can be found."—New York Tribune.

SOUSA. The Fifth String.

By John Philip Sousa. Illustrated by Howard Chandler Christy. 12mo, cloth, gilt top.....$1.25

This story of a marvelous violin, of a wonderful love, and of a strange temptation, shows the author's artistically sensitive temperament and his great dramatic power. Mr. Sousa has remained faithful to his art; and the great public that has learned to love him for the marches he has made seems as delighted with his pen as with his baton.

Pipetown Sandy.

With many illustrations by C. L. Hinton. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

The march king who marched his way into popular fiction with his delightful romance, "The Fifth String," again shows that his skill with the pen is equal to his skill with the baton. "Pipetown Sandy" is a tale of Mr. Sousa's own city of Washington in the sixties,—a tale combining adventure, humor, the tenderness of boyhood and the interest of a novel plot. Sandy himself is unlike anybody you have ever met before, but for all that he is the realest of the real.

SPENCER. A Manual of Commercial Law.

STANTON. Comes One With a Song.

By Frank L. Stanton. With a portrait of the author. 12mo, cloth, gilt top.....$1.25

Lyrics full of music and possessing a familiar and intimate charm.

Songs From Dixie Land.

Illustrated by W. H. Gallaway. 12mo, cloth, gilt top.....$1.25

Plantation songs, verse in the dialect of the Georgia cracker, rhymes of good cheer, poems of genial philosophy, of love and the consolations of age, make up this pleasant and attractive book.

STEEVENS. Things Seen.

Impressions of Men, Cities and Books, by G. W. Steevens, author of "With Kitchener to Khartum." Selected and edited by G. S. Street. With portrait and a memoir by W. E. Henley. 12mo, cloth $1.50

A great newspaper correspondent, one of the greatest of our time, a man of "an admirable brain, a brain of the first magnitude," has here recorded a wide range of observations and comments. He followed wars in many lands, read many books with fresh vision, saw and saw through many men. "What Happened in Thessaly," "The Dreyfus Case," "The Jubilee," "Zola," "The Derby," "The New Tennyson" are among the diverse themes here treated with great vigor and vividness.

STEIN. Among the Trees Again.

By Evaleen Stein. Daintily bound in green, white and gold. 16mo, cloth.....
.....Postage 8c, net, $1.00

Miss Stein's verses echo the love of nature that is in her heart. Out of doors, east and west, is her theme; and the reader is borne with her into the land of sunset and away from the cares of earth.

STEIN.—Continued.—Troubadour Tales.

Illustrated in colors by Virginia Keep, Maxfield Parrish, B. Rosenmeyer and Edward Edwards. 12mo, cloth.....$1.25

These stories, three of mediæval France and one of Finland, are all about brave and loyal children and appeal to every brave and loyal child. They are romantic; they are brightly told; and they are full of out-of-the-way information. The illustrations are of exceptional merit.

STEPHENSON. Patroon Van Volkenberg.

By Henry Thew Stephenson. Illustrated in color by C. M. Relyea. 12mo, cloth...$1.50

The action of the story begins when New York was a little city of less than five thousand inhabitants. The conflict between the law-abiding citizens, led by the Governor, Earl Bellamont, and the merchants, headed by Patroon Van Volkenberg, is at its height. The atmosphere of the tale is fresh in fiction, the plot is stirring and well knit, and the author is possessed of the ability to write forceful, fragrant English.

The Fickle Wheel.

Illustrated by C. M. Relyea. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

In this tale of merry England in the time when Shakespeare jested and Ben Jonson blustered, Mr. Stephenson has painted for us a picture informing and above all entertaining. We go to Paul's Walk, we see Shakespeare play at the Globe theater, and other such glimpses of old-time London are deftly added to our experiences. Throughout the book is an evanescent charm, a spirit of wholesome gaiety. It is well worth while.

STRATTON-PORTER. The Song of the Cardinal.

By Gene Stratton-Porter. Illustrated by the author with camera studies from life. Large 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

An exquisite romance in prose of the cardinal's wooing and honeymoon, by one who knows and loves birds and can picture most winningly the throb and sparkle of their blithe, free life. Mechanically the volume is a notably fine specimen of the bookmaker's art; the printing is very clear on rich, heavy paper, and the illustrations are a delightful series of remarkable photographs, showing the heart of the woods and the wood life to perfection.

"It is an exquisite prose poem. The joy of out-doors permeates the story."—Boston Herald.

SWEETSER. One Way Round the World.

By Delight Sweetser. Fourth edition. With sixty-two half-tone illustrations. 12mo, cloth.....$1.25

A personal narrative of a girl's tour of the world. The author describes our western states with keen wit, tells how her party reveled in the beautiful land of cherry-blossoms and helped celebrate the Mikado's birthday, how they saw old Shanghai and Canton and Hong-Kong; how they rambled through India, rested for a space in the shadow of the pyramids, "did" London and Paris, and finally sailed due west once more to end their pilgrimage at their own fireside.

TARBELL. Teachers' Guide to the International Sunday School Lessons for 1906.

By Martha Tarbell. Illustrated from photographs and drawings. Large 12mo, cloth.$1.25

This is the most complete, suggestive and useful volume of commentaries on the International Sunday School Lessons ever written. It is designed for use by teachers and pupils and its six hundred pages contain a treatment of the vital questions of each week's lesson with scholarly comments on word and phrase, suggestive quotations from innumerable masters of Bible criticism and writers on Bible lands and people; a sane and sound method of teaching the points of the lesson; a valuable summary of the meaning and contents of each lesson; illuminative discussions of the geographical setting; stimulating questions,—in short, all that the Bible student and teacher want to know. The purpose of these lessons is to deal with the essentials and to discard the superfluous.

TAYLOR. The Well in the Wood.

By Bert Leston Taylor. Illustrated in two colors by Fanny Y. Cory. 12mo, cloth.$1.25.

A children's book which tells a real story—the adventures of Buddie in the woodland. Buddie is a little girl who fastens a spray of Enchanter's Nightshade in her hair and thus learns to know the birds and beasts of field and forest in a most surprising manner. Under the guidance of her good dog Colonel, she meets the Laziest Beaver, Bunny Cotton-Tayle, the Guinea-Pig whose eyes fall out, the Singing Donkey, the Half-Sleepy Bear, the Golf Lynx, and many others. At the Well where Truth lies at the bottom, all meet to find out why a rabbit wabbles his nose. The book contains clever verses and pretty songs of the kind children love.

TERHUNE. (See Marion Harland.)

THANET. The Man of the Hour.

By Octave Thanet (Alice French). Illustrated by Lucius W. Hitchcock.
12mo, cloth $1.50

This, the first long novel by a famous writer of short stories, combines more American qualities than any book of many years. It is saturated with Americanism. It has American humor, American optimism, American vigor, and above all the American ideal of love and labor. It is a concentration of American problems, especially as they are found in the Middle West. But it is no "problem novel". It is story, first, last, and all the time—a tale that's worth the telling for its own sake and that tells itself straight through.

THOMPSON. Alice of Old Vincennes.

By Maurice Thompson. With illustrations by F. C. Yohn and Howard Chandler Christy. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

A dramatic romance of Revolutionary days and ways in the Wabash Valley, full of the spirit of joyous bravery which made the settlers of the Old Northwest fight and love with equal zest and enjoyment. The book is compact of stirring incidents, fine characters that are real men and women, vivid scenes, all given to the reader through the medium of a sensitive literary style.

"There are three great chapters of fiction: Scott's tournament on Ashby Field, General Wallace's chariot race, and Maurice Thompson's duel scene and the raising of Alice's flag over old Fort Vincennes."—Denver Daily News.

Rosalynde's Lovers.

Illustrated and decorated by G. Alden Pierson. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

An idyllic Indiana love story in which is reflected throughout Mr. Thompson's exquisite sympathy with nature. The thunderstorm and following gleam of sunshine, the country garden and the southern lake, are each invested with personality. Rosalynde Banderet is winsome and artless, her lovers are human and manly, and her final happiness is delicious.

THOMPSON. Personal Recollections of Sixteen Presidents.

By Colonel Richard W. Thompson. With eighteen full-page portraits. Two volumes, cloth.....net, $6.00

For sixty years Colonel Thompson held a high position in the councils of the nation. While a member of the thirtieth congress he saw John Quincy Adams fall dead at his feet. He knew hundreds of the leaders of the American Revolution, among them being Lafayette. He attended the inauguration of Andrew Jackson. He was president of the famous Panama commission, and during the administration of Hayes he entered the cabinet as secretary of the navy. At the close of his long and brilliant career Colonel Thompson gives to the world a book that is notable both for its historical interest and for its literary style

TURPIE. Sketches of My Own Times.

By David Turpie. 12mo, cloth, gilt top ..... Postage 16c, net, $2.00

The recollections of an acute observer and distinguished statesman, covering the last fifty years of American politics. Ex-Senator Turpie of Indiana has here given us a personal narrative, remarkable because of its range, from the early thirties to the end of the century.

"Mr. Turpie has at his control a marvelous storehouse of historic and literary knowledge."—Senator Hoar.

ULLMAN. Edges.

By Alice Woods Ullman. With illustrations by the author. New edition. 12mo, cloth, uniform with "A Gingham Rose" $1.50

A clever and unusually striking story of artists and artist life, with a delicate romance. The hero, a painter-hermit, discovers the heroine asleep by the sea. She awakens, and in this delightfully unconventional way their acquaintance begins. The heroine goes to Paris and writes breezy letters to the hermit; he follows her and—there you are.

"An unconventional story of an unconventional heroine; a bright, sparkling romance."—Chicago Journal.

A Gingham Rose.

With frontispiece by the author. 12mo, cloth $1.50

A story of artist life in New York, with a vivid shifting of the scene to the Arizona desert. The principal characters are three young art students—two men and one girl—with the usual complication and an unusual solution. Anne, the "gingham rose," is a philosopher and a humorist, as well as a brave, devoted young woman, who, as some one assured her, "could go through hell and come back clean-hearted."

"A remarkable book, sustained in power and interest, strong in its characterization and picturesque in its treatment of life."—Harper's Weekly.

VALENTINE. The Ship of Silence, and Other Poems.

By Edward Uffington Valentine. 12mo, cloth ..... Postage 14c, net, $1.20

"This is Mr. Valentine's first book. It makes its appearance with the distinction of unobtrusiveness. There is a certain triumph for literature in the fact that a man should find, as the chief concern of his art, the beauty of the world in which we must all live, and the beauty of the human spirit which we should all share. To succeed on these heights is success indeed."—James Lane Allen, in The Outlook.

Hecla Sandwith.

12mo, cloth $1.50

An old-fashioned love story of the kind we all love, and something more than a love story, an excellent study of character and a thoroughly charming and faithful picture of life in the fifties in a Pennsylvania town. It was to be expected that Mr. Valentine's novel should prove a work of art, finished in detail and beautiful in color; but "Hecla Sandwith" adds to the graceful touch of the poet the strength of the realist and the imagination of the romancer.

VAWTER. The Rabbit's Ransom, and Other Stories.

By Clara Vawter. Illustrated and decorated by Will Vawter. 12mo, cloth $1.25

This is a book of fascinating stories and verses, not only of children, but for children—a rare achievement. The stories are characterized by just the fanciful qualities which make children come back to them again and again, and the verses are jolly bits of humor. Miss Vawter's brother, the artist, who shares all her fairy fancies and all her intimate knowledge of childhood, has made a series of pictures that deliciously supplement those from her pen.

VOORHEES. Forty Years of Oratory.

By Daniel W. Voorhees. With fifty full-page illustrations. Two large volumes, handsomely bound in sheep.....Expressage 45c, net, $6.00

These volumes embrace an exceptionally broad scope—lectures; forensic addresses selected from those delivered during the many celebrated causes with which the author was identified in the courts of sixteen different states of the Union; and political and economic speeches delivered during thirty years' service in the Senate and House of Representatives.

WALLACE. The City of the King.

By Mrs. Lew Wallace. With twelve full-page half-tone engravings, tinted. 12mo, cloth.....Postage 12c, net, $1.00

Delightfully drawn pictures of life in the old and new Jerusalem; in ancient and modern Palestine.

WELLS. Folly for the Wise.

By Carolyn Wells. Illustrated by Gustave Verbeek, Fanny Y. Cory, Florence Scovel Shinn and Oliver Herford. 12mo, cloth.....Postage 12c, net, $1.00

In this volume has been brought together Miss Wells' wittiest work, and she is by all odds the wittiest writer of her generation. Here we find her inimitable verses on "Compound Zoology;" here, too, she tells the wild animals how to behave and shows us how to know them; gives the people who are always arguing by proverbs a home-thrust in her funny little essays called "Mixed Morals;" and sets the final form to which the good limerick must hereafter attain. It is the most exhilarating book of nonsense ever published.

WETMORE. Sweepers of the Sea.

By Claude H. Wetmore. Illustrated by G. A. Coffin. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

This romance of a strange navy is full of the true adventure spirit. Like all the most fascinating stories of invention, its speculations are projections along the line of recent fact, rather than mere creations of fancy. The story is permeated with mystery, with action and with a thrilling similitude of reality. Says the Minneapolis Times: "Mr. Wetmore has the genius of Jules Verne and can make the improbable seem the actual."

WHITLOCK. The Thirteenth District.

By Brand Whitlock. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

A realistic western story of love and politics, and a searching study of their influence on character. The author shows, with extraordinary vitality of treatment, the tricks, the heat, the passion, the tumult of the political arena, the weariness and stubbornness of a deadlock, the triumph and strength of love. In speaking of the "The Thirteenth District," Ex-President Cleveland once said: "That book interested me greatly because it deals with matters which persons acquainted with politics know about." Mr. William Dean Howells calls it "the best American political novel that has ever been done."

Her Infinite Variety.

With twelve full-page illustrations in photogravure by Howard Chandler Christy. Decorated by Ralph Fletcher Seymour. 12mo, cloth, in a box.....$1.50

With this novel of love and laughter, Mr. Whitlock has opened a new vein in the mine of humor. The story centers around an effort to pass a bill for woman's suffrage in the Legislature of Illinois. A new theme, good dialogue and happy repartee make the story distinctive, the clearly-drawn characters at once become our friends, and the world-old truth is emphasized anew that the greatest charm of woman is Her Infinite Variety.

"Its whole atmosphere is quite as fascinating as anything we recall in modern light literature."—Philadelphia Record.

12mo, cloth.....$1.50

A thoroughly American story of a young man who found himself. Mr. Whitlock here draws interesting characters with the artistic sympathy and fineness for which he is noted. He tells how a young college graduate fell in love with a winsome girl, became engaged to her, went out into the world to fight for a place for himself, which he could ask her to share with him—and won. It is instinct with the essence of ambition.

WINTER. The Prize to the Hardy.

By Alice Winter. With drawings by R. M. Crosby. 12mo, cloth.....$1.50

"The Prize to the Hardy" has the buoyancy, the cheerfulness and the vigor of the new empire where its scene is laid—the great wheat country of the Northwest. The climax is a forest fire, described with a fervor and strength that make it one of the great pictures of modern fiction. If to be swift without obscurity, dramatic without melodrama, and witty without "smartness" render a story excellent, then "The Prize to the Hardy" is one of the best.

THE GATE BEAUTIFUL

Being PRINCIPLES and METHODS in VITAL ART EDUCATION

By Professor JOHN WARD STIMSON, formerly Director of Art Education at the New York Metropolitan Museum of Art; The Artist-Artisan Institute, New York, etc., etc.

"To the lover of the Beautiful, and especially to the art student, 'The Gate Beautiful' will indeed prove a gate opening into the clear sunlight. We believe that no student will peruse the first part of the volume . . . without finding himself exalted and lifted, as it were, into a new world, where every high aspiration of life shall have assumed nobler and grander proportions. In a word, he will find himself breathing the air that fosters genius and calls out any latent greatness in his being. . . . For Professor Stimson is nothing if not a free man, and he aims at nothing more earnestly than at freeing the minds of his students from artificiality, mimicry and that conventionalism that fetters genius and trammels talent."—The Arena, New York.

"No one, no matter how much he has studied the subject, can, even in a hurried way, turn over the pages of this book without obtaining an enlarged conception of the importance, the dignity and the comprehensiveness of the message of art for the thoughtful mind."—George Lansing Raymond, L.H.D., Professor of Esthetics in Princeton University.

"The most original, the most richly suggestive, the most comprehensive, discriminating book ever published, dealing with the subject of art education."—Prof. Henry T. Bailey, Director of Art Education, Mass. State Schools.

"No book with anything like the amount of scientific and artistic learning has ever been published."—Prof. Truman H. Bartlett, Mass. Inst. of Technology.

"It is to American art what Ruskin's 'Modern Painters' was to the art of England."—Rev. R. Heber Newton, D.D.

"John Ward Stimson has given us the greatest and best book, outside of the Bible and Shakespeare, that the world has ever seen."—Joaquin Miller.

"This work is more than a book—it is a man's Soul."—Edwin Markham.

ELEGIES

ANCIENT and MODERN

With an INTRODUCTORY STUDY of the HISTORY of ELEGIAC POETRY from the Earliest Days down to the Present Time. By MARY LLOYD

A critical and historical study of the Elegiac poetry of the world, together with an anthology containing the choicest specimens of this noble form of verse selected from the literature of all peoples and of all ages. They are offered by the publisher with the confidence that they constitute the one comprehensive work on the subject in the English language.

The history of the Elegy is traced back to its beginning as a part of the nature-worship of primitive peoples; its development is shown in Greek literature in lyric form and as a part of an epic poem or drama. The great Alexandrian elegies are discussed and compared with others for which they have been the model. Elegiac passages in the Hebrew Scriptures are pointed out. The Latin elegists are then given due attention, after which comes in review the elegiac poetry of modern Europe and America.

The anthology includes some of the great elegies of the world's literature, either whole or in part, with many not generally accessible. The collection is especially rich in elegies by American writers. A few English and American elegies are here presented, which have never before appeared in book form.

In two volumes. Laid-antique all-rag paper, hand-sewed, gold tops, about 300 pages each. With an index and a bibliography. Volume I. now ready; volume II. in preparation. Price, each volume, $1.50 NET; postage, 12 cents. Sold separately.

A SHORT HISTORY OF MONKS & MONASTERIES

By ALFRED WESLEY WISHART, Sometime Fellow in Church History in The University of Chicago

The Philadelphia Times says: "When James Anthony Froude undertook to write the History of the Saints he encountered the same obstacles that Alfred Wesley Wishart met in writing his excellent work, 'Monks and Monasteries.' There were unlimited materials from which to draw, but without sufficient authenticity to justify the record to be made up from them. The late professor of history at Oxford gave up the task as a vain one, but Mr. Wishart has pursued his to a successful conclusion, and having winnowed the grain from its disproportionate quantity of chaff, presents us with a volume for which students and general readers must alike feel grateful. He has sifted his authorities so carefully that the book has the stamp of truth in every statement placed there, however so deftly, that the literary grace of the work is fully and delightfully preserved. Scholarly without being pedantic, earnest and careful without showing either prejudice or partisanship, he sweeps the great field which his title includes with a strength and evenness that give the book the hall-mark of sterling worth. His conclusions are drawn upon no hypothetical grounds, and if modestly presented do not lack the convincing qualities which Mr. Wishart so plainly sees and so effectively puts into view. . . . It is first-water literature—an accurate record, and treats its subject, so full of pitfalls for controversial minds, with dignity, fairness and broad catholicity."

The New York Times says: "A captivating theme. . . . A well-told tale. . . . Vivid and clear. . . . The writer is to be praised for the impartial spirit he exhibits. The volume proclaims the student qualities of the author. His scholarship is lighted up with a clear and discriminating literary style."

The Boston Globe says: "Gives a better idea than was ever before presented between a single pair of covers what a strong part monasticism . . . has performed in the world's history. . . . Mr. Wishart brings the advantages of a trained mind and the scholarly instinct to this work. . . . Superbly printed."

The Philadelphia North American says: "It emphatically ought to take rank among the favorite volumes in the libraries of students of the Middle Ages."

The San Francisco Argonaut says: "A narrative of absorbing interest."

How ENGLAND AVERTED a REVOLUTION of FORCE

By B. O. FLOWER, author of "The Century of Sir Thomas More," "Civilization's Inferno," "The New Time," etc., etc.

The author of this work, as founder and editor of The Arena magazine, as well as through his many books, has won a high and lasting reputation as a careful, strong, clear and virile writer, especially on historical subjects and on problems relating to social and economic affairs. His best-known works are "The Century of Sir Thomas More" and "Civilization's Inferno, or Studies in the Social Cellar," which latter work had an enormous sale and produced a profound impression upon the minds of thinking people throughout the English-speaking countries.

In "How England Averted a Revolution of Force" he has given us a fascinating analysis of the causes which forced England dangerously close to the brink of revolution in 1848, that memorable year when the continent of Europe became a vast battle-field of political as well as of social revolution. The means by which England purchased her immunity are carefully examined into, and the lessons taught are applied to present-day conditions in America. It is distinctly an addition to the Literature of Hope.

An extensive appendix gives the social and reformative poetry of the period, now for the first time, it is believed, gathered together in this convenient form.

Laid-antique, all-rag paper, hand-sewed, 288 pages, fully indexed. With an appendix. Price, $1.25 NET; postage, 10 cents.

MOONBLIGHT

& Six Feet of Romance

By DAN. BEARD

WITH FIFTY PICTURES BY THE AUTHOR

In this story a coal-mine owner, by the help of a curious old book of "black magic," becomes strangely endowed with the power of seeing things as they really are.

In the light of his new-found power of vision he studies the social conditions which environ him. He attempts, by means of a scientifically ideal restitution, to correct the injustice of the system the logical operation of which has made him a multi-millionaire at the expense of his fellow-men.

Curiously enough, this attempt is the inducing cause of a great strike in all the coal mines of the region, in the telling of which is brought out not only the dramatic side of such a struggle as that which recently focussed the attention of the world upon the anthracite regions, but the human side is also brought home to the reader with a power possible only to a gifted writer who is likewise a gifted artist.

In a thoughtful introductory study to the book, Mr. LOUIS F. POST, the editor of The Public, of Chicago, states the problem involved and helps us to grasp not only the points in the story, but enables us to comprehend the psychology of the social unrest of the day.

Dull-surfaced all-rag paper, hand-sewed, about 260 pages. With an introductory study and an appendix. Price, $1.25 NET; postage 10 cents.

IN NATURE'S REALM

By CHARLES C. ABBOTT, M.D., Author of "Upland and Meadow," "Notes of the Night," "Outings at Odd Times," etc. Illustrated by OLIVER KEMP.

The Observer, New York, says: "A beautiful and fascinating book for those who enjoy the study of Nature's handiwork 'afield and afloat.'"

The Boston Herald says: "The great thing about his essays and sketches on his rambling excursions is their unfailing charm. . . . He helps his readers to look at Nature with fresher eyes, and to see beauties and sources of delight unnoticed before."

The Outlook, New York, says: "The charm of such books as these lies in their essential simplicity and naturalness, but the special value of Dr. Abbott's lies in the fact that he never becomes so absorbed in the study of component parts as to fail in an adequate comprehension of nature as a whole."

The Inter-Ocean, Chicago, says: "A beautiful book that will delight every lover of Nature in its quiet haunts. . . . The book is an educator in its best meaning to old and young alike."

The Philadelphia Times says: "All readers are familiar with Dr. Abbott's sympathetic nature studies. He is one of those men, like White of Selborne, who do not need to go far afield to find matter to interest them; to whom the woods and meadows, the streams and the skies of their own vicinage are unfailing sources of delight; who know the signs of the seasons and their myriad manipulations of animal and vegetable life and who can describe what they see not merely with scientific accuracy, but with poetic appreciation. . . . The dainty vignettes and marginal illustrations which decorate the fine broad pages are the work of Oliver Kemp, who apparently is to be credited also with the fascinating cover design. . . . Mr. Brandt has presented his neighbor's work in a form of which it is altogether worthy and has made a book that will attract attention by its beauty."

With a photogravure frontispiece and ninety drawings, royal 8vo., hand-sewed, broad margins, extra superfine, dull-surfaced, pure cotton-fiber paper, deckle edges, gilt top, and picture cover in three tints and gold, 309 pp., thoroughly indexed. Price, $2.50 NET.

CAPE COD BALLADS
AND OTHER VERSE

By "JOE LINCOLN" (Joseph Crosby Lincoln)
Drawings by EDWARD W. KEMBLE

The New York Independent says: "The scenes and the people described are the genuine product of Cape Cod. We read with unfeigned pleasure these ballads, half humorous and half regretful, of the cod-fisher, old daguerreotypes, the school-committee man, the tin peddler, winter nights at home, and the other things that go to make up the New England life that is just passing away."

The Boston Globe says: "Every one of its two hundred pages makes the owner of the book delighted with the Lincoln-Kemble-Brandt combination."

The Worcester (Mass.) Spy says: "The verse is of the highest type. There is nothing in current literature dealing with Yankee characteristics that is better than this, and in the variety of subjects, the sentiment, the pathos, the humor, reminiscence, and description, the author shows a wonderful versatility."

The New Bedford (Mass.) Standard says: "His verse excels in poetic grace, in strength of diction, and in the depth of feeling. Whether humorous or grave, and he can be either with equal success, he is never shallow. He touches a heart interest always, and so wins response from the hearts of his readers."

The Buffalo Sunday News says: "The lilt and spontaneous swing of Field and Riley. . . . The melody of his lines is as catchy as a boy's whistle."

The Detroit Free Press says: "Mr. Lincoln can paint pictures in verse, and he can make us see them. For the rest, he has caught and fixed the Yankee wit and shrewd philosophy."

The Boston Transcript says: "His lines seem to swing into place of their own accord."

The Troy Press says: "Lincoln's poems appeal to the heart of the multitude, who like the homely rhymes of nature and the hearthstone."

The Springfield (Mass.) Republican says: "There is a deal of human nature in this book of near 200 pages, and very well expressed.

The Chicago Standard says: "This little volume is worth its weight in gold to the tired man affected with the blues."

The Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post says: "Really worth reading and reading again."

With twenty-three drawings in line. Decorative cover in gold and brown, by MIRA BURR EDSON. 12mo., toned dull-surfaced all-rag paper, hand-sewed, 198 pp., with index of first lines. $1.25 NET; postage, 8 cents.

THE BUILDING OF THE CITY BEAUTIFUL

By JOAQUIN MILLER

"The Poet of the Sierras"

"THE BUILDING OF THE CITY BEAUTIFUL" will be found to differ materially from Mr. Miller's other works. It represents the author's maturer thought. It is characterized by a marked simplicity of style. The words used are for the most part Saxon.

Finding his texts in the pregnant phrases that for nineteen hundred years have been the consolation of untold millions of the living and the dying, the author makes his story the medium of a keen but sympathetic analysis of our weak human way of living the Lord's Prayer. With winning sweetness he unfolds the dream of an attempt to realize the literal "heaven on earth" that has ever been the Holy Quest of the Christian, as voiced in the words "Thy kingdom come; Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven."

Considered only as literature, "THE BUILDING OF THE CITY BEAUTIFUL" will, it is believed, rank far superior to any of the other social visions of our generation. It is highly poetic, deeply religious, and pervaded by a noble spirit of justice and altruism.

Once begun, the reader is quite unlikely to willingly lay down this volume until it is finished. And then he will find himself reading it over again and again.

For the beauty of both its text and its format as well as for the integrity of its making, it is suggested that this book will make a peculiarly appropriate birthday, anniversary, or holiday gift.

With an exquisite photogravure frontispiece of the author and his mother. Printed on toned, laid antique, deckel-edge, all-rag paper; hand-sewed. Gold top. Cloth, with ornamental stamp in gold. Price, $1.50 net; by mail, $1.60.

THE FLIGHT OF CONGRESS

AN ACCOUNT OF THE MUTINY OF 1783, & THE SESSION OF THE CONGRESS AT PRINCETON

By VARNUM LANSING COLLINS, Reference Librarian of Princeton University.

The narrative set forth in these pages contains a double thread—an examination of the causes that led to the flight of the Continental Congress from Philadelphia in 1783, and an account of the proceedings of Congress during the Summer and Fall at Princeton, together with the sojourn in New Jersey from the local point of view.

The work covers with care and accuracy an episode in American history that has been omitted altogether or glossed over by other historians; and yet nothing could have been more significant of the times. The great moral issues which gave birth to the young American republic were here on trial before the bar of Honor, with Posterity for judge and jury. The immediate perils of war at the hands of England had ceased to alarm either the Congress or the troops. But victory over physical foes had brought in its train the unsolved problem of victory over self. The war had completely exhausted the resources of the Congress. Its credit was openly flouted. The troops were clamoring for their promised pay. The Congress was suspected of intending to evade if not repudiate its obligations. What manner of men were they who were now to mar or make forever glorious the fruits of the accomplished Revolution? What did they do? How? It is a companion picture, as it were, to that of the ragged Continentals silently pressing their bleeding feet into the snow on their march to Trenton seven years before; to that of the disease-racked troops starving at Valley Forge, in the winter of 1777–78.

It is a work of elaborate and painstaking research, much of the material having been gathered from manuscript sources, while in many cases the originals of printed material have been hunted out and examined, nothing having been taken for granted where there was an accessible source of contemporary documentary authority.

The volume will be illustrated with portraits, facsimiles, etc., some of which, it is believed, have never before been published.

Advance orders solicited.

THE ARENA

AN ORIGINAL, ILLUSTRATED REVIEW OF TWENTIETH-CENTURY OPINION

EDITED BY B. O. FLOWER

A little over a year ago THE ARENA was purchased by ALBERT BRANDT, and B. O. FLOWER, the founder and for six years the sole editor of THE ARENA again assumed the entire editorial management of the magazine. It has been greatly enlarged and improved, and now contains more than twice the amount of reading matter it formerly gave its readers. Eminent and authoritative contributors from month to month give their best thoughts on

ETHICS	SCIENCE	LITERATURE
ECONOMICS	RELIGION	MUSIC
POLITICS	EDUCATION	THE DRAMA
	ART

One of the striking and valuable features is its series of international papers by leading statesmen, economists and educators on the forward movements in the political, social and economic conditions in other lands. Among the popular features are Mr. FLOWER's editorials and his extended book-studies or critical reviews and digests of important works. In "The Mirror of the Present" Mr. FLOWER also discusses in his forcible and succinct manner important political, social, economic, religious, educational and other matters of public interest and vital concern. Altogether THE ARENA is indispensable to men and women who dare to think and want to know.

 "THE ARENA" is a now net magazine, and does not "club" with any other publication or offer premiums or extra inducements to subscribers other than its own intrinsic value—facts which should make it not only a good "seller," but (for ethical no less than business reasons) popular with the trade.

Printed on superior paper, and sewed (not wired.)
Subscription price, $2.50 per annum. Single copies twenty-five cents.
Foreign subscriptions, 12s. 6d., or 15 francs.

* FOX-DAVIES, ARTHUR CHARLES—The Art of Heraldry: An Encyclopedia of Armory

From the literary standpoint, "The Art of Heraldry" is the most complete and authoritative work on Armory and Heraldry which has hitherto appeared. The volume includes 75 or more folio full-page illustrations in color, all of them choicest examples of the extreme limit of excellence to which reproduction in chromo-lithography has been carried. A large portion of these have been executed from the original work of HERR STROHL, whose reputation as a master of heraldic art is unsurpassed in his own country, the home of the choicest examples of heraldic illustration in times past. The necessity of devoting a larger proportion of the work to English heraldry has afforded the publishers the opportunity of adding several hundred illustrations to those already included in the German version.

One volume, folio, full buckram, gilt design. Net, $45.00

LOVER'S PROGRESS (THE)—Told by Himself

"And yet this book is, for real value, one picked out of a thousand. It is genuine, it is truthful, and truthful about a set of experiences which are typical and consequently of interest to us all. It is quite likely that some of the things mentioned did not actually happen; perhaps they all did actually happen; but that does not matter. The effect, as a whole, is one of absolute sincerity."—Commercial Advertiser.

* SPENCER, EDWARD—The King's Race-Horses

A history of the connection of His Majesty King Edward VII. with the national sport, with additional notes by LORD MARCUS BERESFORD. The interest which the King, while Prince of Wales, took in racing was not a passing whim. The successes which his horses secured on the race-course indicated that the selection of his stud was arranged with great care, and his achievements in carrying off the leading prizes of the turf became matters of sincere pride to the subjects of His Majesty's dominions.

The volume is illustrated with 20 plates in photogravure, and also contains, as a frontispiece, a special plate of His Majesty.

Printed on hand-made paper, limited to 300 copies in royal quarto.

"ON GOING TO CHURCH."
(ESSAYS)

By G. Bernard Shaw.

The most brilliant and characteristic of all his writings, giving a better insight to his personality than anything hitherto published from the pen of this most widely read and discussed of contemporaneous English writers. All who are familiar with Mr. Shaw's "Plays, Pleasant and Unpleasant", "Man and Superman", "Plays for Puritans" and his recently produced contributions to the stage, "Candida" and "You Can Never Tell," will appreciate the charming naivete with which the author takes the reader to his heart and in his inimitable blending of satire and simplicity reveals freely much of the intimate thought. Issued in cloth with paper labels..... 75 c.

EPIGRAMS AND APHORISMS

By Oscar Wilde.

A careful and complete compilation of the gems of thought and brilliant witticisms of this author, together with some of his opinions on art, selected from "Lady Windemere's Fan", "A Woman of No Importance", "An Ideal Husband", "The Importance of being Earnest", "The Picture of Dorian Gray", "The Decay of the Art of Lying". The sources from which these selections are made are out of print and it has only been by the most thorough research that they have been collected for this volume. Attractively bound..... $1.25

SPECIAL COPYRIGHT FICTION

The Lunatic at Large $1.00

By J. Storer Clouston.

PHILA. INQUIRER, says:

"Whoso would divert his mind with something light and fresh in the literary line let him read 'The Lunatic at Large,' by J. Storer Clouston, published by F. M. Buckles & Co., New York. It is a story which starts out with a plot, but promptly loses it and goes its way thereafter untrameled with any necessity for sticking to a particular line of argument. There are some logical defects in the story, but plenty of amusement, and more than enough of the latter to outweigh all of the former."

Brakespeare - - 1.00

By Geo. A. Lawrence.

CHICAGO EVE. POST, says:

"George A. Lawrence's historical romance 'Brakespeare: Or, the Romance of a Free Lance,' has been brought out in a new edition. Brakespeare was written nearly forty years ago. It was in a vein wholly different from that of most of its contemporary fiction. As a matter of fact, it was hardly in accord with the taste of the time, but nevertheless it won immediate success. It is a much better story than nine-tenths of the so-called historical novels of to-day. It is vivid and vigorous, and moreover it is truthful to the manners of the times of which the author treats.

Terence - $1.00

By B. M. Croker.

The new edition of this popular novel is fully illustrated from characters and scenes taken from the play that Mr. Chauncey Olcott is now producing with such great success. As the play follows the text of the book very closely it makes the book doubly interesting to read before or after seeing the play.

The Soul of Lilith - 1.00

By Marie Corelli.

Marie Corelli, the noted English authoress, has here told a story and while it is not her latest work, yet it will rank with any she has told, and with the single exception of "Thelma" has oversold any of the novels by this author.

The Greatest Gift - 1.00

By A. W. Marchmont.

"The greatest gift, a woman's heart; the heart of her I loved." It is with this quotation that Mr. A. W. Marchmont opens the prologue to his novel. "The Greatest Gift." It is a story which concerns a man who, when but an infant child, was crippled for life by his own mother in a fit of madness. The novel is unusually thrilling and interesting.

Poetry, were it the rudest, so it be sincere, is the attempt which man makes to render his existence harmonious, the utmost he can do for that end; it springs therefore from his whole feelings, opinions, activity, and takes its character from these. It may be called the music of the whole inner being.—Carlyle.

THE PRIMROSE SERIES OF POETS.

Comprising 52 titles, including all the popular English and American Poets. Printed from new large type plates and bound with Gilt Tops in handsome cloth binding. 12mo.

Poetry is the perpetual endeavor to express the spirit of the thing; to pass the brute body, and search the life and reason which cause it to exist; to see that the object is always flowing away, whilst the spirit or necessity which causes it subsists.—Emerson.

THE YOUNG PATRIOT SERIES.

26 TITLES. ORNAMENTAL CLOTH BINDING.

These stories are based on important historical events, scenes wherein boys are prominent characters being selected. They are the romance of history, vigorously told, with careful fidelity to picturing the home life, and accurate in every particular wherein mention is made of movement of troops, or the doings of noted persons.

This series is written with the distinct purpose of portraying the struggle for liberty in romantic form, and while being in the highest degree interesting stories for the young, are at the same time especially instructive, inasmuch as the greatest possible amount of information is given.

BRIDGMAN'S KEWTS

We are willing to admit that any child who has read this book will have found out a great deal of what is going on in America. The varied industries of the States are the background for the antics of the Kewts. The flat tint maps placed under the text are made upon the same scale, and so one cannot but appreciate at once the difference in size and shape of the different States. Altogether, the book must leave in the mind of a child much desirable information, but, as before stated, the main object is to make an amusing and interesting series of adventures of some very human little chaps. Illustrations and text by L. J. Bridgman. Bound in cloth, with humorous design back and front in inks. Size, 8¼ x 10⅝. Illustrations and Text in Color.

Price, $1.00

CALDWELL'S ORIGINAL JUVENILES

PRINTED IN COLORS

The
HOBBY HOSS FAIR
Illustrations and Text by A. L. JANSSON

The
Illustrations and Text by A. L. JANSSON

Mr. Jansson's drawings are well known to the public, and his many inimitable posters, drawn in his own peculiar style, always attract the widest attention. This is his first book, and he has spared neither time nor pains to make it not only equal his best poster work, but the most successful, novel, and attractive juvenile ever published for very young people.

The "Hobby Hoss Fair" pictures an up-to-date county fair in which representatives of all nationalities and all animals related to the "hobby hoss" are introduced. Each verse forms an acrostic of words of not over three or four letters, and are as clever in themselves as the author's drawings.

The illustrations and borders are handsomely reproduced in many colors. Size, 9½ x 12. Double covers. Boards. Price, $1.50

OLD NURSERY RHYMES

DUG UP AT THE PYRAMIDS

With additional Verses. By OLIVE R. BOOTH
Full page illustrations in color. By STANLEY L. ADAMSON

If you look through this book
You will certainly find
The pictures are all
Of a curious kind.

But if you don't smile
When these pictures you view
Ask your doctor at once
What's the matter with you.

Uniquely bound in Sacking, with original cover design.
Size 10 x 12½. Price, $1.50

CALDWELL'S TWENTIETH CENTURY
JUVENILES PRINTED IN COLORS

Sandman Rhymes
By Willard Bonte

A work of an absolutely original character. Articles familiar to every child, the Needle, Thread, and Scissors, not to mention such goodies as the Chocolate Drop, Sponge Cake, Chocolate Eclair, and so on, hold humorous conversations with each other in the clever verses. The comic illustrations by Willard Bonte, the well-known author-artist of the New York Herald, are as fascinating as his verses, and will appeal to the fancies of the children before and after the arrival of the Sandman toward the close of each day. Uniform in size and style with the other books of this series. Price, $1.25

BRIDGMAN'S ORIGINAL JUVENILES

GUESS?
A Juvenile Novelty

Size, 9 x 11, printed in many colors. New Riddles in Rhymes, with the answers in pictures.

GUESS AGAIN

Uniform with above. More original Riddles in Rhymes.

Jest-Nuts

Illustrations in colors. Size, 9 x 11

Price, Each $1.25

Caldwell's Illustrated ANIMAL AUTOBIOGRAPHICAL SERIES

A series of new and copyright autobiographical stories of various animals familiar to all as pets and inmates of the farmyard. Each animal tells his own story entirely, and as far as possible the incidents are taken from life. "Black Beauty" has probably had more to do in bringing kindness into the lives of horses than any other book ever written, and often has been called the "Uncle Tom's Cabin" of the horse. The volumes in this series will each inculcate kindness toward dumb animals in the mind of the child by showing that our pets have feelings as well as ourselves. Unlike so many of the animal stories of the day, however, they are not people simply dressed in animal attire, but each story, being a careful study of the pet's life and manners by the author, carries out as far as possible the thoughts the animal itself would have if he were able to tell his own story.

Each volume is printed on extra fine laid paper, with frontispiece in color, and fully illustrated in half-tone by the best artists, excepting where possible photographs taken from life are used. 12mo.

Bound in cloth with an appropriate inlay for the subject. Price, each, $1.50

PUP, The Autobiography of a GREYHOUND

By OLLIE HURD BRAGDON

All of the illustrations taken from life.

Mrs. Bragdon has here given us a true and most readable story of her greyhound. The volume abounds in interest throughout, and it is safe to say the book will not be laid aside until "Pup" at the end finds his brother and mother, from whom he was stolen while a small puppy, and proves his worth to the blue ribbons he receives in the shows.

YOPPY, The Autobiography of a MONKEY

By MOLLIE LEE CLIFFORD

Illustrated by L. J. Bridgman.

The organ-grinder's monkey is familiar to all children, but they only see his life from what seems the bright side, but in this entertaining book it will be found his life is not so bright as his little red coat. At last, however, he reaches his comfortable home again, where he is forever up to mischievous tricks.

NEDDY, The Autobiography of a DONKEY

By GERTRUDE SELLON

Edited by Charles Welsh. Illustrated by L. J. Bridgman.

An interesting account of a donkey, the pet of the family, and especially of his young mistress. He is stolen, and his return to his home shows more sagacity than a donkey is usually credited with. It is a true story, and vouched for on good authority.

OTHER VOLUMES IN PREPARATION

Pleasant Street Series

New Edition, 1905

A series of books, consisting of stories, poems, and short recitations for the little ones. Great care has been taken in the selection of paper and printing to make the books attractive and suitable. The covers are a unique style, from designs manufactured especially for this series. Each book is fully illustrated by well-known artists. Bound in Java cloth, inlaid, size 5 x 7 1-2. Price, 75 cents

1 Pleasant Street, Smiling Valley. By Sarah E. Lee
A mother's stories, originally told her children and her children's children, now published so other little ones may have the enjoyment of hearing about "Georgie Bixum," "Little Howling Peter," "The Coltie that Kicked Up," "Doctor Spanker," and the many other little people in the several stories. Fully illustrated by Sidney M. Chase.

2 Home Songs for Little Darlings
A delightful selection of over 150 songs and speeches for young children, suitable for them to learn or to have read to them. Over 100 illustrations by Amy Brooks.

3 Smiles. By Alice Lewis Richards
"Smiles" is a book written especially for girls, with recitations appropriate for school, church, and holiday occasions where recitations are in demand.

4 Winks. By Alice Lewis Richards
"Winks" is a companion book to "Smiles," and is calculated to be just what Johnny wants from the time he starts to school until he has reached the seventh or eighth grades.

Stepping Stones to Manhood

By William P. Pearce

With Introductions by Thirty Prominent Americans

THE author has been particularly happy in his treatment of the great principles which constitute true manhood. With apt story and entertaining anecdote he emphasizes his points brightly and strikingly. Excellent books of this character have failed because not attractive to those to whom they were addressed. There is nothing didactive or dry about this volume. It is as interesting as a novel. Each of the thirty chapters has a brief introduction by some such well-known man as George C. Lorimer, D. D., Wayland Hoyt, D. D., Bishop C. C. McCabe, Robert J. Burdette, Marshall Field, John Clark Ridpath, Anthony Comstock, each of whom is peculiarly qualified to speak on that particular subject. Ministers, teachers, Sunday School and ethical workers, and all who have to do with the young, will also find the book a mine of suggestion and usefulness.

FRANCIS E. CLARK, D. D.,

The Founder of Christian Endeavor:

"An admirable book to put into the hands of young men. I am very glad it does not blink out of sight the religious motive. It supplements the great ideas of manliness, honor and truth by furnishing a motive power of the highest and most compelling sort."

FROM THE OUTLOOK

"This book is precisely what its title page affirms it to be. 'A book of inspiration.' It is not merely good to read, but certain to be read by those it is written for, if they get hold of it. Every man or woman who reads it will be prompted to put it in the list of most helpful gift books."

Ex-President GROVER CLEVELAND:

"It is a valuable work and must accomplish a very high mission if put in the hands of the youth and young men of our land."

FROM THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, NEW YORK.

"Will have a beneficial effect upon the lives of boys . . . . Covers a very wide range of important matters, concerning which the average young man needs stimulating instruction, and each chapter has a brief introduction by some well-known man . . . . a unique idea, and gives point to the principles the author lays down."

THEODORE L. CUYLER, D. D.,

The Famous Preacher and Devotional Writer:

"All the youth in America owe a debt of hearty gratitude to Mr. William P. Pearce for having written the best practical book of its kind that has appeared in many a day. Every word is pure gold. A million copies of it ought to be circulated."

FROM THE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR WORLD.

"Certainly no other book for boys and young men, dealing with the elements of success, is superior to this. Beyond all, we are pleased to see Jesus Christ exalted in this book, with many a strong exhortation to be a Christian. Why is this greatest essential of true success so often omitted from books of this class?"

Cloth bound volume of 350 pages with illuminated cover. Price, $1.50

GOOD ENGLISH PAYS!

The Art of Writing and Speaking the English Language

By SHERWIN CODY

Vol. I. Word-study (Spelling, pronunciation, use of the dictionary). Better than a dictionary, because it teaches you to be your own dictionary.

Vol. II. Grammar and Punctuation

"Crisp, simple, direct. . . . Your notion of simplifying grammar is worthy of the widest publicity." — E. Benj. Andrews.

Vol. III. Composition and Rhetoric (Franklin's Method). The surest and quickest way to get the knack of using words effectively.

Vol. IV. Story-Writing and Journalism

A new edition of Constructive Rhetoric with the chapter on Letter-Writing replaced by a chapter on Literary Journalism — suggestions on how to make money by the pen (practical hints from the author's own experience in many different lines of work). This book is for the most part a reprint of Mr. Cody's famous Art of Short Story-Writing and How to Write Fiction, of which Zangwill said: "It is the most sensible treatise on the short story that has yet appeared in England, a country that has not yet learned that story-writing is an art, and a rare and fine art."

18mo, cloth, 4 vols., in a box, price, $2.00; single volume, price, 75 cents

Dictionary of Errors

Grammar, Letter-Writing, Pronunciation, Spelling, Use of Words

This book is small enough to study and master, yet large enough to point out all the errors you would really like to correct in your speech and letter-writing. It has the meat of half a dozen big books all rolled into one — a marvel of condensation and practical usefulness.

It is uniform with the Art of Writing and Speaking the English Language, being another volume in that series. List price, 75 cents

How to Read and What to Read

This is a thoroughly practical and interesting little book for the every-day newspaper reader who wants to read a good book that he will like — not a famous book he can't stomach. The success of Mr. Cody's World's Best series has proved him a scholarly and yet a popular chooser of standard literature. His selections are endorsed and used by the leading universities, from the University of Sweden, to Harvard, Vassar, and Chicago University.

CONTENTS:

I. What Constitutes a Good Poem? II. What Constitutes a Good Essay? III. What Constitutes a Good Novel? IV. Landmarks in Modern Literature. V. The Best Poetry and How to Read It. VI. How to Study Shakespeare. VII. The Best English Essays. VIII. Old Novels that Are Good. IX. The Great Romantic Novelists — Scott, Hugo, Dumas. X. The Great Realistic Novelists — Dickens, Thackeray, Balzac. XI. The Short Story — Poe, Hawthorne, Maupassant. XII. Classic Stories for Children. List price, 75 cents

Good English Form Book In Business Letter Writing

By Sherwin Cody

The only book on business letter writing which contains letters written in simple, natural, and effective English.

"It is the best brief manual on letter writing, and the only good dictation book in existence."

C. C. Rearick, Standard School, Chicago.

Cloth, 12mo. Price, 75 cents

French Cathedrals and Chateaux

By CLARA CRAWFORD PERKINS

An entirely new book relating to and describing the most noted, beautiful, and historic cathedrals and chateaux of France. The cathedrals, palaces, and chateaux of France, around which so much of history and romance has gathered, are objects of perennial interest. Nowhere can be found so many splendid examples of the art of the architects and builders of bygone days.

The author has full knowledge and keen appreciation of her subject, and has treated it in a comprehensive way.

Illustrated with photogravure frontispieces and sixty-two half-tone engravings.

Two volumes, crown 8vo (size, 5¾ x 8⅜ in.), richly ornamented, cloth binding, gilt tops. For the set, $5.00

The New Authoritative Work on Physical Culture

HEALTH, STRENGTH and POWER

By

DUDLEY ALLEN SARGENT, A. M., Sc. D., M. D.

Director of Hemenway Gymnasium, Harvard University, ex-President of the American Association for the Advancement of Physical Culture

Figure 9.

Doctor Sargent's many inventions of the modern system of gymnasium apparatus, together with his numerous articles and papers on physical training, are so well known that a new and thoroughly up-to-date work on Physical Culture by an author who is without doubt the recognized authority on the subject will command immediate interest. The general public are becoming more and more enthused on the science of cultivating Health and Strength. In this work Doctor Sargent has aimed to make it even more popular by devising a series of exercises which require no apparatus whatever, for, as he states, "it is not the athletic or college student in whose life physical activity plays a considerable part, but the professional or business man, who leads a sedentary life, and has no longer the incentive of youth nor spirit of athletic rivalry to urge him on."

Doctor Sargent has been director of Harvard's gymnasium since 1879, and his work there has made the students of the university, as a body — apart from those who engage in college athletics — probably the best physically equipped young men to be found anywhere. His exercises and methods have been adopted all over the world. Not only was most of the gymnastic apparatus now in general use invented by him and the manner of its use of his contriving, but many of the various drills devised to give exercise without the use of any more complicated mechanical assistance than dumb-bells and Indian Clubs.

With over one hundred half-tone illustrations from original photographs furnished by the author. 12mo, cloth, limp cover. Price, $1.75 net

Full flexible leather. Price, $3.00

The Red Letter Library

We take pleasure in announcing that we have made arrangements with Messrs. Blackie & Son of Glasgow and London, whereby we have secured the American rights for all volumes now published, or which may hereafter be published, in their Red Letter Library. The reception accorded the series abroad, as published by them, has been most flattering. The volumes embrace the poetical masterpieces of the English language, as well as typical and representative works of the greatest of our prose writers.

Each volume is complete in itself, and contains a vignette introduction, biographical and critical, by an authority of the highest repute. The books are neat, compact, clearly printed, and handsomely bound.

The paper has been specially made for the series. The text is printed in two colors, — red and black, — giving the page a bright, and at the same time tasteful, appearance. Each volume has a frontispiece illustration, reproduced in half-tone, and framed in an appropriate decorative design by Mr. Talwin Morris. The title-page and end papers also in color, and cover design in gold, and by the same artist. Size, 4 x 6. Bound in two styles. Limp leather, gilt top. Price, $1.00

Sapere Aude Editions

MOST FAMOUS VERSE

The greatest care will be taken to make all the works issued, the most complete and the very best editions ever published. Each volume will have original designed borders and initials, by eminent artists, and will be set from absolutely new type, printed on the finest grade of Enfield wove, deckle-edge paper, made especially for the work. Original photogravure frontispieces, by Marcel.

No pains will be spared in making the volumes in every particular the finest specimens of the designers', printers', and engravers' arts. Each volume limited to 1,000 impressions and twenty-six lettered copies.

THE HOUSE OF LIFE

By Dante Gabriel Rossetti

Rossetti in the second edition of his poems altered many sonnets of "The House of Life," in deference to what he knew to be unjust and even absurd strictness, and went so far as to exclude one of the most beautiful. In this edition the suppressed sonnet has been restored, and the reading of the first editions, 1870, followed to the letter, while the new sonnets are an exact reprint of the edition of 1881, — the first time they appeared in print.

Border designs of an original character on each page, large initial letters, and cover design made by Marion L. Peabody. Original photogravure frontispiece by Marcel.

Size, 6¾ x 8¼. Bound in white vellum, double cover design stamped in gold, boxed. Net, price, $2.50

Bound in parchment or full crushed levant. Net, $25.00

Sonnets from the Portuguese

By Elizabeth Barrett Browning

"The noblest anthology for noble lovers which our language has to show," and well worthy of selection as the second volume of the "Sapere Aude Edition." The version followed is that of the complete text of the Sonnets printed from the latest London edition, and the same care has been taken to make it as perfect an example of bookmaking in every way as "The House of Life." The border designs, large initial letters, and cover design is the work of Adrian J. Iorio. Original photogravure frontispiece by Marcel.

Size, 6¾ x 8¼. Bound in white vellum, double cover design stamped in gold, boxed. Net, price, $2.50

Special edition limited to twenty-six lettered copies.
Bound in parchment or full crushed levant. Net, $25.00

CHRISTMAS CAROL

A Ghost Story of Christmas

By CHARLES DICKENS

A new edition, with photogravure portrait of Dickens, and twelve half-tone illustrations, from original drawings by I. M. Gaugengigl and T. V. Chominski. Printed in two colors with border designs by Iorio. Size, 9 x 11, fancy binding in shape of a holly bell, done in colors and gold, embossed, boxed. Price, $1.50

No other of Dickens's stories, and scarcely any story in the whole range of fiction, has the perennial interest and vitality of the Christmas Carol. Readers who remember it long ago are glad to renew at frequent intervals their old-time enjoyment of this hearty, inspiring, and wholesome tale, and to the new generation of readers no better antidote to the extravagant and sensational products of the day can be offered.

GIFT BOOKS

THE VALUE OF FRIENDSHIP

Edited by Frederic Lawrence Knowles

In this unique compilation the editor has aimed to gather the most notable sayings on friendship ever uttered by ancient or modern authors. Sentimentality is as carefully avoided as cynicism, and the note struck is sympathetic, manly, and sensible. The Introduction traces the influence of friendship on the development of races, institutions, and eminent individuals, it covers the items with remarkable completeness. Its note, however, is distinctly popular, and it makes an ideal gift-book for loved one, friend, or acquaintance.

Beautifully printed on cameo plate paper in two colors. Bound in cloth, gilt, gilt top, 12mo, boxed. Price, $1.50

Full limp chamois, satin lined, boxed. $2.50

THE VALUE OF COURAGE

Edited by Frederic Lawrence Knowles

The most representative collection of prose and verse extracts upon the popular and inspiring theme of courage is by the author of "The Value of Friendship." This splendid compilation may be described as a specific for worry, fear, depression of spirits, and all forms of cowardice, physical, moral, and spiritual. The general tone is light and vivacious; even when most serious, the quotations are never heavy.

BEST OF STEVENSON—BEST OF BALZAC

Great worth in little space has been the aim and purpose of this series; "infinite riches in a little room." Each of these attractive little volumes contains, besides the adequate selection of the writer's best work which forms its chief excuse for being, an introductory essay on the author's literary work, and a complete bibliography of the same, as well as the references to the chief critical authorities. The reader is thus put at once in direct relations with all that he most desires to have from his author.

Bound in limp leather, special presentation edition, boxed, title in gold. Price, $1.50

The Legends of Parsifal

By Mary Hanford Ford

There has long been a demand for a concise and careful account of Wagner's version of Parsifal and a comparison of the other accounts of the same legend. This want Mrs. Ford has undertaken to fulfil, and has done so most acceptably, stating the facts accurately and at the same time perfectly clearly. She has made a careful study for many years of the Holy Grail in all its versions, and has been a most successful lecturer on this subject, so her book will come as a welcome authority on what has always seemed a rather complexing matter to the general reader. The book is attractively bound in cloth with the Holy Grail as the central figure. Embossed in gold.

12mo, cloth. Price, 75 cents, net
Limp red ooze calf, boxed. Price, $2.00

Around the Caribbean and Across Panama

By Francis C. Nicholas, Ph. D.

Cloth. Size 6 x 8¼, unique cover design. Price, $2.00

BITS OF WISDOM BY WILLIAM McKINLEY

In this little book some of William McKinley's most noteworthy and epigrammatic sayings, culled and carefully edited from his best and most famous speeches, are brought together in a small and convenient form which will prove a delight to the readers of to-day. The volume contains a portrait of the author, and an illuminated title-page.

Parti-style, cloth back, cartridge-paper sides. Price, 50 cents
Limp leather. Price, $1.00

STRENUOUS EPIGRAMS OF THEODORE ROOSEVELT

The great charm in President Roosevelt's writings and speeches is his peculiar faculty of saying much in a few words, and in the "Strenuous Epigrams" the editor has taken pains to bring together his brightest and most forcible sayings which have occurred in his speeches during the last few years, when President Roosevelt has been so prominently before the public eye. His famous eulogistic speech on McKinley is included in the book, besides a short sketch of his life.

Parti-style, cloth back, cartridge-paper sides. Price, 50 cents
Limp leather. Price, $1.00

IN BOHEMIA

By JAMES CLARENCE HARVEY

It is not the old suit of clothes with a thirst inside. It is the Tuxedo coat with a brain above it. Before you have a chance to get tired of any one subject, the author skips easily to another subject until, the first you know, you are at the end of the book and you wish there was a second volume. Bright Bohemian sketches in black and white enliven the pages, and the names of Mucha, the greatest of French poster artists, Outcault, of Buster Brown fame, and Francis Sagerson testify to their merit.

12mo, cloth unique. Price, $1.25

Full limp chamois, in fancy box. 2.00

Parfait Edition. Superbly bound in full silk, sachet cover, in a novel box matching binding, an exquisite gift for a woman. Price, $3.00

WOMAN AND HER WITS

By G. F. MONKSHOOD

In "Woman and Her Wits," Mr. Monkshood has brought together, from authors and books of all times and ages, some of the wisest, wittiest, and tenderest epigrams, proverbs, axioms, adages, or short, pithy sentences — call them what you will — relating to the woman and women, and also to the passions, affections, sentiments, and emotions generally.

Kimono Edition, cloth limp, imported inlay. Price, 75 cents

Gray ooze calf, tied with ribbons. $1.50

Reflections of the Morning After

Written and Illustrated by Herman Lee Meader

Packed away in this bright little volume, there's a goodly amount of up-to-date wit and wisdom, pleasantly cynical and running over with pungency and snap. The satirical little epigrams cover all phases of life, and there is a sufficiency to keep going a good round of laughter in whatever circle it shall find itself a member.

The book is printed in two colors, on buff paper, from special type. The end papers, label, frontispiece, and decorative page borders are by the author. Bound in two styles.

Dressing-gown Edition. Price, 75 cents

Limp ooze calf, of a dark brown shade. $1.50

THE LOG OF THE WATER WAGON

Or, The Cruise of the Good Ship Lithia

By Bert Leston Taylor and W. C. Gibson

"The Log of the Water Wagon" is a graphic account of a cruise aboard that famous craft, compiled from memoranda found in a floating bottle. Besides the Log proper, the book contains the Rules and Regulations of the Water Wagon, together with a thrilling report of the eventful days of the cruise. The sufferings of the passengers after the second day were harrowing in the extreme, and only partially relieved by the faithful steward who twice daily dusted off each passenger's tongue and moistened it with a sponge.

Printed on buff corduroy paper in two colors. Border designs and illustrations by M. L. Glackens.

Cloth unique. Uniform with "Reflections of the Morning After." Price, 75 cents

FOR MEN

PIPE AND POUCH The Smoker's Own Book of Poetry

Compiled by Joseph Knight. With frontispiece illustration

This somewhat unique little volume of collected verse, gathered by Joseph Knight, is the result of many years' gleaning from a great variety of sources of all the best verse devoted to praise of the weed. It will be a matter of surprise to most readers to find how much has been written that is clever and bright on the theme of smoking. From the time of Raleigh and Spenser to the present day, not only the writers of lighter verse, but the more dignified of the poets have turned aside to sing of what one of the oldest of them called "The Plant of Great Renown."

In compiling and publishing in attractive form an anthology of the tributes of the poets to "My Lady Nicotine," Mr. Joseph Knight has done a graceful thing, and one that every smoker that reads and every reader that smokes ought to appreciate. There has been since Raleigh's day an unusually good lot of poetry written in praise of pipe, cigar, and cigarette. As shown by the names of the poets that figure in this book, nearly all the great writers were devotees to the weed that smooths out life's wrinkles. Milton, Addison, Fielding, Hobbes, Newton, Scott, Campbell, Byron, Lamb, Carlyle, Tennyson, Thackeray, Dickens, and Bulwer were all great smokers, though, unfortunately, not all of them felt the inclination to pay special tribute to their pipe or cigar, and the inspiration that in them lies.

1 vol., 12mo, cloth, gilt top. Price, $1.00

1 vol., small quarto, in Havana colored ooze leather pouch. Price, $2.00

Ben King's Verse

Twenty-fifth Thousand

Edited by Nixon Waterman Biography of Ben King by Opie Read Introduction by John McGovern

If I Should Die To-Night

If I should die to-night
And you should come to my cold corpse and say,
Weeping and heartsick o'er my lifeless clay—
If I should die to-night
And you should come in deepest grief and woe
And say, "Here's that ten dollars that I owe"—
I might arise in my large white cravat
And say, "What's that?"

If I should die to-night
And you should come to my cold corpse and kneel,
Clasping my bier to show the grief you feel—
I say, if I should die to-night
And you should come to me, and there and then
Just even hint 'bout payin' me that ten,
I might arise the while;
But I'd drop dead again.

The charming, wholesome humor of "Ben King's Verse" pleases everybody, which accounts for the wide and continued popularity of the book.

These poems, so full of rollicking humor, will never grow old. Toledo Blade.

"Ben King's Verse" will be appreciated by all who enjoy good things. John Kendrick Bangs.

Sonnets from the Portuguese. By ELIZABETH BARRETT BROWNING. 1

In the "Sonnets from the Portuguese," a most exquisite series of love poems, we have Mrs. Browning at her best. She has broken away from that stiffness and artificiality which characterizes her earlier poems, and in sentiment and lofty rhyme is at times truly Shakespearian.

Virginibus Puerisque. By ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON. 2

Since, unfortunately, most of our juvenile literature nowadays is the work of "hack" writers, it is refreshing to find a work for boys and girls written by a man of genius. "Virginibus Puerisque" stands high among Mr. Stevenson's writings, and is enjoyed by both old and young.

Friendship and Love. By RALPH WALDO EMERSON. 3

Mr. Emerson is no bookish theorist. He does not draw his conclusions from syllogisms, but from his personal observations of men and things. The essays on Friendship and Love, two of his most human, being subjects akin to each other, are published together as a single volume.

Heroism and Character. By RALPH WALDO EMERSON. 4

As Friendship and Love are linked, so Heroism and Character are complementary. In fact, we perceive a strong connection between the four subjects. For friendship deepens in love, and from love for one's neighbor, one's family, one's State, comes heroism, and heroism is the essential element of a noble character.

Poor Richard's Almanac. By BENJAMIN FRANKLIN. 5

A selection of the best sayings from the numerous issues of "Poor Richard." Helpful and inspiring; the work of a most practical mind, written for a most practical nation.

The School for Scandal. By SHERIDAN. 6

Sheridan's comedies are second only to Shakespeare's. "The School for Scandal," undoubtedly his masterpiece, has had an undiminished popularity from the moment it was published to the present day.

Destruction of Pompeii. By PLINY AND BULWER. 7

Two interesting descriptions of the Destruction of Pompeii. one by Pliny, the greatest scientist of the ancient world, who wrote as an eye-witness; the other the well-known and thrilling account from Lord Lytton's "Last Days of Pompeii."

Sir Roger de Coverley Papers. BY ADDISON. 8

The famous "Sir Roger de Coverley Papers" are not only treasured by all students of English literature, but by historians as well. For nowhere do we find a finer description of English life in the eighteenth century than in these papers. Furthermore, in the character of Sir Roger we find the finest delineation in English literature of an ideal gentleman.

Thoughts of Marcus Aurelius. SELECTIONS. 9

Marcus Aurelius was the purest and loftiest of the pagan philosophers. "His great work, 'The Thoughts,'" says Lecky, "not only forms one of the most impressive, but also forms one of the truest books in the whole range of religious literature."

Lord Chesterfield's Letters. SELECTIONS. 10

These letters of sound counsel and practical advice, addressed to his son Philip, are what Lord Chesterfield's reputation rests upon, and it is through these that the name of Chesterfield has become symbolic of culture and refinement.

Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam. 11

The "Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam" is one of the greatest contributions that the East has given to literature. The subtle thought, the soft Oriental imagery, and the delicacy of the poetry will appeal to the poetic imagination of all ages.

Milton. BY LORD MACAULAY. 12

A profound and masterly essay on the leader of English literature of the seventeenth century by the leading literary critic of the nineteenth century.

Enoch Arden. BY ALFRED, LORD TENNYSON. 13

In "Enoch Arden" we have one of the most beautiful and pathetic poems in the English language. Had Tennyson never written another line, he would have gone down in history as one of the greatest poets of his time.

Rip Van Winkle and The Legend of Sleepy Hollow. BY WASHINGTON IRVING. 14

These immortal stories of Dutch life in colonial New York are the best pieces of writing that Mr. Irving contributed to literature. The pathos, quaintness, and wit are impressed upon the reader in a striking way.

Rochefoucauld's Maxims. 15

These maxims, written by a cavalier of Richelieu's times, one who knew the world as few have an opportunity of knowing it, are witty, subtle, and true. The author has grasped the whole of life, and weakness of human nature, of fashion and conventionalities are strongly depicted.

Rab and His Friends. BY DR. JOHN BROWN. 16

"Rab and His Friends," a story of a mastiff, full of beauty and pathos, is, in its line, only rivalled by "Black Beauty." In this volume the story of Marjorie Fleming, an interesting case of remarkable precociousness, is also published.

She Stoops to Conquer. BY OLIVER GOLDSMITH. 17

"She Stoops to Conquer" is a comedy abounding in the keenest wit and satire. Human nature is depicted by a masterly observer, and the characters of the play are true to life.

Old Christmas. BY WASHINGTON IRVING. 18

An ideal picture of an old-fashioned Christmas in rural England. The good old customs, and the quaint games handed down from generation to generation, are pictured in a most interesting manner.

Vision of Sir Launfal. BY JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL. 19

This great poem is drawn from the famous romance of King Arthur and the Holy Grail, a theme which has furnished inspiration to so many great minds. The "Vision of Sir Launfal" is the best of Lowell's shorter poems.

Leaves of Grass. SELECTIONS. BY WALT WHITMAN. 20

Walt Whitman is looked upon as the one distinctive American poet, the product of our New World democracy. Though perhaps lacking in grace, his poems are inspired by his enthusiasm and humanitarianism, and in every line the reader sees the personality of the poet, — noble, generous, and lofty, — a great man in the highest sense of the word.

Elegy and Other Poems. BY THOMAS GRAY. 21

The "Elegy in a Country Churchyard" occupies as secure a place among English classics as "Hamlet" or "Paradise Lost," but some readers may not realize that several other poems by Gray are equally perfect and impressive. This collection contains all of Gray's verse which is really worth knowing.

Sweetness and Light. BY MATTHEW ARNOLD. 22

An epoch-making essay, by one of the most cultured, practical, and inspiring minds of our century. Arnold's simplicity and charm of style, no less than his weighty message, have already given him an assured place among classic writers.

Golden Thoughts. BY ARCHBISHOP FENELON. 23

Judiciously made extracts from the letters of the great archbishop. Fenelon united in his personality the sweetness of the saint with the strength of the reformer, and his personal correspondence contains the very heart and soul of religious devotion.

Wit and Wisdom. BY SIDNEY SMITH. 24

Extracts from Smith's writing and conversations, which flash with repartee, good-tempered satire and brilliant strokes of wit, and are characterized throughout by shrewd, irresistible common sense. The comments on America and Americans are alone worth the price of the little book.

A Christmas Carol. BY CHARLES DICKENS. 25

This familiar story possesses perennial interest for young and old, and it never has been presented in more attractive form. Whether regarded as a ghost story, a character study, or a parable, the "Christmas Carol" is one of the most brilliant and absorbing tales in English literature.

Will o' the Mill and Biographical Sketch. By R. L. Stevenson. 26

This little parable of a life contains a wonderful moral and is also an irresistibly fascinating story in itself, written in the most exquisite English. Many critics think it Stevenson's masterpiece. It is prefaced by a careful and adequate biographical sketch.

Men and Women. By Robert Browning. 27

Browning is known the world over for his deep-veined humanity and rare faculty of dramatic representation. These poems have as much red blood in them as the dramas of Shakespeare. The present volume contains all the principal favorites which have sung themselves into the memory of every reader who loves vigorous, manly poetry.

Napoleon Addresses and Anecdotes. 28

Napoleon was not only a consummate genius as general and ruler, he was also a man of extraordinary personality. So much of his magnetism and personal charm is preserved in these anecdotes and speeches, that we become completely en rapport with the great emperor, and cannot fail to share the enthusiasm of his contemporaries. The selections were made with greatest care especially for this edition.

Passion in the Desert, and an Episode in the Reign of Terror. Selected Prose Works of Honore de Balzac. 29

Balzac is thought by many competent authorities to be the greatest novelist of the world. His short stories are quite as remarkable in their way as his longer stories, and the very best of them are to be found in the present collection.

Poems of Sentiment. By Byron. 30

Probably no poet in the English-speaking world has ever held as high and well recognized a position as a "sentimentalist" as George Gordon, Lord Byron. His master lyrics dealing with the subject of love, consisting principally of his shorter poems, have been selected and edited with the greatest care for this edition.

Some Fruits of Solitude. Reflections and Maxims. By William Penn. 31

"To quote a book like this were impossible; at least one can hand it on, with a wrench, one to another. Some of the 'Fruits' are sounder, juicier, and grown against a sunnier wall of experience than others, but all are delicate, and the little basket which holds them will be found in all times and places a peaceful and sweet companion." — Robert Louis Stevenson.

Letters to a Young Man about Town. By William Makepeace Thackeray. 32

These charming but comparatively little known essays originally appeared in Punch, and, until the present edition, have been reissued in a volume by themselves but once, and then in a privately printed book now extremely rare. In his humorous and satirical manner, Thackeray shows up the follies and life of a young man about town in the middle of the nineteenth century.

Golden Wings. A Prose Romance and a Poem. By William Morris. 33

Two early productions of Morris's with the same title. The Prose Romance, written in 1856 while still a student at Oxford, and the Poem two years later, both of which show the irresistible and quaint charm apparent in all the later writings of this architect, painter, designer, craftsman, socialist, and author, — who, on the death of Tennyson, was thought by many would be the next Poet-Laureate.

Selected Poems. By John Boyle O'Reilly. 34

Through several causes, but not lack of merit, Boyle O'Reilly is fast becoming merely a name to the generation of to-day. Therefore, pains have here been taken to perpetuate the choicest productions of his pen, — poems worthy of rank with the masterpieces of English literature. The volume is prefaced with an interesting personal sketch of O'Reilly, by Mr. William A. Hovey.

The Discourses of Epictetus. Selections. 35

In Sir John Lubbock's "List of the One Hundred Best Books," the Bible is first, the "Thoughts of Marcus Aurelius" second, and "Epictetus" third. The discourses here given have been carefully selected, and in each case the English revised with utmost care.

Evangeline. By Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. 36

The purity, sweetness, and refinement with which Longfellow delineates the affections of the heart make his poetry the most welcome of visitants at the domestic fireside, and of all his poems, "Evangeline" is probably the most popular.

The Holy Grail. By Alfred, Lord Tennyson. 37

This idyl, which must rank as one of the greatest of Tennyson's poetical achievements, came to him suddenly, "as if by a breath of inspiration." Of it the poet said, "I feared for years to touch the subject of the Holy Grail, and when I began, finished it in a fortnight."

Atala. By François René Auguste Chateaubriand. With a biographical sketch of the author. 38

A tale of an Indian maiden, charmingly written by one who in the old colonial days traversed the solitary wilds of North America, and who is a lover of nature and quaint Indian lore.

Armande. By Edmond and Jules de Goncourt. Translated by Alfred E. Haserick and with an introduction by W. D. Orcutt. 39

Of the Brothers Goncourt, Victor Hugo says, "Charming writers, two minds from which springs a single jet of genius." Armande is their masterpiece.

Corsair and Lara. By Lord Byron. With an introduction by M. F. Sweetser. 40

The extraordinary interest at the present time in Byron demands that two of his complete works be presented in this series. No better understanding of this "wild child of nature" can be obtained than in Corsair and Lara.

The Gold Bug. By Edgar Allan Poe. With a biographical sketch of the author. 41

A story of great effect and absorbing interest, one of those rare books that once opened is not closed until the last paragraph is finished.

Juliet and Romeo. From the Italian of Luigi da Porto. With an introductory essay by Dr. W. J. Rolfe. 42

A translation of the original story from which Shakespeare conceived the plot of "Romeo and Juliet." This edition is edited by Dr. W. J. Rolfe, the greatest living authority on Shakespeare.

L'Arlesienne. By Alphonse Daudet. With a biographical sketch by M. F. Sweetser. 43

L'Arlesienne is the best of Daudet's dramas, and is responsible for his fame as a playwright as well as a novelist.

Manon Lescaut. Vol. I. By L'Abbé Prévost. With an introduction by M. F. Sweetser. 44

Manon Lescaut. Vol. II. 45

Not only in French, but in the emotional literature of our world has Manon Lescaut taken a classical place, and is a profound lesson drawn from weakness of human nature.

Paul and Virginia. By Bernardin de St. Pierre. With a biographical sketch of the author. 46

One of the most beautiful works in romantic literature, a production which gave St. Pierre everlasting fame.

Peter Schlemihl. By Adelbert von Chamisso. With a biographical sketch of the author. 47

This fantastic tale has attained world-wide fame. Founded on the old superstition that the devil could take a man's shadow, poor Peter is driven from town to town and wanders over the whole world. To the young this story appeals as a fairy-tale, but for others it has a deep ethical significance.

Werther. By J. W. von Goethe. With a biographical sketch of the author. 48

To appreciate the romantic and sentimental nature of the mighty Goethe one must read Werther. Though o'ershadowed by the author's other works, yet Werther alone would have made him immortal.

Undine. By Friedrich, Baron de La Motte-Fouqué 49

The charming and graceful narrative, Undine, is a gem in German literature. It breathes of the fresh fragrance of the woods, and is animated by beautiful thoughts that people the sea and air with nymphs and spirits.

The CHARACTER AND WISDOM SERIES

A series of stories and short popular treatises on self-culture, ethics, religion, and reform by the most influential writers and public leaders of the day. It is expected, also, that this series will prove a medium for introducing to the reading public a number of new writers who have something to say, and are able to clothe their message in original and attractive form. It is believed that these little books will be a means of influencing a very wide audience for good. In any case, it is certain that such dainty, inexpensive volumes must prove very popular as books for the holidays and for anniversaries, and can hardly fail to justify the expectations of the publishers. Printed on fine paper, size 5 x 7. Bound in two styles. Parti, illuminated sides Price, 50 cents
Limp ooze calf tied with ribbon, boxed. $1.00

1 Consolation. By William E. Barton.

2 Done Every Day. By Prof. Amos R. Wells.

Brilliant little papers by Prof. Amos R. Wells on such subjects as "The Art of Walking," "How to Bow," and "Ethics of the Door-bell."

3 Every-Day Living. By Mrs. Sarah K. Bolton.

A group of cheerful and sensible little papers on problems of every-day life, illustrated with a wealth of anecdotes.

4 Faith as Related to Health. By William E. Barton.

5 Graven on the Tables. By William Ewing Love.

A protest, in the form of a striking story, against corporate avarice; and a forceful plea for co-operation in industry. A social parable.

6 God in His World. By Pres. Charles F. Thwing.

A strong religious address by the president of the Western Reserve University.

7 If Ye Love Me. By Lucia M. Knowles.

A topical arrangement of Christ's Commandments. A devotional book compiled on a novel plan.

8 The Man Who Kept Himself in Repair. Anonymous.

A striking argument, in the form of a compelling story, for the better life.

9 Making the Most of Social Opportunities. By Mrs. Lucia Mead.

A brilliant and practical address by one of the most widely known of public women.

10 The Man Without a Country. By Rev. E. E. Hale.

11 Now. By Rev. Dr. Alexander McKenzie.

A magnificent address by the well-known Congregational divine of Cambridge.

12 Noble Womanhood. By Rev. Charles F. Dole.

Author of "The Coming People," and a noted clergyman.

13 On the Training of Lovers. By Austin Bierbower.

One of the most wise and original little books published for years.

14 Our Common Christianity. By Dean Arthur P. Stanley.

A broad-spirited and most original address on the distinguishing features of the Christian religion.

15 Principles of Colonial Government. By Horace N. Fisher.

A scholarly and unprejudiced exposition of the political needs and capacities of our new possessions.

16 Self-Reliance. By R. W. Emerson.

One of the most stimulating essays of the greatest prose writer of America.

17 The Strength of Being Clean. By David Starr Jordan.

A brilliant White Cross address, showing the folly of the quest for unearned happiness and treating of certain popular vices with reticence and power.

18 Sowing and Reaping. By Booker T. Washington.

An inspiring and very practical talk to young people by the recognized leader of his race.

19 The Unknown Singers. By C. F. Dole.

20 Why Go to Church? By Rev. Lyman Beecher.

A popular and brilliant discussion of the preacher, his object, his instruments, and the secret of his power.

21 Will o' the Mill. By R. L. Stevenson.

An allegorical story. Its rare poetic quality and graceful and delicate fancy justifying its inclusion in the Character and Wisdom Series.

22 The Young Man in Business. By Edward Bok.

An eminently practical essay, born of wide experience.

23 The Youth's Dream of Life. By Pres. C. F. Thwing.

24 The Man Who Wins. By Rev. Dr. Madison C. Peters.

"The Man Who Wins" is an able essay on character. The keynote is, "Capital is not what a man has, but what a man is."

* VERSAILLES AND THE COURT UNDER LOUIS XIV. By James Eugene Farmer, author of "The Grande Mademoiselle," "Essays on French History," etc. Royal octavo, about 500 pages, including 70 illustrations. Price, $3.50 net; postage extra.

A book that is at once historically accurate, chronologically complete, and the only definitive record of Versailles available to the general reader. Here is the story of the people and events that reflected the glory and grandeur of the Grand Monarch and made of his palace and its environs the very sublimation of earthly pomp.

Beginning with the inception of the plans for the palace and the laying-out of the grounds, the author goes on to describe in accurate detail the wonders and glories of the finished work. Against this background is presented the king, and we are intimately introduced to his daily life, method of work, his foibles, his follies, and, most marvelous of all, the intricacies of court etiquette which began with the grand lever and ended with the grand coucher. Inevitably the writer makes frequent excerpts from the gossip-loving Saint-Simon.

Perhaps the most brilliant court Europe has ever seen,—certainly the most lavish,—nothing in history is quite like this picture of nobles and courtiers parading and intriguing in and out of Versailles at the end of the seventeenth century. Their manners were perfect if their morals were not, and they are undeniably an interesting company from Madame de Maintenon down to the last valet de chambre.

CONTENTS:

PART I—THE PALACE (Fifteen Chapters): The Construction of the Château—The Courtyards—The Ambassadors' Staircase—The State Apartments of the King—The Grand Gallery and its Salons—The State Apartments of the Queen—The Private Apartments of the King—The Apartments of Madame de Maintenon—The Grand Hall of the Guards and other Apartments—The Apartments of Monseigneur—Various Apartments on the Ground Floor—The Chapel—The Grand Commun—The King's Stables—The Kennels and the Hunting-Train.

PART II—THE PARK (Eleven Chapters): The Gardens—The Terrace, the Fountains and Bosquets—The Orangery—The Kitchen-Garden—The Menagerie—Trianon—The Parks—The Cost of Versailles—The Meaning of Versailles—The Fêtes of Versailles—Marly.

PART III—THE KING (Five Chapters): The Service of the King—His Daily Life—His Method of Work—His Personal Appearance and Character—Etiquette.

PART IV—THE COURT (Nineteen Chapters): Madame de Maintenon—Monseigneur—The Duc and Duchesse de Bourgogne—The Duc d'Anjou—The Duc and Duchesse de Berry—Monsieur and Madame—The Duc and Duchesse de Chartres—The King's Children—The Nobility—Mechanism of the Court Life—Manners and Morals of the Courtiers—Pleasures of the Courtiers—The Fêtes—The Ceremonies—The Theater—The Seamy Side—The Court and Paris—The Court and the People—The End of the Reign.

† PLAIN MARY SMITH. A Romance of Red Saunders. By Henry Wallace Phillips. 12mo, 320 pages, with nine illustrations by Martin Justice. Price, $1.50.

"Red Saunders" is one of the best-known characters in recent fiction, and the frequent appearance of this six-foot red-haired cowboy in McClure's Magazine is always an event. The present volume introduces "Red" as a youth—a sort of cousin by cussedness to Peck's Bad Boy.

Deviltry, sentiment, and a love of fun are component parts in Red's character; and the alloy is productive of more adventures and unique, not to say boisterous, experiences than there are chapters to the book. Red runs away from home at about the age of twenty and lands in Panama, where he gets a job on a ranch. Among his exploits he downs the wildest bronco in the place, and almost single-handed puts down a native revolution. Incidentally he becomes the slave of "Plain Mary Smith," who is plain only in name.

This is the breeziest, funniest, and at the same time the most absorbing book of adventure that has appeared in many a day.

* WASHINGTON AND THE WEST. Being the diary of George Washington for September, 1784, kept during his journey in the Ohio Basin in the interest of a commercial union between the Great Lakes and the Potomac River, and with a commentary upon the same by Archer Butler Hulbert, author of "Historic Highways of America." Octavo, about 300 pages. Price, $2.00 net; postage extra.

The Washington who was "first in war" is far better known than the Washington who was "first in peace"; and yet the late Herbert B. Adams said of the latter man—and the tribute must stand as one of the most singular ever made by scholar of statesman—"It would seem as though, in one way or another, all lines of our public policy lead back to Washington, as all roads lead to Rome."

The present volume, containing Washington's diary of September, 1784, presents Washington's attitude toward one of the great national policies of the early Republic, expansion and internal improvements As a prophet of the former and a promoter of the latter, General Washington had a profound influence upon our early economic history; and the story of his attempt to inspire his people to grow strong after he had marvelously inspired them to become free is not unworthy of special record.

As this is the first time that this diary—which throws fresh light on Washington as a country squire and landowner—has been printed in toto, it must be regarded as a valuable contribution to Washingtonia.

Following a verbatim printing of the text of the diary is the editor's commentary, each paragraph of which is numbered, with corresponding numbers scattered through the diary. Thus the commentary is at once an interesting and illuminating historical essay and a valuable series of explanatory foot-notes.

† JULES OF THE GREAT HEART. By Lawrence Mott. 12mo, 303 pages, with frontispiece in color by Schoonover. Price, $1.50.

Jules Verbaux is a French-Canadian trapper, a sort of modern Robin Hood, considered an outlaw by the Hudson Bay Company and treated accordingly.

Slyer than the fox, brave as the lion, light-hearted and passionate like his kind, it is not to be wondered that he is forever plunging into adventure, now eluding the vengeance of a Company official, now the fierce onslaught of a half-breed trapper, and now battling with the fury of a winter storm.

But there is more than mere adventure in this stirring book. What gives it power is that Mr. Mott so thoroughly feels and sees what he describes; he visualizes wonderfully the wide and lonely landscape, the stillness and the noises and the mystery of the forests. And with the last page the reader will echo Jules's exclamation, at vengeance satisfied and love restored: "Je suis content!"

The author is a young man, a member of the class of 1905 at Harvard, who has spent all of his summers for several years in the region which he so graphically describes.

† UNDER ROCKING SKIES. By L. Frank Tooker. 12mo, 300 pages, with illustrations by M. J. Burns and Martin Justice. Price, $1.50.

The scene of this story is laid on a sailing-vessel voyaging from a Northern port to the West Indies. The vessel stops off her home port on the Long Island coast, where the captain takes aboard, as passengers, his wife, daughter, and the village minister, and, much against his will, ships a new mate. Both the men are young, and the story is primarily a love-story with an unusual setting, in which the events of an exciting and dangerous experience are powerful factors in determining the choice of the heroine.

The stoical courage and the daring of the captain, and the picture of life aboard ship, are intimate and real, and true impressions of types now fast passing away. It is the first novel of an author whose short stories and brilliant sea-poems have attracted wide notice.

Mrs. Martin's novel, "Tillie: A Mennonite Maid," is so widely and favorably known that her new book is sure of a cordial welcome. Sabina, like Tillie, is of the plain people. Her parents are Amish, and their life is quite as quaint and curious as that of the New Mennonites. Except for unusual beauty, Sabina differs little from her passive relatives; and yet what makes of her a remarkable character and gives point to the tragic little tale is the curious psychical quality of the girl's mind. Now and again, and always as a forerunner of family disaster, there comes to the girl a vision of a horrible face. An artist comes down and boards with this Amish family to gather material for some sketches. A creature from another world, he seems wonderfully attractive to Sabina, used only to the broad-brimmed hats and stolid faces of the farmer lads round about. His coming is the beginning of a very absorbing and pathetic love-story, to which the occasional vision of the face adds a tragic note. The whole story is worked up to a dramatic climax and unusual denouement.

Sabina's is a haunting personality, and all who have an affectionate regard for "Tillie" will be equally charmed with this, Mrs. Martin's latest story of a Pennsylvania-Dutch maiden.

* THE LONG DAY. A true story of a New York working-girl as told by herself. 12mo, about 300 pages, with frontispiece by Jay Hambidge. Price, $1.20 net; postage extra.

There have been several books published chronicling the observations and experiences of divers amateur sociologists, but nothing so genuine, dramatic, and absorbingly interesting has ever appeared as "The Long Day," which recounts faithfully and entertainingly the experiences, for six months, of a little country girl from Pennsylvania who came to New York to earn her living and make her way in the great city. Except for a brief experience as teacher in a small rural school, the author was without any training or experience in the workaday world, and her few dollars' capital was quite exhausted before she got her first job.

The fearful labor and worse companionship in a box-factory were followed by a few weeks of healthful, pleasant work in the making of artificial flowers. But there is very little steady work except for the specialist and the skilled worker, and within six months she added to her other experiences her labors in a sweat-shop, in lining jewel-boxes, as a "shaker" in a steam laundry, and other trying and underpaid forms of work. Quite as interesting as the story of her own experiences are the characters to whom she introduces the reader,—those who were kind to her, and those who were not. And not the least interesting are her revelations of a working-girl's Home, a picture of sordid living and brutal tyranny worthy the pen of a Dickens.

As a truthful, intimate picture of the unfortunate, underpaid, overworked working-girl, this book will cause something of a sensation. It is a narrative of absorbing and cumulative interest.

* WITH THE EMPRESS DOWAGER. By Katherine Carl. Royal octavo, about 350 pages. Price, $2.00 net; postage extra.

The author of this book has enjoyed an experience which comes to few mortals; she was entertained for several months in the palace of that very remarkable woman, the Empress Dowager of China, while she painted four portraits of the Empress, one of them for the St. Louis Exposition, and, before the work was over, became a trusted friend. It is said that no foreigner since Marco Polo has been a staying guest in the palace of a Chinese sovereign.

Miss Carl has written a singularly entertaining book, for she tells us what we never knew before —the story of the daily life of the Chinese court, with its thousands of dependents, its gay parties, its jealousies, and its tragedies. The Dowager Empress is fully described, and after reading Miss Carl's book one realizes for the first time the secret of the power of this ruler of three hundred millions of people,—the most powerful woman in the world.

† THE WHEAT PRINCESS. By Jean Webster, author of "When Patty Went to College." 12mo, 350 pages. Price, $1.50.

Some thirty miles from St. Peter's in Rome, on the side of a hill, stands the Villa Vivalanti, which is the scene of Miss Webster's new novel. The heroine is a daughter of an American millionaire, who goes to spend the summer in Italy with her uncle's family. A wheat famine has about reduced the peasants to the verge of starvation, and the scarcity of bread is largely due to the fact that Marcia Copley's father has cornered the wheat market. Ignorant of the true state of affairs, Marcia has been amusing herself distributing pennies and chocolate to the village children, who reward her with jeers and curses, and dubbing her "the Wheat Princess," obviously because her father is known as "the Wheat King." The most interesting male character in the book is an American attaché; and a touch of melodrama is supplied by a member of the Camorra in the person of a picturesque Italian with a very ready knife. What opens up leisurely as a pleasant romance of cosmopolitan life soon develops into a dramatic love-story of strong plot and power.

The many admirers of "Patty" will be charmed and delighted with this new book, which introduces the author in the rôle of a skilled novelist.

* HOW TO STUDY PICTURES. By Charles H. Caffin. Octavo, over 500 pages, including 56 illustrations of well-known paintings. Price, $2.00 net; postage extra.

There are numberless books about art, from the small handbook to the exhaustive and costly cyclopedias. But nowhere else has the gist of art-study been presented in a form so interesting, comprehensive, and suggestive as in this admirable book. Through his lectures and frequent papers on art subjects, Mr. Caffin is well known as one of America's leading art critics, and "How to Study Pictures" presents the richest and ripest fruit of his art knowledge, in a volume that is unique. For he adopts the original plan of contrasting in each chapter the work of some great artist with that of another equally great master—showing a single picture painted by each, and pointing out the likenesses and differences between the two pictures and the methods of the two painters. Incidentally, a brief biographical account of each master is included, and a clear summary of the national or personal influences which affected his work. Both the student and the general reader can learn more about art and artists through this detailed way of looking "here upon this picture and on this" than by whole volumes of historical or merely critical writing. Nearly sixty copies of pictures from the world's masterpieces, selected by Mr. Caffin, have been prepared especially for the book, the pictures contrasted being printed on opposite pages. Within small compass the reader here obtains an accurate and comprehensive knowledge of the history, the biography, and the development of the pictorial art from the time of the Renaissance to our own day.

Two additional features of great value are the complete Index, and the Glossary, at the end, with a short bibliography of useful works on art.

† THE NORTHERNER. By Norah Davis. 12mo, about 350 pages. $1.50.

An old-fashioned novel in point of well-developed plot and generous length.

The hero is a Northern capitalist who purchases a street railway and lighting plant in a small Alabama city, and goes down there expecting that with lots of money and Northern aggressiveness he will succeed where the easy-going Southerner has signally failed. But he underrates the force of sectional prejudice. Heretofore too engrossed in business to think much about women, he now falls in love with the belle of this aristocratic Southern town that has ostracized the pretentious Yankee. It is a Titan battle that is fought out between the man and the town, with a girl's love and his business integrity at stake. Mob violence, a lynching, and a strike at the lighting plant are dramatic factors in the unfolding of a powerful story.

That bugaboo of the South, the negro problem, lifts its ugly head, and the point of view of the Southerner has never been so subtly yet clearly defined as here.

This is a notable book, strong, sane, and wonderfully absorbing.

* IN THE HEIGHTS. A new volume of poems by Richard Watson Gilder. 16mo. Price, $1.00 net; postage extra.

This is the author's eighth volume of poems, and contains nearly all he has written since the publication in 1901 of his "Poems and Inscriptions." The collection begins with "In the Heights" and "Home Acres," first published in the Atlantic Monthly, followed by other poems of nature; several suggested by music, including "Music in Darkness," from Scribner's Monthly; several elegiac poems, including those on Alice Freeman Palmer, Abram S. Hewitt, and Joseph Jefferson; a number of songs of experience and impromptus; the hymn written for the memorial service for Dr. Curry in Richmond; the poem for the celebration of the 200th anniversary of the birth of John Wesley; and the ode "A Temple of Art," written for the dedication of the Albright Art Gallery in Buffalo. The book closes with a republication of "The White Tsar," with the additional verses suggested by recent events.

NEW BOOKS IN THE THUMB-NAIL SERIES

Exquisite little volumes in embossed leather bindings designed by Blanche McManus Mansfield. Size 2¾ x 5⅛ inches. Each in a box. Price, $1.00 each.

WASHINGTON. 122 pages. Price, $1.00.

The principal state papers of George Washington, including his farewell address, his address to the officers, circular letter to the governors of the States, farewell orders to the armies, and inaugural address, with an introduction on "The Character of Washington," from Lecky's "History of England in the Eighteenth Century." The frontispiece is a reproduction of the unfinished portrait of Washington by Gilbert Stuart.

THE CHIMES. By Charles Dickens. 240 pages, with frontispiece by Relyea. Price, $1.00.

SONNETS FROM THE PORTUGUESE, and Six Additional Lyrics, by Elizabeth Barrett Browning, with three poems by Robert Browning, these being "One Word More," "Prospice," and "O Lyric Love" from "The Ring and the Book." 136 pages, with portraits of both Mrs. Browning and Robert Browning. Price, $1.00

In addition to these love poems written by each to the other, and now collected in a volume for the first time, Mr. Richard Watson Gilder has written an introduction of 50 pages, in which he gives the history of their meeting, friendship, and marriage, and discusses this remarkable and unique antiphony of love poetry.

NEW BOOKS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

† QUEEN ZIXI OF IX. By L. Frank Baum, author of "The Wizard of Oz." Square octavo, over 300 pages, with sixteen full-page insets in color by Frederick Richardson, and an additional 75 illustrations in two printings by the same artist. Price, $1.50.

"Queen Zixi of Ix" is an old-fashioned fairy-tale, full of impossible extravagancies, that will delight boys and girls the world over. There is a magic cloak which grants every wearer one wish —with very funny results sometimes; there is a queer old statute which, to nobody's surprise more than his own, makes a little peasant lad king of Noland, and a very good king too; there is a race of queer, mischief-making monsters called Roly-Rogues; there are all the fairies and a beautiful witch-queen to help on the fun and excitement. "Queen Zixi of Ix" is quite the best book L. Frank Baum has yet put forth, and that is saying a good deal, remembering the success of "The Wonderful Wizard of Oz," the Wogglebug, and all his other quaint creations. And its many attractive illustrations in color, by Mr. Frederick Richardson, make "Queen Zixi of Ix" much the most attractive of all the popular Baum books.

* CAPTAIN MYLES STANDISH. By Tudor Jenks, author of "Captain John Smith," etc. 12mo, about 250 pages, illustrated. Price, $1.20 net; postage extra.

"Captain Myles Standish" is good reading for young and old, a simple, sympathetic, readable chronicle of this "brave soldier and true comrade," whose life was so closely associated with the birth and early years of the Plymouth Colony. Tudor Jenks's earlier biography along these lines, "Captain John Smith," undertook to set down truthfully much-misunderstood characters and incidents of American history—and succeeded happily. His study of "Captain Myles Standish" corrects many mistaken though commonly held notions about our Pilgrim Fathers and about this man who, facts prove, "was never lacking in any of the qualities of a wise and skilful soldier, a brave and generous warrior, a loyal and efficient member of the Plymouth Colony." This new contribution to American history demonstrates that facts can be made quite as fascinating as fiction, and that popular error can be corrected without any loss of the romantic interest with which we like to invest the early history of our country.

† PINKEY PERKINS: "Just a Boy." By Captain Harold Hammond, U. S. A. 12mo, 325 pages. With illustrations by George Varian. Price, $1.50.

Every boy who is a boy, every father who has been a boy or who has a boy, and every mother or sister who has any interest in boys, should read this genuine "boys' book" by Captain Hammond. For "Pinkey Perkins" is very human, a perfect type of the honest but mischievous American boy with a clever head and a sound heart, and this book reveals the actual workings of his mind. Fun and frolic abound in the story, for Captain Hammond has given a very delightful account of the ventures, adventures, and misadventures which are involved in his young hero's boyish pranks and projects.

BOUND VOLUMES OF ST. NICHOLAS. An Illustrated Magazine for Young Folks. Edited by Mary Mapes Dodge. The twelve yearly numbers in two large 8vo, richly bound cloth volumes, 1000 pages, 1000 pictures, per set, $4.00 net.

The bound volumes of St. Nicholas magazine are a perennial delight to thousands of children. St. Nicholas has become the acknowledged standard of literature for young folks, containing the best reading and the best pictures that can be provided. It is "a library in itself," abounding in amusement and instruction. Parents owe it to their children either to subscribe for the monthly numbers or to purchase the yearly volumes. They contain the numbers from November to October, inclusive.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT

HISTORICAL STORIES: Retold from St. Nicholas. A series of volumes for children. Cloth bound, about 200 pages each, $0.65 net per volume.

Encouraged by the popularity and usefulness of the "Animal Stories" series, retold from St. Nicholas, The Century Co. has planned another series from the same source—this time on historical subjects. The general division into books is chronological, according to the usual order.

The child's first acquaintance with history must be by means of the story and anecdote. Indeed, these rather than dates and facts make history real. In these volumes many of the best names in our literature are represented, and the stories were not perfunctorily written to order but were the product of inspired pens. The illustrations are the best work of our great artists, and the expenditure of many thousands of dollars is represented in the pictures that have been made especially for these stories. The large, beautiful type and dead surface of the paper, so grateful to the eye, and the flexible back, also contribute their share to make books children will treasure.

NOW READY.

INDIAN STORIES.

Most of the stories in this book a boy of eight or nine can read for himself. The stories will delight, thrill, and interest any young reader, and coming at the age when he is being taught something of our colonial history, will serve a very useful purpose. Contains 64 beautiful pictures.

IN PREPARATION.

COLONIAL STORIES.
REVOLUTIONARY STORIES.
CIVIL WAR STORIES.
OUR NATIONAL HOLIDAYS.

THE ELEMENTS OF RHETORIC AND COMPOSITION. By A. H. Thorndike, Professor of English Literature in Northwestern University. 12mo, 350 pages, $1.00 net.

An elementary handbook for use in schools and colleges, and intended to accompany a course in theme-writing. The old order of text-book, consisting of prohibitory rules and examples of bad English, is now being surely and rapidly replaced by books adapted to modern methods of teaching. Professor Thorndike's book has been commended as being thoroughly practical, and it is believed that it will prove adaptable to the needs of a greater number of classes than any preceding book.

THE AMERICAN STATE. A series of eight volumes for colleges, schools, and general readers. Edited by W. W. Willoughby, Professor of Political Science at the Johns Hopkins University. Uniform in size and style, 12mo, about 320 pages each. $1.25 net per volume.

This series describes comprehensively the manner in which the governmental agencies of the American state, federal, commonwealth, and local, are organized and administered at the present time. It is intended that primarily these volumes shall be descriptive of actual conditions. Incidentally, however, the aim will be to suggest the various constitutional and administrative problems that exist and make manifest the essential considerations involved in their settlement. Bibliographical notes will give adequate reference to the best sources of information upon all points discussed or suggested in the text. The series will thus be made suitable both for pedagogic use and for the information of those who desire to learn just how the various governments of our country are organized, and the manner in which they are administered under the actual conditions of the present day.

The set will constitute a logical whole, that is, will be enclyclopedic as regards the special field covered. Each volume, though complete in itself, will have its proper place in the series, and will have been prepared by an acknowledged expert with special reference to that fact. No similar series has been published hitherto, and it is thought that every citizen who takes an interest in his government and the problems that it has to solve will wish to be familiar with it.

*Cat Stories.

*Stories of Brave Dogs.

*Lion and Tiger Stories.

*Panther Stories.

*Bear Stories.

ARNOLD, AUGUSTA FOOTE.

The Sea-Beach at Ebb-Tide. This book might have for its subtitle "How to Know the Seashore," as it does for the seashore what other books have done for trees and wild flowers. Seaweeds and mosses, shells and mollusks, are fully described, in many cases with illustrations. It is a book for the nature lover to take on a summer outing. Full directions are given for collecting and preserving seaweeds, the arrangement of a herbarium, etc. 8vo, 490 pages, 600 illustrations, $2.40 net. (Postage 20 cents.)

ATKINSON, PHILIP.

Electricity for Everybody. Late edition, with a chapter on Röntgen X-Rays. Contains information, in simple form, in regard to the nature and uses of electricity and the various kinds of apparatus by which it is generated and employed. This work covers the whole field of electricity, and is written in a popular style to explain it in all its branches to the unscientific public. 100 illustrations, 12mo, 240 pages, $1.50.

BABY DAYS.

Poems, stories and jingles, selected from St. Nicholas Magazine, by Mary Mapes Dodge. A book for very little children, in attractive binding, with illuminated cover-linings. Quarto, 192 pages, $1.50.

Arden Massiter. A spirited romance of real life at the close of the nineteenth century, with an historic and religious background. 12mo, 388 pages, $1.50.

The Two Standards. A romance of London life at the present day, dealing with music, finance and religion. 12mo, 513 pages, $1.50.

*BATTLES AND LEADERS OF THE CIVIL WAR.

Written by distinguished participants on both sides and edited by Robert Underwood Johnson and Clarence Clough Buel. A new library edition of a standard work. This is the famous Century War Book, an outgrowth of the "War Papers" in The Century Magazine, to which many additions were made, forming a complete history of the Civil War. Such a work can never be duplicated, as many of the writers are now dead, including Generals Grant, McClellan, Rosecrans, Johnston, Beauregard, and scores of others. The 1700 illustrations are by the best-known artists of the time. The very complete indexes, with the statistical tables of forces engaged in each battle, and with maps, make these volumes a complete encyclopedia of the war. In four octavo volumes, containing 3100 pages, 1700 illustrations. Price per set, cloth, $15.00 net; half morocco, $30.00 net.

BAUM, L. FRANK.

†Queen Zixi of Ix. Probably the best story ever written by this popular author—an old-fashioned fairy-tale full of impossible extravagancies. With its magic cloak, beautiful witch-queen, fairies, monstrous Roly-Rogues, and elaborate colored pictures by Mr. Frederick Richardson, it should prove quite as successful as "The Wizard of Oz" and his other quaint creations. Square octavo, over 300 pages, 16 full-page insets in full color, with 75 other pictures in two printings, $1.50.

BAXTER, LUCY W.

Thackeray's Letters to an American Family. With an introduction by Lucy W. Baxter. Here the reader finds, expressed with all Thackeray's frank vivacity and charm, his opinions concerning America and its people. The continuity of the letters, written to different members of the Baxter family in New York, gives them almost the interest of a new story from Thackeray's pen, and they cover both visits of the novelist to America. Facsimiles of manuscripts and drawings by the author add to the interest and value of the volume. Octavo, 193 pages, $1.50 net. (Postage 10 cents.)

BAYLES, GEORGE JAMES.

Woman and the Law. A general view of the legal condition of women in the United States, treating domestic relations, public relations, and property relations. Prof. Isaac F. Russell furnishes an introduction. 12mo, 275 pages, $1.40 net. (Postage 12 cents.)

BAYLOR, FRANCES COURTENAY.

Miss Nina Barrow. A strong story for girls by a favorite writer. Frontispiece by Reginald Birch. 12mo, 245 pages, $1.25.

BELL, J. J.

†Mrs. M'Lerie. The author no more delightfully described that impudent little rascal "Wee Macgreegor" than he has the foibles of this talkative old Scotch woman Mrs. M'Lerie, and her neighbor, Mrs. Munro. Frontispiece, 16mo, 230 pages, $1.00.

BENNETT, JOHN.

†Barnaby Lee. This story is full of adventure, in Peter Stuyvesant's time, and it will supply stirring reading for young people and for older ones as well. 12mo, 454 pages, including 34 full-page illustrations by Clyde O. De Land, $1.50.

Master Skylark. A story of the time of Shakspere. The hero and heroine are a boy and a girl, but the great dramatist and good Queen Bess appear as characters in the story. 12mo, 380 pages, with forty beautiful illustrations by Reginald Birch, $1.50.

BESANT, SIR WALTER.

East London. A book of extraordinary interest, describing life among the toilers. Illustrated with character studies by Phil May and L. Raven-Hill, and views by Joseph Pennell. 8vo, 364 pages, with full index, $3.50.

BIBLE FOR CHILDREN, THE.

The arrangement of the text matter, from the King James version, and the preface are by Rev. Francis Brown, D. D., of the Union Theological Seminary, New York; and the introduction is written by the Right Rev. Henry C. Potter, D. D., Bishop of New York. This book is a collection of the beautiful stories of the Bible, with omissions of such words and passages as seem unsuitable for the growing child. The selections were made by Mrs. Joseph B. Gilder and are arranged in chapters, each with its own heading, but not divided into chapter and verse as in the regular Bible. 4to, 475 pages, printed in two colors, with 24 full-page illustrations, also in two colors, from the Old Masters, $3.00.

BICKNELL, ANNA L.

Life in the Tuileries under the Second Empire. The author was for many years a governess in a family of the Court of Napoleon III, residing for nine years in the Tuileries during the most prosperous time of the Second Empire. The book contains a great amount of interesting material regarding the palace life of the late Emperor and Empress of the French. 8vo, 280 pages, illustrated, $2.25.

The Story of Marie-Antoinette. Miss Bicknell had unusual facilities for studying records of the life of the unhappy Queen of France. Much new material is embodied in the history, which gives a very vivid picture of Marie-Antoinette and her court. 8vo, 335 pages, with 25 pictures (insets) from rare historical portraits, $3.00.

BISHOP, WM. H.

Writing to Rosina. A novelette. Illustrated. Thumb-Nail Series, stamped leather, 116 pages, $1.00.

BOLAND, MARY A.

A Handbook of Invalid Cooking. Revised edition. Contains valuable recipes, menus for the sick, chapters on Serving, the Feeding of Children, District Nursing, etc. 12mo, 318 pages, durable cloth binding, with complete index, $2.00.

BONNER, GERALDINE.

Hard-Pan. A delightful story of bonanza fortunes, in which the California of to-day is presented with power and charm. 12mo, 279 pages, $1.50.

BOSTOCK, FRANK C.

The Training of Wild Animals. A truthful and entertaining account of the manner in which lions, tigers and the wildest animals are trained for show purposes. By Frank C. Bostock, the well-known trainer, assisted by Ellen Velvin, F. Z. S. 12mo, 35 illustrations, $1.00 net. (Postage 12 cents.)

BRADY, CYRUS TOWNSEND.

†Hohenzollern. A strong love-story of the fighting times of Barbarossa. Illustrated by Will Crawford. Decorated by Mills Thompson. 12mo, 288 pages, $1.50.

BROOKS, ELBRIDGE S.

The Century Book of the American Colonies. The fourth in Mr. Brooks's deservedly popular series of books deals with the foundation and growth of the United States, with special reference to the personality of the early leaders who gave the nation its distinctive character, and that of the young friends who accompany the author on his travels. Square quarto, 249 pages, $1.50.

BROOKS, ELBRIDGE S.—Continued.

The Century Book of Famous Americans. This is a companion volume to the popular "Century Book for Young Americans." It takes the same party on a trip to historic homes—Quincy, Marshfield, Monticello, Springfield, Ill., New York, Boston, and other places—and describes the early days of Washington, Lincoln, Grant, Jefferson, Webster, Clay, and other famous men. 250 pages and nearly as many illustrations, $1.50.

The Century Book for Young Americans. The Story of the Government, showing how a party of boys and girls found out all about the Government of the United States. With pictures of some of the people and places that have made America famous. Square quarto, 250 pages, $1.50.

The Century Book of the American Revolution. Issued under the auspices of the Empire State Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, with preface by CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW. Contains the story of the trip of the young folks to the famous battle-grounds of the Revolution from Lexington to Yorktown. With more than 200 pictures, most of them from recent photographs. 250 pages, $1.50.

A Boy of the First Empire. A story of the adventures of a French boy who was befriended by Napoleon and attached to his person as an aide. Practically a popular life of Napoleon for young folks. 12mo, 320 pages, richly illustrated, $1.50.

BROOKS, NOAH.

Washington in Lincoln's Time. One of the most delightful reminiscences of the President ever printed. Probably no one not in official relations with Mr. Lincoln had better opportunities of familiar intercourse with him than Mr. Brooks. 12mo, 328 pages, $1.25.

The Story of Marco Polo. Retold in an interesting way from the original. Illustrated by Drake. 12mo, 250 pages, $1.50.

HISTORICAL STORIES.

Encouraged by the popularity and usefulness of the "Animal Stories" series, retold from St. Nicholas, The Century Co. has planned another series from the same source—this time on historical subjects. The general division into books is chronological, according to the usual order.

The child's first acquaintance with history must be by means of the story and anecdote. Indeed, these rather than dates and facts make history real. In these volumes many of the best names in our literature are represented, and the stories were not perfunctorily written to order but were the product of inspired pens. The illustrations are the best work of our great artists. The large beautiful type and dead surface of the paper contribute their share to make books children will treasure. 12mo, about 200 pages, 65 cents net per volume.
